MAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN RIVER

TODAY

Coolidge on the Radio.
Two Kinds of Preachers.
The Farmer's Share.
Old Swimming Holes.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

No man can guess what power to speak well over the radio may mean in years to come.

Last Monday night bridge parties laid down their cards, women on farms stopped the late cleaning up of dishes, their husbands came in from evening chores, tens of millions listened to the President's clear, incisive matter of fact voice, discussing in plain fashion the importance of national economics and laying down, to the satisfaction of every bearer, the simple truth that the people's money belongs to the people, that they ought to be allowed to spend as much of their own money as possible, and have as little as possible taken away from them by the government.

Thus President Coolidge now talks direct to the people of the United States. It was an innovation when Woodrow Wilson, so perfectly dressed, drove to the capital and talked direct to senators, representatives, the supreme court and others.

"Wonderful audience,' the world said.

But, it was no audience at all compared to the vast multitude that heard President Coolidge talk direct to the people of the United States.

For the first time in the history of this country it is possible to say of a President that all the people have heard his voice and know him.

Seven words in the thirty-seventh verse of the twelfth chapter of St. Mark stand out in the minds of millions:

"And the common people heard him gladly."

Great and ever growing is the power of those to whose voices the people listen gladly, as to one whom they know.

A man in public office, with something to say and with "the air" the opportunity to be heard by all at his command, can build for himself a place in the people's confidence and affection that cannot be taken away from him. His words go to the people, no intermediary.

President Coolidge, as millions can testify, speaks with no effort, keeping his gigantic audience from their bridge whist, or their chores, as few minutes as possible.

Bishop Oldham of Albany, invited to speak at Westminster abbey and perhaps a little flustrated by the honor, and various things that he will think over when he gets back. He apologized for the United States. He regretted that this country had not done its duty by Europe, flattered the British unctuously, and said "multitudes of people in America were terribly disappointed—to put it midly—at the inactivity of the American government.'

That's one kind of an American clergyman talking to the English. Another kind was Henry Ward Beecher,

KIRBY JURORS DISCHARGED AS WOMAN BLOCKS HIS ACQUITTAL

Disagreement Reported in Cleveland Discount Case.

FINIS, BELIEF

However, Accused Must Face Trial at Delaware.

CLEVELAND, June 25.—Unable to reach an agreement after two days spent in the discussion and weighing of the evidence, the jury of six men and six women, determining the fate of Josiah Kirby, former president of the Cleveland Discount company, charged with larceny of 42 shares of preferred stock of the company from George L. Fix, of Cleveland, reported their disagreement to Judge Fred H. Wolf, of Wauseon, at 12:00 o'clock today and were discharged.

One juror, a woman, held out for conviction, according to Foreman Edmund Diehl. "It was a case of plain bullheadedness," Foreman Diehl declared to newspapermen and Kirby. We all thought the facts were plain from the start but Miss Holcamp, the dissenting juror, held out from the start,' Diehl said.

Next Trial on July 13.

The verdict returned probably writes "finis' upon the efforts of the state to hold Kirby responsible for the troubles of the $30,000,000 concern which he organized in 1918, saw grow until it was second in assets among companies of its kind in the United States, and then watched its assets dwindle before the state courts stepped in in 1923 and appointed receivers for it.

However, it does not mark the end of Kirby's court troubles. He is scheduled to go on trial at Delaware, July 13, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, the state probe having extended there following his acquittal last April in court here. An indictment charging the use of the mails to defraud was returned by a federal grand jury, but the trial date has not yet been set. Kirby previously had been acquitted in the courts of California on a charge of violating the "blue sky" laws of that commonwealth, in connection with the sale of stock of the company.

Kirby's Rise and Fall.

The story of Kirby's rise and fall reads as though it might have been taken direct from the Arabian Nights. Arriving in Cleveland from Cincinnati, where he had failed in business in 1914, Kirby with $3.75 as his sole capital started in business. Several times creditors sold out his office furniture to satisfy claims from that failure, but Kirby persisted, and in 1918 had accumulated sufficient capital and interested other men in the organization of the discount company.

The company grew rapidly. A mammoth office building, towering high

CHARLES S. TICE, 47, IS VICTIM; ACCIDENTAL DEATH, CORONER RULES

MAN FINED $50; SENT TO JAIL.

Charged with being drunk and disorderly, Arthur Parker, of East Liverpool, was fined $50 and costs in a Lisbon court Wednesday night and committed to the county jail until the fine and costs are paid.

Parker had been drinking alcohol rub, and when he was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Henry Burbon and Coustable Clarence Wetzel, they said he was bothering people traveling along the Lincoln highway near the Beaver Bridge.

Bade Mother Goodbye and Told Her She Would Never See Him Alive Again, When He Disappered.

MISSING SINCE MONDAY NIGHT

Floater Recovered Within 20 Feet of Ohio Shore by Three Youths Who Were Camping on Babb's Island.

The body of Charles S. Tice, 47, Harker avenue, slipmaker at the Howles, Taylor & Knowles pottery, missing since last Monday afternoon, was found in the Ohio river, between Babb's island and the Ohio shor, opposite Needham street, at 5:30 o'clock last evening.

Man Was Despondent.

The discovry was made by Ernest Stitt, Russel Wright and Charles Snyder, members of a camping party on Babb's Island as they were crossing the river in a skiff. The body was floating in the water, face upwards, about 20 feet from the Ohio shore line.

Although police advanced the theory of suicide, Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, of East Palestine, returned an "accidental death by drowning" verdict at 10.30 o'clock this morning.

According to members of his family, Tice had been despondent over some unknown cause days prior to his disappearance. He had not worked since last Friday.

Donning his hat and coat, at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, Tice kissed his mother, Mrs. Sarah Leighhue, 86, with whom he lived, and left the house, remarking that "you will never see me alive again," according to a statement made by a member of the family. She gave no attention to the threat until he failed to return. Friends and relatives searched for him on Tuesday and ate Wednesday. When no trace of him was found, the police were asked to assist in the search.

Victim's Face Bruised.

The three campers who found the body, called the fire department. Fire Chief Bryan responded, and with a hook and rope pulled the body to shore. Tice's face was badly bruised, the result, it is beleved, of rolling along the river bottom or possibly being struck by a passing river steamer.

The body was removed to the Sturgis funeral home in West Fifth street.

Tice was unmarried. In addition to his mother, he is survived by two brothers, Andrew, of Irondale, and Anazira, of New Cumberland, W. Va., and one sister, Mrs. Mary Skinner, New Matamoras.

ITALIAN DEBT PARLEY OPENS IN WASHINGTON

Mussolini Government Representatives Confer With Mellon.

OWE TWO BILLION

First Formal Move to Discharge War Obligation.

By H. K. REYNOLDS.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Negotiations to agree upon terms for the payment of the two billion dollar Italian debt to the United States opened at the treasury department today.

The Mussolini government was represented by Gacomo de Martino, Italian ambassador here, and Mario Albertie, an officer of Credito Italino, one of Italy's largest banks.

The United States was represented chiefly by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, chairman of the American debt funding commission, with two other members of the commission—Secretary of State Kellogg and Senator Reed Smoot—ready to join the discussion should their services be required.

Silent on Proposals.

Today's meeting, which marks the first formal move on the part of Italy to discharge her war obligations to the United States, was to be given over to a general discussion of the entire debt situation, with the Italian representatives outlining the financial problems of their government and its ability to pay, and with Secretary Mellon enunciating the American policy with respect to the funding of the debts.

UNITED STATES ASKED TO ACT AS DISORDERS IN CHINA GROW

Americans in Shanghai Appeal to Washington to Take Hand.

STRIKES SPREAD

Bombing and Shooting Plot Directed Against Foreigners.

SHANGHAI, China, June 25.— The American government was called upon by Americans in China today to take an active hand in suppressing disorder growing out of the general strike of Chinese against foreigners.

At the same time, the Chinese government stationed troops at the meeting place where Chinese were to stage a monster anti-foreign demonstration this afternoon, and announced its determination to halt the demonstration.

Shanghai volunteers, organized to protect foreigners in cases of emergency, were called out quickly today when it was reported a bombing and shooting plot against foreigners had been discovered.

Cablegram To State Department.

Further walkouts at Hongkong have paralyzed shipping there.

American interference in China was urged in a cablegram transmitted today to the United States department of the American Association of China.

"The United States should energetically cooperate with other powers and adopt the strongest attitude in order to suppress the present state of lawlessness directed against foreigners," the cablegram recited.

"The situation is, in our opinion, due primarily to long existing political conditions and aggravated by Soviet propaganda."

Shanghai is Guarded.

The association urged that China be held "strictly responsible for all losses of life, property and business. The absolute observance of existing treaties is essential until modified through strictly orderly processes provided by the Washington conference."

The Chinese government was reported to have forbidden a repetition of attacks on Shameen, the foreign settlement at Canton.

The remainder of the women and children at Shameen have been evacuated to Honk Kong.

Shanghai is being closely guarded. A strict search is being made of all Chinese entering the foreign settlement.

Hubby Cares More For Horses Than Wife, Woman Says

NEW YORK, June 25.—Details of her married life, in the recital of which she declared her husband cared more for hunting trips and horses than he did for her, were given today by Mrs. Ida May Symington on the witness stand in the divorce suit brought against her by her husband, Thomas H. Symington, millionaire sportsman of Rochester, Baltimore and Chicago.

A striking figure in a faun colored suit, Mrs. Symington told the court her husband had told her shortly after their honeymoon that he "wished to live his life with his horses.'

COOLIDGE MAY SPEND SUMMER REST IN WORK

President at Loss What to do With Spare Time.

VACATION BEGINS

Golf, Tennis, Swimming, etc., do Not Appeal to Him.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., June 25.—President Coolidge, somewhat lacking in true vacation complex, was casting about today for some means of diversion to fill the hours that in Washington have been spent at work.

Comfortably settled in his elaborate summer White House here, and duly thankful for the prevailing cool weather, the president frankly is at a loss as to exactly how he will amuse himself over a two months' period.

Golf, tennis, swimming, boating and all other usual forms of receration do not especially appeal to Mr. Coolidge and he is asking his friends just what he will do with his newly found spare time.

For the present, of course, he plans to relax and enjoy a complete rest. But he anticipates a continued rest may pall as the summer progresses.

Mayflower Is Available.

The Mayflower is anchored off Marblehead for such cruises as he desires to take and the White House limousines are in the White Court garage should he prefer a motor trip. But cruising and motor riding also will pall if taken in overdoses.

Those attached to the presidential entourgae are predicting he will find the solution to his problem in work.

Attaches are speculating as to just how long it will be before President Coolidge decides to spend two hours daily at the temporary executive offices at Lynn, where he can work amid the usual bustle of clerks and

REVOLT GRIPS GREECE; NAVY JOINS ARMY IN SEIZING REINS

Revolutionaries are in Complete Control, Saloniki Reports.

NO BLOODSHED

Gen. Pangalos' Officers Establish Military Government.

LONDON, June 25.—All Greece is in the throes of a revolution, a dispatch from Salonika, via Paris, said today.

The revolutionaries, the Salonika dispatch added, were in complete control.

The Greek navy, the dispatch further stated, joined in the revolt.

No report of fighting was given in the dispatch.

Revolutionaries Statement.

Military leaders of the revolt issued a communique in which it was announced that the Revolutionists control the situation throughout Greece and that no resistence is being encountered.

The navy contingent, which joined in the movement, was led by Admiral Adjiriakos. The Admiral addressed the following telegram to the president of the republic:

"We proclaim that your government has fallen. We consider the council of ministers responsible for the spilling of fraternal blood."

General Pangalos, long a leader of the Republican party in Greece, ten days ago gave Premier Michalakopoulos an ultimatum that he must resign. The ten days expired last night. Thereupon 683 Army officers signed a Golf Champ Defeats Jack Munro at 20th Hole.

AKRON, June 25.—J. M. Wells, state amateur golf champion, defeated Jack Munro, Zanesville, on the twentieth hole of their match at the Portage Country club this afternoon after a thrilling battle that was a toss-up from start to finish.

As a result of his victory Wells will play Christy Deibel, of Youngstown, in the semi-final match of the lower bracket this afternoon.

AKRON, June 25.—All even at the end of their 18-hole journey around the Portage Country club course, J. M. Wells, of East Liverpool, defending his state amateur golf title, and Jack Munro, of Zanesville, twice king of the Buckeye state amateurs, were battling it out on the play-off this afternoon for the right to enter the semi-finals of the Ohio tournament.

Wells went out in 37 and back in the same number of strokes. Munro covered the same distance in 36 out and 38 in.

The pair immediately started a play-off, and proceeded to halve the nineteenth hole. The match was to continue until either Wells or Munro emerged victor.

Christy Deibel, of Youngstown, went into the semi-finals by defeating Porter Campbell, of Toledo, 2 and 1.

In the play-off, after an 18-hole tie, Eddie Hasmann, the Cleveland boy star, beat the veteran Raleigh Lee, of Columbus, one up, on the twentieth hole with an eagle three.

In the upper bracket, Kenneth Wolcott, of Akron, defeated Densmore Shute, the crack Cleveland golfer, 3 and 2, and will also enter the semi-finals, to be played this afternoon.

Wolcott went around in par. He covered the first nine holes in 36, one above par, but lowered his total score by shooting under par for seven of the last nine holes.

The semi-finalists in the upper bracket will be Eddie Hasmann and Kenneth Wolcott.

In the lower half, Christy Dieble will clash with the winner of the Wells-Munro match.

MINORITY LIBERALS WILL SEEK DOUBLE TAX CUT ASKED BY ADMINISTRATION, SAYS UTAH DEMOCRAT

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Congress stands almost unanimous in its announced intent to enact the principal features of the old Mellon plan—the reduction of surtaxes. The Progressives, the Republican regulars, the conservative Democrats and now even the Democratic liberals have endorsed this proposal. The minority liberals, however, would go further and their viewpoint is revealed by Senator King (D., of Utah,) in the following article.)

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—"A lean treasury means real economy in the government."

With this slogan Senator William H. King, (D. of Utah), leader of liberal Democrats, will propose a minority tax bill in the coming congress slashing $700,000,000 from the annual tax burden of the American people.

Known as one of the "watchdogs of the treasury,' King will offer his plan as a substitute for the $300,000,000 tentative tax cut proposed by the Administration. His action will be prompted by the alarming fact that the American people now are paying a total of $10,000,000,000 (billions) a year in the form of taxes, or an amount equal to 17 per cent of the total gross earnings of every man, woman and child in America.

"I will offer a bill doubling the proposed reductions recommended by the Administration,' says King. "I believe that if you reduce taxes you not only give the people immediate relief but you prevent the government engaging in spendthrift spending. A lean treasury means real economy in the government, while a full treasury is an open invitation to treasury raiders."

Would Slash Surtax.

The outstanding features of King's bill will be provisions to reduce the maximum surtax rate to 20 per cent—less than that proposed in the Mellon plan—to increase exemptions to $3,000, lower the rates on small incomes, and wipe out all excise and nuisance taxes.

"I believe congress should do everything in its power to help relieve the American people from their enormous burden of taxation," says King. "I personally want to see all unnecessary taxes wiped out entirely and all others reduced to the absolute minimum. In fact I shou'd rather see an empty treasury or even a deficit in the government funds than another surplus.

"History teaches us that the full treasury invites raids from the wolves who live upon the public purse. When the treasury is bare the government will practice real economy."

King would start his tax-cutting ball rolling from the top of the tax schedules to the bottom. In the field of surtaxes, affecting the rich, he would propose a slash to 20 per cent or even less. This is "out-Melloning Mellon."

"I believe 20 per cent, or even lower, is the proper maximum rate for surtaxes," he says. "I am willing to give business a chance to demonstrate the theory that lower taxes means more revenue to the government and that lower surtaxes means prompt development and expansion of American industry. I don't care how great a reducton is made in surtaxes so long as the rich are made to pay their fair share of the tax burden."

Favors $3,000 Exemption.

For the moderate wage-earner King will offer a flat exemption of $3,000. He opposes the plan to enact a $5,000 exemption on the ground that the poor people want to pay some federal tax.

"I don't believe in the total exemption of poor people," says King. "I believe they ought to pay a little direct tax to the government to increase their interest in public affairs. I have received hundreds of letters from people with limited means, saying they desired to pay a small tax to show their interest in the government.

MISSING SINCE MONDAY NIGHT

Floater Recovered Within 20 Feet of Ohio Shore by Three Youths Who Were Camping on Babb's Island.

The body of Charles S. Tice, 47, Harker avenue, slipmaker at the howles, Taylor & Knowles pottery, missing since last Monday afternoon, was found in the Ohio river, between Babb's island and the Ohio shore, opposite Needham street, at 5:30 o'clock last evening.

Man Was Despondent.

The discovry was made by Ernest Stitt, Russel Wright and Charles Snyder, members of a camping party on Babb's Island as they were crossing the river in a skiff. The body was floating in the water, face upwards, about 20 feet from the Ohio shore line.

Although police advanced the theory of suicide, Coroner J. M. Van Fossan, of East Palestine, returned an "accidental death by drowning" verdict at 10.30 o'clock this morning.

According to members of his family, Tice had been despondent over some unknown cause days prior to his disappearance. He had not worked since last Friday.

Donning his hat and coat, at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, Tice kissed his mother, Mrs. Sarah Leighhue, 86 with whom he lived, and left the house, remarking that "you will never see me alive again," according to a statement made by a member of the family. She gave no attention to the threat until he failed to return. Friends and relatives searched for him on Tuesday and late Wednesday. When no trace of him was found, the police were asked to assist in the search.

Victim's Face Bruised.

The three campers who found the body, called the fire department. Fire Chief Bryan responded, and with a hook and rope pulled the body to shore. Tice's face was badly bruised, the result, it is believed, of rolling along the river botton or possibly being struck by a passing river steamer.

The body was removed to the Sturgis funeral home in West Fifth street.

Tice was unmarried. In addition to his mother, he is survived by two brothers, Andrew, of Irondale, and Anazira, of New Cumberland, W. Va., and one sister, Mrs. Mary Skinner, New Matamoras.

FAVOR COLUMBUS FOR C. E. MEET

UNITED STATES ASKED TO ACT AS DISORDERS IN CHINA GROW

Americans in Shanghai Appeal to Washington to Take Hand.

STRIKES SPREAD

Bombing and Shooting Plot Directed Against Foreigners.

SHANGHAI, China, June 25.—The American government was called upon by Americans in China today to take an active hand in suppressing disorder growing out of the general strike of Chinese against foreigners.

At the same time, the Chinese government stationed troops at the meeting place where Chinese were to stage a monster anti foreign demonstration this afternoon, and announced its determination to halt the demonstration.

Shanghai volunteers, organized to protect foreigners in cases of emergency, were called out quickly today when it was reported a bombing and shooting plot against foreigners had been discovered.

Cablegram To State Department.

Further walkouts at Hongkong have paralyzed shipping there.

American interference in China was urged in a cablegram transmitted today to the United States department of the American Association of China.

"The United States should energetically cooperate with other powers and adopt the strongest attitude in order to suppress the present state of lawlessness directed against foreigners," the cablegram recited.

"The situation is, in our opinion, due primarily to long existing political conditions and aggravated by Soviet propaganda."

Shanghai is Guarded.

The association urged that China be held "strictly responsible for all losses of life, property and business. The absolute observance of existing treaties is essential until modified through strictly orderly processes provided by the Washington conference."

The Chinese government was reported to have forbidden a repetition of attacks on Shameen, the foreign settlement at Canton.

The remainder of the women and children at Shameen have been evacuated to Honk Kong.

Shanghai is being closely guarded. A strict search is being made of all Chinese entering the foreign settlement.

Bassett, who is a Democrat, was recommended to the president by both Senators Watson and Ralston.

294 U. S. BUREAU JOBS ABOLISHED

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Abolishment of 294 positions in the field service of the bureau of Indian affairs on July 1, with an annual saving of $27,905 in its payroll, was announced by the secretary of the interior today.

The reduction is the most sweeping ever effected in the force of this bureau.

Hubby Cares More For Horses Than Wife, Woman Says

NEW YORK, June 25.—Details of her married life, in the recital of which she declared her husband cared more for hunting trips and horses than he did for her, were given today by Mrs. Ida May Symington on the witness stand in the divorce suit brought against her by her husband, Thomas H. Symington, millionaire sportsman of Rochester, Baltimore and Chicago.

A striking figure in a faun colored suit, Mrs. Symington told the court her husband had told her shortly after their honeymoon that he "wished to live his life with his horses.'

COOLIDGE MAY SPEND SUMMER REST IN WORK

President at Loss What to do With Spare Time.

VACATION BEGINS

Golf, Tennis, Swimming, etc., do Not Appeal to Him.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., June 25.—President Coolidge, somewhat lacking in true vacation complex, was casting about today for some means of diversion to fill the hours that in Washington have been spent at work.

Comfortably settled in his elaborate summer White House here, and duly thankful for the prevailing cool weather, the president frankly is at a loss as to exactly how he will amuse himself over a two months' period.

Golf, tennis, swimming, boating and all other usual forms of receration do not especially appeal to Mr. Coolidge and he is asking his friends just what he will do with his newly found spare time.

For the present, of course, he plans to relax and enjoy a complete rest. But he anticipates a continued rest may pall as the summer progresses.

Mayflower Is Available.

The Mayflower is anchored off Marblehead for such cruises as he desires to take and the White House limousines are in the White Court garage should he prefer a motor trip. But cruising and motor riding also will pall if taken in overdoses.

Those attached to the presidential entourgae are predicting he will find the solution to his problem in work.

Attaches are speculating as to just how long it will be before President Coolidge decides to spend two hours daily at the temporary executive offices at Lynn, where he can work amid the usual bustle of clerks and

Drug Killed Woman, Coroner Says; Her Escort is Jailed

HACKENSACK, N. J., June 25.—Mrs. Ethel Wheeler of Harrington Park, N. J., died as the result of an overdose of cantharides, an aphrodisiac drug, according to the autopsy report submitted today to Prosecutor A. C. Hart of Bergen county.

Maurice During, 25-year-old neighbor of Mrs. Wheeler, is held in the county jail on the charge of murder. Police said he confessed to putting a "love potion" in Mrs. Wheeler's drink at a Fort Lee roadhouse "to heighten her affections."

Mrs. Wheeler died a few hours later.

The grand jury will meet again next month at which time Prosecutor Hart expects to submit evidence on which he will seek a murder indictment against Durin.

REVOLT GRIPS GREECE; NAVY JOINS ARMY IN SEIZING REINS

NO BLOODSHED

Gen. Pangalos' Officers Establish Military Government.

LONDON, June 25.—All Greece is in the throes of a revolution, a dispatch from Salonika, via Paris, said today.

The revolutionaries, the Salonika dispatch added, were in complete control.

Officers of the garrison under General Pangalos established a military government and occupied all civil and military institutions.

The Greek navy, the dispatch further stated, joined in the revolt.

No report of fighting was given in the dispatch.

Revolutionaries Statement.

Military leaders of the revolt issued a communique in which it was announced that the Revolutionists control the situation throughout Greece and that no resistence is being encountered.

The navy contingent, which joined in the movement, was led by Admiral Adjiriakos. The Admiral addressed the following telegram to the president of the republic:

"We proclain that your government has fallen. We consider the council of ministers responsible for the spilling of fraternal blood."

General Pangalos, long a leader of the Republican party in Greece, ten days ago gave Premier Michalakopoulos an ultimatum that he must resign. The ten days expired last night. Thereupon 683 Army officers signed a

WELLS WINNER IN PLAY OFF

Golf Champ Defeats Jack Munro at 20th Hole.

AKRON, June 25.—J. M. Wells, state amateur golf champion, defeated Jack Munro, Zanesville, on the twentieth hole of their match at the Portage Country club this afternoon after a thrilling battle that was a toss-up from start to finish.

As a result of his victory Wells will play Christy Deibel, of Youngstown, in the semi-final match of the lower bracket this afternoon.

AKRON, June 25.—All even at the end of their 18-hole journey around the Portage Country club course, J. M. Wells, of East Liverpool, defending his state amateur golf title, and Jack Munro, of Zanesville, twice king of the Buckeye state amateurs, were battling it out on the play-off this afternoon for the right to enter the semi-finals of the Ohio tournament.

Wells went out in 37 and back in the same number of strokes. Munro covered the same distance in 36 out and 38 in.

The pair immediately started a play-off, and proceeded to halve the nineteenth hole. The match was to continue until either Wells or Munro emerged victor.

Christy Deibel, of Youngstown, went into the semi-finals by defeating Porter Campbell, of Toledo, 2 and 1.

In the play-off, after an 18-hole tie, Eddie Hasmann, the Cleveland boy star, beat the veteran Raleigh Lee, of Columbus, one up, on the twentieth hole with an eagle three.

In the upper bracket, Kenneth Wolcott, of Akron, defeated Densmore Shute, the crack Cleveland golfer, 3 and 2, and will also enter the semi-finals, to be played this afternoon.

Wolcott went around in par. He covered the first nine holes in 36, one above par, but lowered his total score by shooting under par for seven of the last nine holes.

The semi-finalists in the upper bracket will be Eddie Hasmann and Kenneth Wolcott.

In the lower half, Christy Diebie will clash with the winner of the Wells-Munro match.

MINORITY LIBERALS WILL SEEK DOUBLE TAX CUT ASKED BY ADMINISTRATION, SAYS UTAH DEMOCRAT

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Congress stands almost unanimous in its announced intent to enact the principal features of the old Mellon plan—the reduction of surtaxes. The Progressives, the Republican regulars, the conservative Democrats and now even the Democratic liberals have endorsed this proposal. The minority liberals, however, would go further and their viewpoint is revealed by Senator King (D., of Utah,) in the following article.)

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—"A lean treasury means real economy in the government."

With this slogan Senator William H. King, (D. of Utah), leader of liberal Democrats, will propose a minority tax bill in the coming congress slashing $700,000,000 from the annual tax burden of the American people.

Known as one of the "watchdogs of the treasury,' King will offer his plan as a substitute for the $300,000,000 tentative tax cut proposed by the Administration. His action will be prompted by the alarming fact that the American people now are paying a total of $10,000,000,000 (billions) a year in the form of taxes, or an amount equal to 17 per cent of the total gross earnings of every man, woman and child in America.

"I will offer a bill doubling the proposed reductions recommended by the Administration,' says King. "I believe that if you reduce taxes you not only give the people immediate relief but you prevent the government engaging in spendthrift spending. A lean treasury means real economy in the government, while a full treasury is an open invitation to treasury raiders."

Would Slash Surtax.

The outstanding features of King's bill will be provisions to reduce the maximum surtax rate to 20 per cent —less than that proposed in the Mellon plan—to increase exemptions to $3,000, lower the rates on small incomes, and wipe out all excise and nuisance taxes.

"I believe congress should do everything in its power to help relieve the American people from their enormous burden of taxation," says King. "I personally want to see all unnecessary taxes wiped out entirely and all others reduced to the absolute minimum. In fact I shou'd rather see an empty treasury or even a deficit in the government funds than another surplus.

"History teaches us that the full treasury invites raids from the wolves who live upon the public purse. When the treasury is bare the government will practice real economy."

King would start his tax-cutting ball rolling from the top of the tax schedules to the bottom. In the field of surtaxes, affecting the rich, he would propose a slash to 20 per cent or even less. This is "out-Melloning Mellon."

"I believe 20 per cent, or even lower, is the proper maximum rate for surtaxes," he says. "I am willing to give business a chance to demonstrate the theory that lower taxes means more revenue to the government and that lower surtaxes means prompt development and expansion of American industry. I don't care how great a reducton is made in surtaxes so long as the rich are made to pay their fair share of the tax burden."

Favors $3,000 Exemption.

For the moderate wage-earner King will offer a flat exemption of $3,000. He opposes the plan to enact a $5,000 exemption on the ground that the poor people want to pay some federal tax.

"I don't believe in the total exemption of poor people," says King. "I believe they ought to pay a little direct tax to the government to increase their interest in public affairs. I have received hundreds of letters from people with limited means, saying they desired to pay a small tax to show their interest in the government.

KRUPPS NOW MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH

Scientific Instruments Have Replaced Gun Products.

Essen, Germany.—Quantity production three years ago of battleship turrets and rapid-fire guns was a feature of the work here of the firm of Friedrich Krupp, once the symbol throughout the world of armament manufacture; today this organization is making artificial teeth and surgical instruments.

Swords, or their more hideous modern successors, the "Big Bertha" cannon, have literally been beaten into plowshares. The Krupps now turn out agricultural machinery, railway engines, automobile trucks, merchant ships, steel bridges, and a thousand and one smaller things.

Artificial teeth and surgical instruments are but two of the many minor articles manufactured in what was once the most formidable armament plant in the world.

Use Same Staff.

A striking feature of the transformation is the fact that the change has come about without change of technical engineers or skilled workers.

In fact, one reason for turning into such activities as watch and clock making, moving picture manufacturing, and the construction of delicate mechanisms for optical and microscopical instruments, was the consideration that a large staff of skilled workers and engineers used to be engaged in perfecting the delicate mechanisms of rapid-firing guns and the like.

These men, after the war, were compelled to turn from inventing and constructing engines of death to devising machinery for the advancement of civilization. Thus new types of turbine engines are being evolved, Diesel motors are being improved upon, better processes of making steel are being experimented with.

A word as to the magnitude of the Krupp plant at Essen: The area covered by the various buildings is almost 300 acres. The private railway which connects the various sections with each other travels nearly five miles from one end of the plant to the other.

The largest of the buildings, that devoted to locomotive construction, covers an area of 800,000 square feet and has a frontage of 1,640 feet. The The four hydraulic presses for compressing blocks of steel exert a pressure of 4,000 tons each. Some of the smelters employed for bringing high-grade steel to the melting point, have a capacity up to 90 tons each.

The plant is equipped to employ 115,000 men. That was the figure reached during the peak of war-time production, and applies to Essen alone. If one adds other plants, at Kiel and the Ruhr valley, the Krupps can furnish employment to 180,000 men.

Only 28,000 Now Working.

As a matter of fact, however, only 28,000 workers are now on the pay roll. The Krupps are going through the same readjustments which great numbers of American firms had to face when the war was over. Before the war they were doing a thriving business with 36,000 men employed. If they can get back to the pre-war footing, they will probably consider themselves lucky.

The impression made by the Krupp works today is a rather desolate one. Only in the department devoted to the construction of agricultural machinery does the place seem really busy. The railway locomotive construction department, for instance, is equipped to turn out one locomotive each working day, or about 300 a year.

At present it has orders for only 20 German locomotives, and a small number of wood-burning engines, intended for Brazil. Ship construction is at a low ebb, as the world generally is overstocked with ships.

England's Giant Steel Airship to Carry 100

London.—England's giant airship, the R-101, which is to ply between this country and India, is to be constructed of stainless steel, and is to have two separate decks and accommodations for 100 passengers.

Passengers and crew on the R-101 may smoke pipes, cigars or cigarettes during voyages, as the engines will not use gasoline as fuel, but a heavy gas oil instead, and by this system virtually all danger of fire while in the air will be eliminated. The sleeping quarters will consist of two-bed cabins, similar to steamship berths.

According to the present plans of the builders, who are working in conjunction with the air ministry, the keel of the ship will be laid down in July. The R-101 is to be 720 feet in length and 140 feet in diameter, and is expected to begin flights in 1926.

Conscience Stricken

Clarksburg, W. Va.—City Manager A. G. Otis has received a two-dollar bill and a letter from E. L. Oliver at Kenmore, Ohio. The letter states that several years ago the writer was the cause of breaking of street lamps here and has recently been conscience stricken.

British Cross-Word Now Task for Savants

Oxford, England.—The cross-word puzzle craze reached its zenith last month and is now on the wane, according to Oxford librarians. In Oxford, as elsewhere, it more than doubled the sales of dictionaries, and the demands made upon reference libraries were so great that one librarian threatened to shut up shop altogether.

The explanation given for the failure of popular interest is that the later puzzles have become so difficult, through the increased experience of their creators, that no ordinary mortal can conveniently solve them.

Men who during the war had little difficulty in deciphering the secret and confidential codes of both the enemy and the allies have organized "pools of intellect" and settled down seriously to the solution of all possible cross-words.

American Apples Make Hit With Europeans

Berlin.—American apples are given first choice by the retail consumers of Europe, according to the Berlin bureau of the United States Department of Commerce, which has investigated the subject.

Fruit dealers declare that American apples taste better, have more character and can be kept longer than any other kind on the market.

Sugar beets planted in Scotland have given satisfactory results, and it is likely, in view of the subsidy granted by the government, that a factory will be built.

The mayor of Torquay, England, has decorated a fox-terrier who tore burning cotton wool from the bandaged leg of his injured master, saving his life.

MAN TOO EFFEMINATE, HIS PLACE AT HOME, SAYS NOTED NOVELIST

LONDON, June.—The home is man's place, not woman's, for man is becoming more and more effeminite every day.

Thus spake Rebecca West, novelist and fature writer.

Miss West engaged in a debate with Alfred Duff-Cooper, M. P., husband of Lady Duff-Cooper and sometimes irreverently referred to as "Mr. Lady Diana Manners." The subject of the debate was, "Is Woman's Place in the Home?" with Mr. Duff-Cooper taking the affirmative in his best and most serious House of Commons manner and Miss West taking the negative in a most light-hearted manner.

"Look at the baggy trousers men are wearing," declaimed Miss West. "I know it is feminine to wear a skirt, but I never came across a woman so effeminate as to want to wear two skirts, which is what the new trousers are. . . .

"Man wants to go back to the home, and we should not oppose him. The ideal person to take on the job of looking after the world is the woman who has brought up her family. . . .

"Woman's job is looking after men and children. . . .

"Prohibition in America was entirely the work of men. The industrialists do not want their workmen to drink liquor. It was entirely a parental gesture. . . .

"Men mostly admire Napoleon . . . the world's most colossal failure. . . ."

Mr. Duff-Cooper responded to these shafts as follows:

"The uses of women are—

"To look after the nursery.

"To look after the kitchen—the human race would not continue unless it were fed two or three times a day.

"To look after the drawing-room—the tired toiler requires the quiet pleasures of the home, otherwise he would be driven to the night club, where it is impossible to dance because of the crowd, impossible to eat because of the food and impossible to talk because of the noise."

No decision was given on this verbal battle, but the popular newspaper decision went to Miss West—a knockout by words, the audience said.

MAN TOO EFFEMINATE, HIS PLACE AT HOME, SAYS NOTED NOVELIST

LONDON, June.—The home is man's place, not woman's, for man is becoming more and more effeminite every day.

Thus spake Rebecca West, novelist anc fature writer.

Miss West engaged in a debate with Alfred Duff-Cooper, M. P., husband of Lady Duff-Cooper and sometimes irreverently referred to as "Mr. Lady Diana Manners." The subject of the debate was, "Is Woman's Place in the Home?" with Mr. Duff-Cooper taking the affirmative in his best and most serious House of Commons manner and Miss West taking the negative in a most light-hearted manner.

"Look at the baggy trousers men are wearing," decliamed Miss West. 'I know it is feminine to wear a skirt, but I never came across a woman so effeminate as to want to wear two skirts, which is what the new trousers are. . . .

"Man wants to go back to the home, and we should not oppose him. The ideal person to take on the job of looking after the world is the woman who has brought up her family. . . .

"Woman's job is looking after men and children. . . .

"Prohibition in America was entirely the work of men. The industrialists do not want their workmen to drink liquor. It was entirely a parental gesture. . . .

"Men mostly admire Napoleon . . . the world's most colossal failure. . . ."

Mr. Duff-Cooper responded to these shafts as follows:

"The uses of women are—

"To look after the nursery.

"To look after the kitchen—the human race would not continue unless it were fed two or three times a day.

"To look after the drawing-room—the tired toiler requires the quiet pleasures of the home, otherwise he would be driven to the night club, where it is impossible to dance because of the crowd, impossible to eat because of the food and impossible to talk because of the noise."

No decision was given on this verbal battle, but the popular newspaper decision went to Miss West—a knockout by words, the audience said.

KRUPPS NOW MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH

Scientific Instruments Have Replaced Gun Products.

Essen, Germany.—Quantity production three years ago of battleship turrets and rapid-fire guns was a feature of the work here of the firm of Friedrich Krupp, once the symbol throughout the world of armament manufacture; today this organization is making artificial teeth and surgical instruments.

Swords, or their more hideous modern successors, the "Big Bertha" cannon, have literally been beaten into plowshares. The Krupps now turn out agricultural machinery, railway engines, automobile trucks, merchant ships, steel bridges, and a thousand and one smaller things.

Artificial teeth and surgical instruments are but two of the many minor articles manufactured in what was once the most formidable armament plant in the world.

Use Same Staff.

A striking feature of the transformation is the fact that the change has come about without change of technical engineers or skilled workers.

In fact, one reason for turning into such activities as watch and clock making, moving picture manufacturing, and the construction of delicate mechanisms for optical and microscopical instruments, was the consideration that a large staff of skilled workers and engineers used to be engaged in perfecting the delicate mechanisms of rapid-firing guns and the like.

These men, after the war, were compelled to turn from inventing and constructing engines of death to devising machinery for the advancement of civilization. Thus new types of turbine engines are being evolved, Diesel motors are being improved upon, better processes of making steel are being experimented with.

A word as to the magnitude of the Krupp plant at Essen: The area covered by the various buildings is almost 300 acres. The private railway which connects the various sections with each other travels nearly five miles from one end of the plant to the other.

The largest of the buildings, that devoted to locomotive construction, covers an area of 800,000 square feet and has a frontage of 1,640 feet. The The four hydraulic presses for compressing blocks of steel exert a pressure of 4,000 tons each. Some of the smelters employed for bringing high-grade steel to the melting point, have a capacity up to 90 tons each.

The plant is equipped to employ 115,000 men. That was the figure reached during the peak of war-time production, and applies to Essen alone. If one adds other plants, at Kiel and the Ruhr valley, the Krupps can furnish employment to 180,000 men.

Only 28,000 Now Working.

As a matter of fact, however, only 28,000 workers are now on the pay roll. The Krupps are going through the same readjustments which great numbers of American firms had to face when the war was over. Before the war they were doing a thriving business with 36,000 men employed. If they can get back to the pre-war footing, they will probably consider themselves lucky.

The impression made by the Krupp works today is a rather desolate one. Only in the department devoted to the construction of agricultural machinery does the place seem really busy. The railway locomotive construction department, for instance, is equipped to turn out one locomotive each working day, or about 300 a year.

At present it has orders for only 20 German locomotives, and a small number of wood-burning engines, intended for Brazil. Ship construction is at a low ebb, as the world generally is overstocked with ships.

England's Giant Steel Airship to Carry 100

London.—England's giant airship, the R-101, which is to ply between this country and India, is to be constructed of stainless steel, and is to have two separate decks and accommodations for 100 passengers.

Passengers and crew on the R-101 may smoke pipes, cigars or cigarettes during voyages, as the engines will not use gasoline as fuel, but a heavy gas oil instead, and by this system virtually all danger of fire while in the air will be eliminated. The sleeping quarters will consist of two-bed cabins, similar to steamship berths.

According to the present plans of the builders, who are working in conjunction with the air ministry, the keel of the ship will be laid down in July. The R-101 is to be 720 feet in length and 140 feet in diameter, and is expected to begin flights in 1926.

Woman Butcher

Berlin.—The first woman in Berlin to pass the examination required for journeymen butchers secured a grade of "excellent" from the Master Butchers' association. She is Margareta Cohn, daughter of a local meat market owner. The examination consisted of skinning, carving and quartering a heifer.

Jazz Wall Paper Passe

London.—All the jazz arrangements in wall paper are rapidly being shuffled into discard, declared Prof. Henry G. Dowling, speaking recently before the Royal Society of Arts on the history of wall paper as a decoration of the home.

Conscience Stricken

Clarksburg, W. Va.—City Manager A. G. Otis has received a two-dollar bill and a letter from E. L. Oliver at Kenmore, Ohio. The letter states that several years ago the writer was the cause of breaking of street lamps here and has recently been conscience stricken.

British Cross-Word Now Task for Savants

Oxford, England.—The cross-word puzzle craze reached its zenith last month and is now on the wane, according to Oxford librarians. In Oxford, as elsewhere, it more than doubled the sales of dictionaries, and the demands made upon reference libraries were so great that one librarian threatened to shut up shop altogether.

The explanation given for the failure of popular interest is that the later puzzles have become so difficult, through the increased experience of their creators, that no ordinary mortal can conveniently solve them.

Men who during the war had little difficulty in deciphering the secret and confidential codes of both the enemy and the allies have organized "pools of intellect" and settled down seriously to the solution of all possible cross-words.

American Apples Make Hit With Europeans

Berlin.—American apples are given first choice by the retail consumers of Europe, according to the Berlin bureau of the United States Department of Commerce, which has investigated the subject.

Fruit dealers declare that American apples taste better, have more character and can be kept longer than any other kind on the market.

Sugar beets planted in Scotland have given satisfactory results, and it is likely, in view of the subsidy granted by the government, that a factory will be built.

The mayor of Torquay, England, has decorated a fox-terrier who tore burning cotton wool from the bandaged leg of his injured master, saving his life.

MAY INCREASE SAFETY FUNDS

"Fifty-fifty" Split Suggested in Order to Meet Payroll.

A "fifty-fifty" split between the safety and general funds, instead of the arrangement in existence now, may be considered by city council within the near future as a means of increasing the funds from which safety department employes receive their salaries.

Under present methods, the safety department retains one-third of the fines collected, and two-thirds go to the general fund to assist in meeting other municipal obligations.

Up until several months ago, the safety department kept all revenue derived from fines and various other collections, such as licenses. Treasuries of other departments, however, were so depleted that it was considered necessary to transfer part of the safety funds to the depleted departments.

Since that time, City Auditor Fred Eckfeld has been kept busy devising ways and means of paying police and firemen. Enough was raked up to meet the payroll on June 15, and an advance from the August tax settlement will probably be obtained to issue pay checks for the last half of the month.

In order to give the safety department a better chance to meet its bills, new legislation doing away with the one-third safety fund and two-thirds general fund arrangement is being considered by city officials, it is said, and may be acted on in the near future.

Visitor, Maddened by Gaze, Wrecks Art Work

Geneva.—Driven mad by the mesmerizing gaze of "Mme. Eynard-Lullin," an Eighteenth century painting by the artist Horace Vernet of the French school, that hangs in the Musee at Geneva, an unknown man has caused irreparable damage to the canvas by piercing the eyes with some sharp instrument in an attempt to disfigure it.

The picture, before the attack, had attracted the comment of thousands who yearly visited the gallery—one of the most celebrated in Europe, outside of Paris and London. It was a striking piece of work in black and white contrasts. In catching the expression, the artist glimpsed behind his subject, bringing out what was in the mind, through the medium of the eyes.

While the authorities of the Musee have made no charges, they are practically sure of the identity of the person who disfigured the picture. He is a person of high social standing, and has returned to the chamber where the canvas is hung on various occasions—drawn by an irresistible lure. Except when under the spell of "Mme. Eynard-Lullin's" eyes, he is said to be a perfectly normal person.

The first Diesel motored, electrically driven sidewheel ferryboat in America will ply the Ohio river between Jeffersonville, Ind., and Louisville, Ky.

MAY INCREASE SAFETY FUNDS

"Fifty-fifty" Split Suggested in Order to Meet Payroll.

A "fifty-fifty" split between the safety and general funds, instead of the arrangement in existence now, may be considered by city council within the near future as a means of increasing the funds from which safety department employes receive their salaries.

Under present methods, the safety department retains one-third of the fines collected, and two-thirds go to the general fund to assist in meeting other municipal obligations.

Up until several months ago, the safety department kept all revenue derived from fines and various other collections, such as licenses. Treasuries of other departments, however, were so depleted that it was considered necessary to transfer part of the safety funds to the depleted departments.

Since that time, City Auditor Fred Eckfeld has been kept busy devising ways and means of paying police and firemen. Enough was raked up to meet the payroll on June 15, and an advance from the August tax settlement will probably be obtained to issue pay checks for the last half of the month.

In order to give the safety department a better chance to meet its bills, new legislation doing away with the one-third safety fund and two-thirds general fund arrangement is being considered by city officials, it is said, and may be acted on in the near future.

Visitor, Maddened by Gaze, Wrecks Art Work

Geneva.—Driven mad by the mesmerizing gaze of "Mme. Eynard-Lullin," an Eighteenth century painting by the artist Horace Vernet of the French school, that hangs in the Musee at Geneva, an unknown man has caused irreparable damage to the canvas by piercing the eyes with some sharp instrument in an attempt to disfigure it.

The picture, before the attack, had attracted the comment of thousands who yearly visited the gallery—one of the most celebrated in Europe, outside of Paris and London. It was a striking piece of work in black and white contrasts. In catching the expression, the artist glimpsed behind his subject, bringing out what was in the mind, through the medium of the eyes.

While the authorities of the Musee have made no charges, they are practically sure of the identity of the person who disfigured the picture. He is a person of high social standing, and has returned to the chamber where the canvas is hung on various occasions—drawn by an irresistible lure. Except when under the spell of "Mme. Eynard-Lullin's" eyes, he is said to be a perfectly normal person.

The first Diesel motored, electrically driven sidewheel ferryboat in America will ply the Ohio river between Jeffersonville, Ind., and Louisville, Ky.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

Chinese Nationality

The Chinese situation seems to be assuming the form of a labor boycott. This is the most notable thing about it.

Cases of violence and outrage are sporadic, and perhaps exceptional when the extent and populousness of the country are considered. Foreigners are frightened, which is natural, and foreign women and children are leaving the country. Perhaps that is wise. Yet the opposition now shown to foreigners does not suggest the famous Boxer revolt. This is mainly a movement of passive resistance to alien domination.

It is primarily economic. It is also political. And trying to look at the situation dispassionately, an American will probably conclude that it is patriotic.

The remarkable feature of this uprising is that it seems to show the Chinese at last in the process of developing a national spirit. That is something they have not had for thousands of years.

A fiery nationalism in that vast, teeming country might be disastrous for the world. A sturdy, self-respecting spirit of nationality, showing itself in unity and co-operation for the preservation of Chinese liberties and hostile only to foreign aggression, would be something that honest white nations should neither fear nor oppose.

American Life As It Is

A distinguished British lord warns the English-speaking union not to form its judgment of the United States from American movie films. The reason is obvious. And the warning applies everywhere.

"What does the Finnish peasant, the Algerian water-carrier, the Singapore coolie think of America?" asks the New York World. "To him it is the land of gorgeous mansions, butlers, expensively jeweled women and champagne parties, desperadoes blazing away over faro tables, human flies climbing skyscrapers, automobiles jumping over walls, vampires, posses disappearing in dust, detectives and pie-fights."

Nations are usually misunderstood by other nations, it is admitted, but never has there been such a mighty power of misrepresentation as exists in the American film. It goes everywhere, and perhaps a billion foreigners take it as a fairly accurate representation of American life. Yet every sane American knows how false it is.

It would be immensely better for this country, and better for the rest of the world, too, if exported films gave a less weird picture of our land and people. But what is to be done about it? The films are made primarily for home use, and the sort of stuff produced is what the home market seems to want. There cannot very well be separate plays produced for the home market and foreign market.

Apparently the only remedy is the development of American taste for dramatic sanity and reality rather than the unusual and grotesque. And the creation of good taste in artistic matters among the masses who support filmdom is slow work. Yet it can be done. The newspapers prosper by presenting life as it is.

Polar Transportation

Amundsen didn't reach the North Pole. Technically, therefore, his flight was a failure. But he is not heartbroken because he had to turn back when only 160 miles from his goal. And he should not be. For essentially Amundsen triumphed.

He did the big thing—proved that it is quite feasible to fly to the pole in an airplane. But for the head winds, that used up more of his gasoline than he had expected, he would have arrived there. It was only a question of a few more gallons of "gas." He could have covered those additional miles by the simple process of letting his engine continue to run instead of shutting it off. Then, arrived at the top of the world, if no safe alighting place showed he could have circled around and flown back to his starting point.

The calculations were sound, all except the amount of fuel needed. The motor worked perfectly. The plane proved its dependability.

What has been done once can be done again, perhaps more easily. The criticism made so often in the last decade, that Arctic explorers should use airplanes instead of ships and sledges, is no longer needed. Soon flying to the pole, whether for scientific observation or for sport, will be a common performance.

Traveling Light

Unless a stern director limits beforehand just what is permitted as luggage, the average person on his first camping trip usually overloads. He carries more clothes and accessories than he needs or uses. The experienced camper travels light, but has all the essentials.

The person who must stick to his job through the favorite vacation months often overloads himself with food and clothing and activities far beyond summer essentials. Simplification and elimination should be his watchwords quite as much as they are of camper and traveler.

Very important in the enjoyment of summer is the sloughing off of fussiness and worries and the adoption of an attitude of whole-hearted co-operation with the weather. If it is fine, appreciate it, get out into it, enjoy it. Traveling light requires planning and forethought, but it pays well in comfort and enjoyment.

It's worth while to go away just to discover that you're well off at home.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 25.—There is a certain high chaired shoe shine parlor near Longacre square that is a clearing house for frothy gossip of Broadway. Reporters often drop in there on trail of the latest bit of scandal.

Its history goes back to the days when Abe Hummel was what the Tenderloin knows as "a swell mouthpiece." The brilliant little lawyer was a daily patron. Wilson Mizner, George Bronson Howard and Wally McCutcheon exchanged repartee around the late afternoon breakfast hour.

The place today fairly crackles with the savor of the Broadway trinity—dice, gin and pleasure. It has seen Life pass by in the gilt coach and the Potterfield wagon. Actors pipe their glories to the tune of the polishing rag. Tin horn sports air their daily conquests and chorus girls fire their barrage of wise cracks.

You hear sly insinuations, half in jest, about this one and that. A great producer has fallen for a little pony with a baby lisp. A famous playwright vanishes in Chinatown and comes back shaking with a dry tongue and mighty thirst. The "black smoke."

A star fumbled her lines. The answer? Her address is now a jag cure. A leading man got his black eye in a cafe. The other woman saw him. This is the reputation killing gossip that swings lightly from chair to chair. So Queen Medea slew her children to slow music.

Broadway always gives a hoot with the huzzah for its great. It is the street where nothing lasts—its cafes as well as its reputations. Yet nowhere is a greater kindness shown the fallen. In all its history there is no record of starvation.

On every block are men and women who are able to live pleasantly on Broadway's bounty, although they have not worked for years. They dress well, eat the best and have spending money.

There is the story they relate of "Diamond Jim" Brady, who drank deep of Broadway's pleasures. He was standing in front of a hotel canopy one evening waiting for a cab. A lady tossed him an engaging smile. He called her to him and inquired why one so young and good looking should barter her soul. She intimated lightly that ladies must live. He gave her $25 and exacted a promise that she would meet him every week at the same hour and place where he was standing and he would give her the same amount until she found work. She came for nine weeks. No questions were asked and then she vanished. Five years later he heard from her. She owned a prosperous millinery business in the middle west.

George M. Cohan—although he modestly denies it—has a list of people who through no fault of their own have gone down in life's battle. Each one receives a check weekly.

In the Orchard street pushcart market babble is a man who educated two sons—one for dentistry and the other for surgery. He is proud of their success, but is so afraid of hurting their business that he does not go near their offices. He telephones them often for the sheer joy of hearing their voices. The sons are a decent sort and have often tried to get their father to give up his vocation. He refuses but now and then he has them meet at one of their homes and "bootlegs" a visit.

The son of well to do parents is making more than $50 a week in an unusual way. He failed to get a job after graduation. So he has a list of typewriter owners upon whom he calls every two weeks to examine their machines and put them in repair if necessary. He charges a fixed amount for each customer.

PLAN "COTTAGE" WOMAN PRISON

New Federal Penitentiary Provides for 500 Convicts.

Washington.—A departure in federal government methods in handling prisoners will take place with the completion of the federal industrial institution for women at Aldersan, W. Va.

Congress has appropriated $909,100 for the prison, and government architects are now preparing preliminary plans for a cottage system, under which prisoners will live in communities.

A farm of 200 acres already has been obtained, and negotiations are under way for an additional 300 acres.

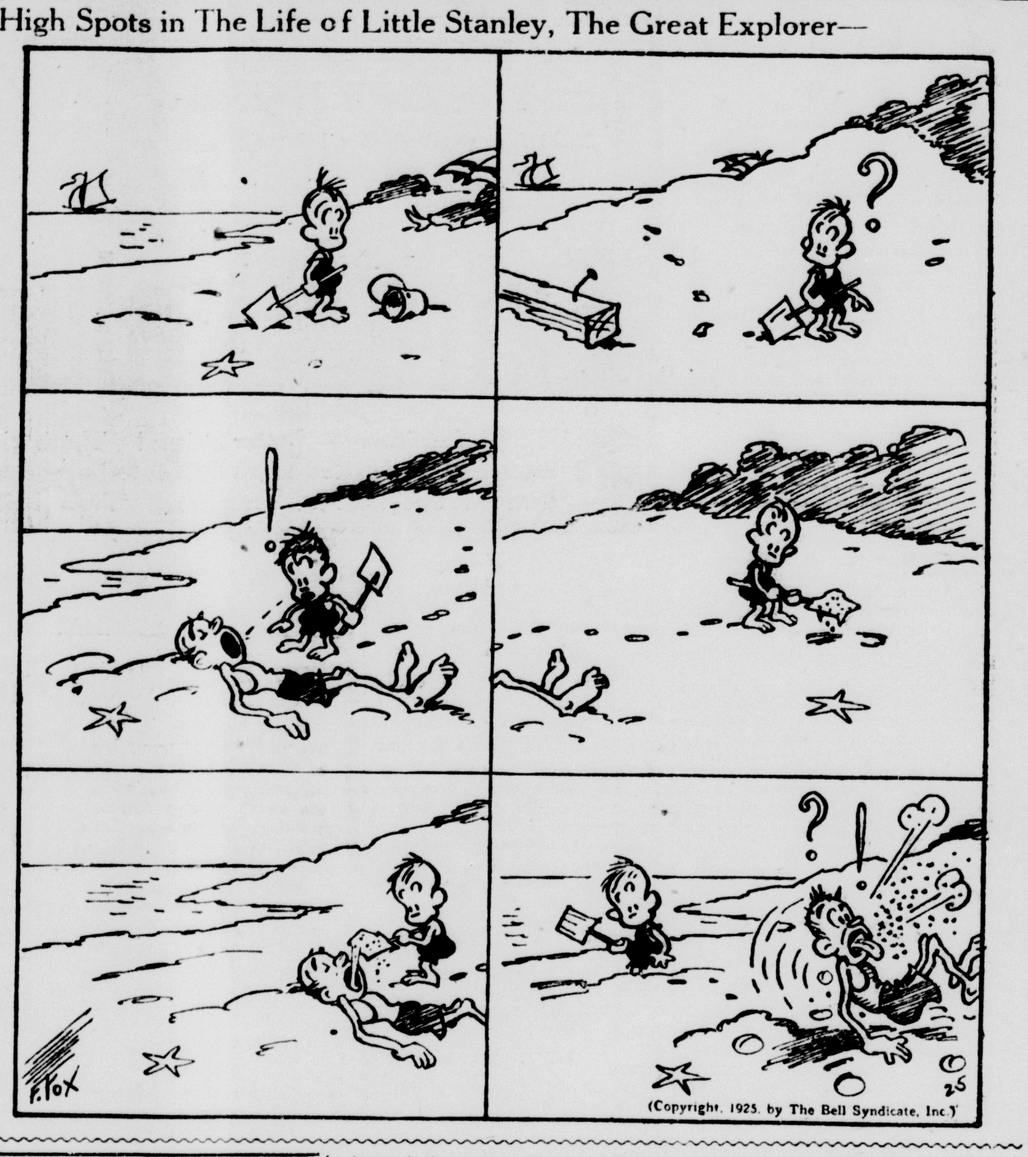

The capacity of the women's federal penitentiary, the first of its kind in the country, will be 500.

Federal women prisoners are now being sent to state jails, and department of justice officials say the government is finding it increasingly difficult to get the states to take prisoners.

Dr. Mary B. Harris, who will head the new institution, is the daughter of Dr. John Howard Harris, president emeritus of Bucknell university. She is a graduate of the University of Chicago. After several years spent in teaching and foreign travel, she became superintendent of women at the workhouse on Blackwell's Island, N. Y. Later, she was made superintendent of the New Jersey state reformatory for women in February, 1918.

During the war, Dr. Harris served as assistant director in the section of reformatories and detention houses in the law enforcement division of the camp activities, continuing in this capacity until April, 1919. She then assumed the superintendency of the state home for girls of New Jersey, which she held until January, 1925, when she became field executive secretary of the International Association of Policewomen.

High Spots in The Life of Little Stanley, The Great Explorer—

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Uncle Sam, the Printer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25.—To say that the government printing office is the largest printing plant in the world is not nearly so convincing as to state that if all the postal cards printed here in a year could be stacked the pile would be 200 miles high. If placed end to end they would extend around the world nearly five times. This great plant represents an expenditure of more than $10,000,000 for construction and equipment, and its annual output, based on actual cost of production, amounts to about $11,00,000.

The size of such an establishment can be suggested only by reeling off amazing figures. Try to imagine what it means for a print shop to turn out 92,000,000 income-tax forms in 30 days. This $350,000 job required 1,172,159 pounds of paper cut into 8,775,692 sheets.

All of the government departments are steady customers of the government printing office. The Post Office department's yearly printing bill includes about 200,00,000 money-order applications, 60,000,000 special delivery slips, 10,000,000 change of address cards and other items in proportion. The number of money orders required by the way, is considered one of the surest barometers of trade conditions. When the demand for money-order blanks rises, it shows that business is prospering.

The War department called on the Public Printer to deliver 10,000,000 copies of reports and documents for the Army in one year. The department of Agriculture had more than 32,000,000 publications printed, so that the results of its research on such subjects as cows, babies, alfalfa, jelly making, model kitchens, and fox-fur farming might be communicated to the far corners of the United States. The inventive genius of the country keeps the Printing Office busy turning out specifications. Patents, trade-marks, and designs are granted by the Patent Office at the rate of at least 1,000 a week. Providing copies of these to be sold by the Patent Office keeps 50 linotype machines running eight hours a day throughout the year.

Congress makes heavier demands upon the Government Printing Office than does any other branch of the government. Its annual printing bill amounts to about $2,000,000. The Congressional Record and the printing of hearings, committee reports, and bills cover the major portion of this amount. During a single year the government supplied congress with more than a million copies of octavo publications, about 500 copies each of more than 12,000 bills and resolutions and numerous other pieces of printing in proportion.

Sam's Daily Paper.

The big congressional job is the Congressional Record, so familiar to the American public. The Record in its present form goes back to March 5, 1873. Prior to that, the congressional debates were printed under the title of the Congressional Globe, beginning in 1937.

In 1873 the Record had 300 subscribers. Now 83,000 copies are printed each day while congress is in session. This government daily may appear as an eight-page publication one day and have 200 pages the next, all depending upon the copiousness of congressional oratory the day before. Copy for the Record begins to reach the government printers at about 7 o'clock in the evening, and the first edition is delivered at the homes of Representatives and Senators in Washington at 5 o'clock the next morning. When a half holiday makes real speed desirable, the Printing can set a 64-page edition of the Record and have it stereotyped, printed, wrapped for out of town mailing, and delivered to the post office in four hours.

The most remarkable story of rapid work performed in the Government Printing Office is in connection with the Conference on Limitation of Armament held in Washington in the winter of 1921-22. To print the deliberations of this conference, 910 pages were set in 20 hours, which meant a page of type every minute and a quarter. Within 40 hours of the receipts of the manuscript, bound copies of this great volume were in the hands of the president of congress. Twenty-three automatic presses were used. The feat elicited general praise and it was said at the time that no other printing plant could have duplicated the performance.

No job is too exacting or too formidable for the Government Printing Office. The War of Rebellion Records, published in 128 volumes, and requiring a 1200-page index, will perhaps remain for generations the worlds greatest undertaking in the printing line. These records contain more than a hundred thousand pages of printed matter and the whole edition comprises about a million and a half volumes.

The national printing plant has to meet the needs of the executive departments for any quantity of printed matter whether a simple announcement printed on a single small sheet or a highly scientific work in any number of volumes. All languages and dialects may be represented. The Department of Labor may have an immigration notice printed in seven languages, and the requirements of the Library of Congress have to be met by printing in about 56 languages and dialects.

To handle the varied and exacting orders of the government, elaborate equipment is necessary. Everywhere in the big, eight-story plant are wonderful devices and machines that seem to act with almost human intelligence. The largest battery of typesetting machines to be found in any printing office is here. There are 99 linotype machines, 100 monotype keyboards, and 126 monotype casting machines. The pressrooms, in which vast editions are produced, are equipped with large, rotary web presses, feeding from a roll of paper, printing both sides at once, and folding the sheets in book size, ready for binding. There are ingenious automatic presses which print in two colors, perforate, and number the printed sheets, all in one operation.

Sam Can Print Anything.

The fully furnished job room, one of the largest in the country, is capable of printing anything from the smallest card to the largest poster. The bindery too is large and important, with an equipment of the best machinery known to the art. An interesting section of the bindery is devoted to cloth-bound books, and has stamping presses which stamp the covers in gold, ink, or gilt. Case-making machines glue the cloth, attach the binders' boards, put on the back lining, and deliver the completed covers at the rate of about 1,200,000 a year. A beautiful process in bookmaking is the marbeling of book edges done in a variety of attractive combinations by "combing" or mixing of colors. Then there is gold-leaf work, in which pure 22-carat gold is applied by hand.

There is one publication which is intimately related to the Government Printing Office and peculiarly its own. This is the well-known Style Manual, without which the work of typesetting, proof reading, and revising would be difficult, expensive, and confusing. The Style Manual is the chart by which the office steers. With thousands of manuscripts of all kinds coming into the office, hundreds of men putting them into type, other hundreds reading and revising the proofs, it is evident that some guide in the matter of "style"—that is, capitalization, punctuation, spelling, and kindred matters—is very necessary.

Until recently, the Government Printing Office style book was not universally accepted by government officials as final authority. There were any number of officials and congressmen, each of whom regarded his copy as exceptional and wanted it printed according to his taste. Requests of this sort led to expense and trouble. Take the example of one Representative who had been a schoolmaster. When his speeches were set up to be printed, and the proofs were returned to him for correction, he would go through the pages inserting numerous punctuation marks totally unnecessary for clearness. A comma indicated a slight rhetorical pause. A semicolon showed that here the speaker paused longer for rhetorical effect. A period or dash indicated breathless suspense. This rhetorical punctuation was once widely used in printing speeches. It is now a defunct practice, and not one person in a thousand would understand the reason for so many commas and dashes. The government printers, nevertheless, had to reset nearly half of this man's speeches because of the extra punctuation.

WHAT YOU READ LONG TIME AGO

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO.
June 25, 1900.

Miss Margaret Cuthbert left this morning to enter the University of Wooster for the summer term.

Charles Williamson of Wellsville, a student at Cornell University, returned home Saturday evening.

Mrs. George C. Thompson will entertain a number of her lady friends at cards and fancywork Tuesday and Thursday of this week.

This morning while walking along Broadway, Miss Mayme Simms tripped on her shoe string, which was untied, and fell to the sidewalk. A physician was called and found she had not been injured beyond slightly bruising her knee.

YOUR HEALTH

Let Digestion Rest If Brain Has a Big Job on Tap

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR COPELAND

A FAMOUS trial lawyer addressed the students of a great law school. He gave them a lot of sound advice about the art of winning court cases. It struck me as wise counsel.

I was impressed with what the lawyer said of the effect of a trial upon his own health, stating that the conduct of a trial was to him like a medicine. He found that when he was really ill, "a difficult case made a new man" of him and he was able to dismiss his physician.

I don't doubt this in the least. In my own life I have gone through a strenuous season, working day and night, and have actually gained weight. Some persons appear to thrive on hard work. Why? Because the excitement of a great content stimulates the heart and clears the brain. It gives the same effect as a horseback ride or a voluntary walk in the face of a gale.

Why do you exercise? To make the heart and lungs and skin work harder and, in consequence, purify the system.

Mental agility will accomplish the same things. The heart goes at great speed, the breathing is deep and hurried, the skin is active. From mental exercise you get many of the same effects which physical exercise gives.

But it is not because of these things I am telling you about this advice. I wanted to hear what the great lawyer said about the midday meal. Here it is:

"Try to go along without much eating during the recess of a trial. You will be in better shape if you don't handicap yourself by a hearty meal. You owe your client your best working mind."

That is splendid advice. It is good advice for everybody. It matters not what your business or calling.

If you are a teacher, a barber, a manicurist, a clerk, a bookkeeper, a stenographer, a farmer, a milliner, a linotype operator, a printer, a painter, a banker—it makes no difference what you are, you cannot do your best during the afternoon if you overfill your stomach with food at midday.

To have the brain do its best work and to have the muscles do their best, the blood must be distributed fairly uniformly throughout the body. This cannot be the case if the stomach is loaded and a quantity of blood is sent to the abdomen to perform the necessary work of digestion.

The popular idea is that we will get faint and weak without food. This is founded on the notion that the body gets the immediate effects of the food eaten. This is not the case. It takes hours, three or four hours, to complete digestion. The food you take at mid-day begins its nourishing effects about the time you sit down to your night meal.

It is good advice the lawyer gave. But let it not be confined to lawyers and law students. It is advice which every one of us will do well to follow.

Answers to Health Questions

D. B. Q.—What causes canker sores in the mouth?

A.—This may be due to an acid condition of the stomach. For full particulars send stamped, self-addressed envelope and repeat your question.

G. B. Q.—How can I determine whether I have a broken rib?

A.—I suggest that you have an X-ray taken. This will show up any trouble.

A READER. Q.—What can I do to get rid of blackheads and pimples?

A.—Correct your diet and overcome any tendency to constipation. For full particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. W. A. G. Q.—My husband's tongue has been badly coated for about eight months. Will you kindly explain the reason?

A.—This condition may be due to improper diet and faulty intestinal elimination. This should be corrected. For further particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and restate your question.

H. H. K. Q.—Does one ever fully recover from a nervous breakdown?

A.—Yes. With proper care, such as building up your general system with a good, nourishing diet, including milk, cream, fresh eggs, plenty of green vegetables, etc. Plenty of water to drink between meals. Exercise freely in the fresh air. Sleep as many hours a possible in a well-ventilated room. A change of scenery or environment often proves helpful.

• • •

W. W. Q.—What is the cause of cold sweats at night while sleeping?

2.—How old must a child be before the adenoids and tonsils can be removed?

A.—This may be due to too heavy bed clothing, lowered resistance, or to some intestinal disturbance. Try to improve your general health and see whether you do not notice benefit.

2.—This would depend to a great extent upon the existing conditions. It is better to wait until about the third or fourth year if possible, but if necessary it may be done at a much earlier age. The physician should be the judge of the proper time.

Chinese Nationality

The Chinese situation seems to be assuming the form of a labor boycott. This is the most notable thing about it.

Cases of violence and outrage are sporadic, and perhaps exceptional when the extent and populousness of the country are considered. Foreigners are frightened, which is natural, and foreign women and children are leaving the country. Perhaps that is wise. Yet the opposition now shown to foreigners does not suggest the famous Boxer revolt. This is mainly a movement of passive resistance to alien domination.

It is primarily economic. It is also political. And trying to look at the situation dispassionately, an American will probably conclude that it is patriotic.

The remarkable feature of this uprising is that it seems to show the Chinese at last in the process of developing a national spirit. That is something they have not had for thousands of years.

A fiery nationalism in that vast, teeming country might be disastrous for the world. A sturdy, self-respecting spirit of nationality, showing itself in unity and co-operation for the preservation of Chinese liberties and hostile only to foreign aggression, would be something that honest white nations should neither fear nor oppose.

American Life As It Is

A distinguished British lord warns the English-speaking union not to form its judgment of the United States from American movie films. The reason is obvious. And the warning applies everywhere.

"What does the Finnish peasant, the Algerian water-carrier, the Singapore coolie think of America?" asks the New York World. "To him it is the land of gorgeous mansions, butlers, expensively jeweled women and champagne parties, desperadoes blazing away over faro tables, human flies climbing skyscrapers, automobiles jumping over walls, vampires, posses disappearing in dust, detectives and pie-fights."

Nations are usually misunderstood by other nations, it is admitted, but never has there been such a mighty power of misrepresentation as exists in the American film. It goes everywhere, and perhaps a billion foreigners take it as a fairly accurate representation of American life. Yet every sane American knows how false it is.

It would be immensely better for this country, and better for the rest of the world, too, if exported films gave a less weird picture of our land and people. But what is to be done about it? The films are made primarily for home use, and the sort of stuff produced is what the home market seems to want. There cannot very well be separate plays produced for the home market and foreign market.

Apparently the only remedy is the development of American taste for dramatic sanity and reality rather than the unusual and grotesque. And the creation of good taste in artistic matters among the masses who support filmdom is slow work. Yet it can be done. The newspapers prosper by presenting life as it is.

Polar Transportation

Amundsen didn't reach the North Pole. Technically, therefore, his flight was a failure. But he is not heartbroken because he had to turn back when only 160 miles from his goal. And he should not be. For essentially Amundsen triumphed.

He did the big thing—proved that it is quite feasible to fly to the pole in an airplane. But for the head winds, that used up more of his gasoline than he had expected, he would have arrived there. It was only a question of a few more gallons of "gas." He could have covered those additional miles by the simple process of letting his engine continue to run instead of shutting it off. Then, arrived at the top of the world, if no safe alighting place showed he could have circled around and flown back to his starting point.

The calculations were sound, all except the amount of fuel needed. The motor worked perfectly. The plane proved its dependability.

What has been done once can be done again, perhaps more easily. The criticism made so often in the last decade, that Arctic explorers should use airplanes instead of ships and sledges, is no longer needed. Soon flying to the pole, whether for scientific observation or for sport, will be a common performance.

Traveling Light

Unless a stern director limits beforehand just what is permitted as luggage, the average person on his first camping trip usually overloads. He carries more clothes and accessories than he needs or uses. The experienced camper travels light, but has all the essentials.

The person who must stick to his job through the favorite vacation months often overloads himself with food and clothing and activities far beyond summer essentials. Simplification and elimination should be his watchwords quite as much as they are of camper and traveler.

Very important in the enjoyment of summer is the sloughing off of fussiness and worries and the adoption of an attitude of whole-hearted co-operation with the weather. If it is fine, appreciate it, get out into it, enjoy it. Traveling light requires planning and forethought, but it pays well in comfort and enjoyment.

It's worth while to go away just to discover that you're well off at home.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 25.—There is a certain high chaired shoe shine parlor near Longacre square that is a clearing house for frothy gossip of Broadway. Reporters often drop in there on trail of the latest bit of scandal.

Its history goes back to the days when Abe Hummel was what the Tenderloin knows as "a swell mouthpiece." The brilliant little lawyer was a daily patron. Wilson Mizner, George Bronson Howard and Wally McCutcheon exchanged repartee around the late afternoon breakfast hour.

The place today fairly crackles with the savor of the Broadway trinity—dice, gin and pleasure. It has seen Life pass by in the gilt coach and the Potterfield wagon. Actors pipe their glories to the tune of the polishing rag. Tin horn sports air their daily conquests and chorus girls fire their barrage of wise cracks.

You hear sly insinuations, half in jest, about this one and that. A great producer has fallen for a little pony with a baby lisp. A famous playwright vanishes in Chinatown and comes back shaking with a dry tongue and mighty thirst. The "black smoke."

A star fumbled her lines. The answer? Her address is now a jag cure. A leading man got his black eye in a cafe. The other woman saw him. This is the reputation killing gossip that swings lightly from chair to chair. So Queen Medea slew her children to slow music.

Broadway always gives a hoot with the huzzah for its great. It is the street where nothing lasts—its cafes as well as its reputations. Yet nowhere is a greater kindness shown the fallen. In all its history there is no record of starvation.

On every block are men and women who are able to live pleasantly on Broadway's bounty, although they have not worked for years. They dress well, eat the best and have spending money.

There is the story they relate of "Diamond Jim" Brady, who drank deep of Broadway's pleasures. He was standing in front of a hotel canopy one evening waiting for a cab. A lady tossed him an engaging smile. He called her to him and inquired why one so young and good looking should barter her soul. She intimated lightly that ladies must live. He gave her $25 and exacted a promise that she would meet him every week at the same hour and place where he was standing and he would give her the same amount until she found work. She came for nine weeks. No questions were asked and then she vanished. Five years later he heard from her. She owned a prosperous millinery business in the middle west.

George M. Cohan—although he modestly denies it—has a list of people who through no fault of their own have gone down in life's battle. Each one receives a check weekly.

In the Orchard street pushcart market babble is a man who educated two sons—one for dentistry and the other for surgery. He is proud of their success, but is so afraid of hurting their business that he does not go near their offices. He telephones them often for the sheer joy of hearing their voices. The sons are a decent sort and have often tried to get their father to give up his vocation. He refuses but now and then he has them meet at one of their homes and "bootlegs" a visit.

The son of well to do parents is making more than $50 a week in an unusual way. He failed to get a job after graduation. So he has a list of typewriter owners upon whom he calls every two weeks to examine their machines and put them in repair if necessary. He charges a fixed amount for each customer.

PLAN "COTTAGE" WOMAN PRISON

New Federal Penitentiary Provides for 500 Convicts.

Washington.—A departure in federal government methods in handling prisoners will take place with the completion of the federal industrial institution for women at Aldersan, W. Va.

Congress has appropriated $909,100 for the prison, and government architects are now preparing preliminary plans for a cottage system, under which prisoners will live in communities.

A farm of 200 acres already has been obtained, and negotiations are under way for an additional 300 acres.

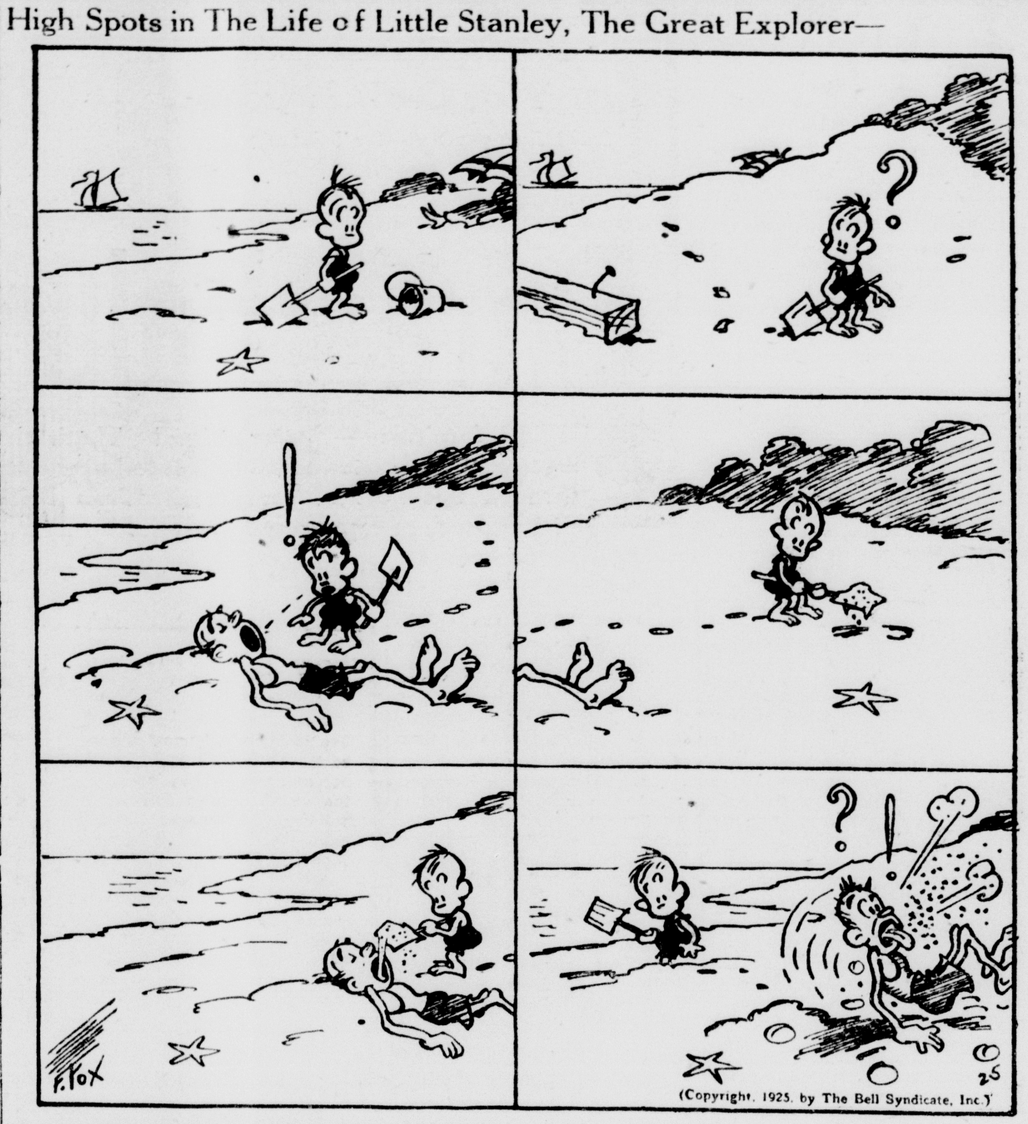

The capacity of the women's federal penitentiary, the first of its kind in the country, will be 500.

Federal women prisoners are now being sent to state jails, and department of justice officials say the government is finding it increasingly difficult to get the states to take prisoners.

Dr. Mary B. Harris, who will head the new institution, is the daughter of Dr. John Howard Harris, president emeritus of Bucknell university. She is a graduate of the University of Chicago. After several years spent in teaching and foreign travel, she became superintendent of women at the workhouse on Blackwell's Island, N. Y. Later, she was made superintendent of the New Jersey state reformatory for women in February, 1918.

During the war, Dr. Harris served as assistant director in the section of reformatories and detention houses in the law enforcement division of the camp activities, continuing in this capacity until April, 1919. She then assumed the superintendency of the state home for girls of New Jersey, which she held until January, 1925, when she became field executive secretary of the International Association of Policewomen.

High Spots in The Life of Little Stanley, The Great Explorer—

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Uncle Sam, the Printer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25.—To say that the government printing office is the largest printing plant in the world is not nearly so convincing as to state that if all the postal cards printed here in a year could be stacked the pile would be 200 miles high. If placed end to end they would extend around the world nearly five times. This great plant represents an expenditure of more than $10,000,000 for construction and equipment, and its annual output, based on actual cost of production, amounts to about $11,00,000.

The size of such an establishment can be suggested only by reeling off amazing figures. Try to imagine what it means for a print shop to turn out 92,000,000 income-tax forms in 30 days. This $350,000 job required 1,172,159 pounds of paper cut into 8,775,692 sheets.

All of the government departments are steady customers of the government printing office. The Post Office department's yearly printing bill includes about 200,00,000 money-order applications, 60,000,000 special delivery slips, 10,000,000 change of address cards and other items in proportion. The number of money orders required by the way, is considered one of the surest barometers of trade conditions. When the demand for money-order blanks rises, it shows that business is prospering.

The War department called on the Public Printer to deliver 10,000,000 copies of reports and documents for the Army in one year. The department of Agriculture had more than 32,000,000 publications printed, so that the results of its research on such subjects as cows, babies, alfalfa, jelly making, model kitchens, and fox-fur farming might be communicated to the far corners of the United States. The inventive genius of the country keeps the Printing Office busy turning out specifications. Patents, trade-marks, and designs are granted by the Patent Office at the rate of at least 1,000 a week. Providing copies of these to be sold by the Patent Office keeps 50 linotype machines running eight hours a day throughout the year.

Congress makes heavier demands upon the Government Printing Office than does any other branch of the government. Its annual printing bill amounts to about $2,000,000. The Congressional Record and the printing of hearings, committee reports, and bills cover the major portion of this amount. During a single year the government supplied congress with more than a million copies of octavo publications, about 500 copies each of more than 12,000 bills and resolutions and numerous other pieces of printing in proportion.

Sam's Daily Paper.

The big congressional job is the Congressional Record, so familiar to the American public. The Record in its present form goes back to March 5, 1873. Prior to that, the congressional debates were printed under the title of the Congressional Globe, beginning in 1937.

In 1873 the Record had 300 subscribers. Now 83,000 copies are printed each day while congress is in session. This government daily may appear as an eight-page publication one day and have 200 pages the next, all depending upon the copiousness of congressional oratory the day before. Copy for the Record begins to reach the government printers at about 7 o'clock in the evening, and the first edition is delivered at the homes of Representatives and Senators in Washington at 5 o'clock the next morning. When a half holiday makes real speed desirable, the Printing can set a 64-page edition of the Record and have it stereotyped, printed, wrapped for out of town mailing, and delivered to the post office in four hours.

The most remarkable story of rapid work performed in the Government Printing Office is in connection with the Conference on Limitation of Armament held in Washington in the winter of 1921-22. To print the deliberations of this conference, 910 pages were set in 20 hours, which meant a page of type every minute and a quarter. Within 40 hours of the receipts of the manuscript, bound copies of this great volume were in the hands of the president of congress. Twenty-three automatic presses were used. The feat elicited general praise and it was said at the time that no other printing plant could have duplicated the performance.

No job is too exacting or too formidable for the Government Printing Office. The War of Rebellion Records, published in 128 volumes, and requiring a 1200-page index, will perhaps remain for generations the worlds greatest undertaking in the printing line. These records contain more than a hundred thousand pages of printed matter and the whole edition comprises about a million and a half volumes.

The national printing plant has to meet the needs of the executive departments for any quantity of printed matter whether a simple announcement printed on a single small sheet or a highly scientific work in any number of volumes. All languages and dialects may be represented. The Department of Labor may have an immigration notice printed in seven languages, and the requirements of the Library of Congress have to be met by printing in about 56 languages and dialects.

To handle the varied and exacting orders of the government, elaborate equipment is necessary. Everywhere in the big, eight-story plant are wonderful devices and machines that seem to act with almost human intelligence. The largest battery of typesetting machines to be found in any printing office is here. There are 99 linotype machines, 100 monotype keyboards, and 126 monotype casting machines. The pressrooms, in which vast editions are produced, are equipped with large, rotary web presses, feeding from a roll of paper, printing both sides at once, and folding the sheets in book size, ready for binding. There are ingenious automatic presses which print in two colors, perforate, and number the printed sheets, all in one operation.

Sam Can Print Anything.

The fully furnished job room, one of the largest in the country, is capable of printing anything from the smallest card to the largest poster. The bindery too is large and important, with an equipment of the best machinery known to the art. An interesting section of the bindery is devoted to cloth-bound books, and has stamping presses which stamp the covers in gold, ink, or gilt. Case-making machines glue the cloth, attach the binders' boards, put on the back lining, and deliver the completed covers at the rate of about 1,200,000 a year. A beautiful process in bookmaking is the marbeling of book edges done in a variety of attractive combinations by "combing" or mixing of colors. Then there is gold-leaf work, in which pure 22-carat gold is applied by hand.

There is one publication which is intimately related to the Government Printing Office and peculiarly its own. This is the well-known Style Manual, without which the work of typesetting, proof reading, and revising would be difficult, expensive, and confusing. The Style Manual is the chart by which the office steers. With thousands of manuscripts of all kinds coming into the office, hundreds of men putting them into type, other hundreds reading and revising the proofs, it is evident that some guide in the matter of "style"—that is, capitalization, punctuation, spelling, and kindred matters—is very necessary.

Until recently, the Government Printing Office style book was not universally accepted by government officials as final authority. There were any number of officials and congressmen, each of whom regarded his copy as exceptional and wanted it printed according to his taste. Requests of this sort led to expense and trouble. Take the example of one Representative who had been a schoolmaster. When his speeches were set up to be printed, and the proofs were returned to him for correction, he would go through the pages inserting numerous punctuation marks totally unnecessary to clearness. A comma indicated a slight rhetorical pause. A semicolon showed that here the speaker paused longer for rhetorical effect. A period or dash indicated breathless suspense. This rhetorical punctuation was once widely used in printing speeches. It is now a defunct practice, and not one person in a thousand would understand the reason for so many commas and dashes. The government printers, nevertheless, had to reset nearly half of this man's speeches because of the extra punctuation.

SOCIETY

Frank Crook Co. Emplcyes are Guests At Indoor Picnic

Fifty employes of the Frank Crook Furniture company, Fifth street, were guests at an indoor picnic on the sec ond floor of the store last evening. The picnic had been planned for Beaver Creek, but on account of the inclement weather, was held in the Crook building.

Following dinner, a mock wedding took place, as this marked the eleventh wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huston, of Vine street. The party was also in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Howard Sutton. Dancing and radio music were diversions.

The guests included the employes, their wives, husbands and families.

Birthday Anniversary Observed.

Honoring the fifteenth birthday anniversary of Lester Burlingame, a group of friends delightfully surprised him Tuesday evening at his home in Ohio avenue, East End. Music and games were the chief diversions, after which a three-course luncheon was served by the host's mother, assisted by Mrs. Frank Seevers and Miss Phyllis Archer. Reduce your ankles and legs with DR FOLT'S soap

.....Dr. Folts soap is the up-to-date way to reduce arms, legs, hips, double chin.

Why should you turn to diets, exercise or drugs—now that a positive and ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS EXTERNAL way to melt excess fat from any part of the body without affecting other parts, is offered to you? To quickly get ideal slender lines all you need to do is to wash every night from five to ten minutes the parts you wish to reduce, with a good lather of DR. FOLTS' SOAP (but be sure to get the original reducing soap—DR. FOLTS'. Avoid imitations, "so-called just as good"). Dr. Folts' Soap, the original reducing soap, has for the last two years proven that it could really reduce fat people.

This soap, as soon as applied, is absorbed by the tissues, and suppresses excessive fat without any possible chance of harming the most delicate skin. It has been found ideal to get rid of double chins, because the skin is not left flabby or wrinkled after the reducing. Fat men and women are now using this wonderful soap with amazing results. Reductions of several inches in hips and bust are of common occurrence every day. Try it yourself. Go to any good drug or department store, get DR. FOLTS' SOAP (beware of imitations). Reduce your ankles and legs with DR FOLTS soap

.....Dr. Folts soap is the up-to-date way to reduce arms, legs, hips, double chin.

Why should you turn to diets, exercise or drugs—now that a positive and ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS EXTERNAL way to melt excess fat from any part of the body without affecting other parts, is offered to you? To quickly get ideal slender lines all you need to do is to wash every night from five to ten minutes the parts you wish to reduce, with a good lather of DR. FOLTS' SOAP (but be sure to get the original reducing soap—DR. FOLTS'. Avoid imitations, "so-called just as good"). Dr. Folts' Soap, the original reducing soap, has for the last two years proven that it could really reduce fat people.

This soap, as soon as applied, is absorbed by the tissues, and suppresses excessive fat without any possible chance of harming the most delicate skin. It has been found ideal to get rid of double chins, because the skin is not left flabby or wrinkled after the reducing. Fat men and women are now using this wonderful soap with amazing results. Reductions of several inches in hips and bust are of common occurrence every day. Try it yourself. Go to any good drug or department store, get DR. FOLTS' SOAP (beware of imitations). If your druggist is out of it, he can get it for you from his wholesaler, or you can send a check or money order direct to the Scientific Research Laboratories, 350 W. 31st St., N. Y. C. DR. FOLTS' SOAP sells for 50 c. a cake, three for $1.20.

Take off that double Chin!

Dr. Folts Soap Takes off fat.

facts about Child-birth

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering, pain and dread experienced during expectancy, as well as at child-birth is entirely unnecessary.

An eminent physician, Dr. J. H. Holmes, expert in this science, first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend," which aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, during the constant readjustment, month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth.

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally. Three generations of expectant mothers have used it. "Pains disappeared in two days after using 'Mother's Friend,'" writes a user. "I owe my life to 'Mother's Friend,'" declared another. Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did, start today and experience the wonderful comfort it will give you.

GIRL RELATES CRUELTY STORY

Moundsville Man Accused of Brutality by Stepdaughter.

CLEVELAND, June 25.—Driven from her home by the cruelty of her stepfather, and his insistence that she wed a man many years her senior, according to the story she told later at central police station, Dorothy Ryman, 18, of Moundsville, W. Va., was found wandering on the streets of Cleveland yesterday. She spent the night in the matron's quarters.

Dorothy told the matron she left Moundsville for Cleveland where she has an aunt living, when her stepfather's cruelty became unendurable. However, she lost her aunt's address. Police today were seeking the woman and if they find her will turn Dorothy over to her care.

"My father died eight years ago," Dorothy said. "My mother married again the next year. My stepfather, John Mesavage, was cruel to me. He didn't beat me, but he made me work like two men every day. I even had to plow the fields without shoes.

"Only once a month would he permit me to don my shoes and go to church. But it wasn't only the work. He tried to make me marry a man of 45, and I didn't like him. Mother gave me a little money and so I came to Cleveland.

"The police have been so nice to me," she explained. "And I'll never, never go back home as long as my stepfather's there."

DELINQUENT LIST LAW IS CHANGED

Sheriff J. Alfred Tope has received a letter form State Auditor John C. Bond calling his attention ot a new law relating to the delinquent list. His letter reads as follows:

"Under the provisions of Section 21, Chapter 20 of the code, you are required to make up certain delinquent tax lists while Section 23 of said chapter provides that such lists be posted at the front door of the court house at least two weeks before the session of the county court at which they are presented for examination, and that the personal property delinquent lists shall be published in two newspapers of opposite politics.

"The legislature of 1925 amended Section 23 so as to provide that both the delinquent personal property list and the delinquent land list shall be so published. This new law will become effective July 24. Usually these delinquent lists are presented to the county court at the levy term of said court on the fourth Tuesday in August. It would, therefore, appear that under the new law if you have not presented your list to the county court by July 24 you should have published both the delinquent personal property and the delinquent land lists.

"Some sheriffs have taken the view that they cannot accept taxes after they have made up the delinquent lists provided by Section 21. This is in error as the attorney general has ruled that sheriffs must continue to accept taxes until the delinquent lists are approved by the county court as provided by Section 24. After such lists are approved by the county court it is unlawful for the sheriff to accept further taxes and the same can only be paid at this office."

MOTHER ENTERS COLLEGE TO PAY FOR EDUCATION FOR TWO SONS

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Six women, past the two-score-year mark, are enrolled, full-fledged undergraduates at Syracuse University.

They are Mrs. Grace S. Parker, Miss E. C. Pfaff, Miss Mary R. Coffin, Miss Sophie Hatton, Miss A. V. Taylor and Miss Maude Toby.

"I came to college so I could send my sons of college," Mrs. Parker exclaimed today. "That may sound rather funny, but, you see, with just another year of preparation I could get a much better position teaching than with the education I had."

Mrs. Parker added that she had left the university before finishing her course in order to get married.

"Yes," she said. "When you are young, and in love, nothing else seems to matter. I lacked a year's work for my degree, but a degree appeared of little significance then. Now that I am a widow and have two sons to educate, I find a degree would be of great value."

Miss Pfaff is another of the women who returned to complete her education so that she might secure a better position. Miss Pfaff obtained her A. B. from Bryn Mawr some time ago, but she wished to have further training and a degree in art.

Spoiling a Good Thing

If you have looked over the recently-published list of wage scales for carpenters in other cities as compared with the wages offered to the striking carpenters in East Liverpool, you must have been considerably surprised at finding how much more East Liverpool is paying her carpenters than other cities, even big cities, are paying.

The carpenters have had a pretty good thing of it here, but they have taken about the best way of spoiling it.

They have refused a $10-a-day scale, which is more than most cities in the United States pay. They have gone on strike. They have refused to lend a hand toward settlement of the strike, and now many of them are going away to work elsewhere, hoping that East Liverpool, which they have tied up with their strike, will stay tied up.

But it won't. For almost two months, the contractors have been letting the striking carpenters have their way, much to the inconvenience of the contractors' customers—the people who want to build. Now it is time to consider the customers' rights.

The contractors have now no choice but to go out and get carpenters who will work.

(This advertisement prepared and paid for by the Building Construction Employers Association of East Liverpool, as a means of public information.)

MOTHER ENTERS COLLEGE TO PAY FOR EDUCATION FOR TWO SONS

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Six women past the two-score-year mark, are enrolled, full-fledged undergraduates at Syracuse University.

They are Mrs. Grace S. Parker, Miss E. C. Pfaff, Miss Mary R. Coffin, Miss Sophie Hatton, Miss A. V. Taylor and Miss Maude Toby.

"I came to college so I could send my sons of college," Mrs. Parker exclaimed today. "That may sound rather funny, but, you see, with just another year of preparation I could get a much better position teaching than with the education I had."

Mrs. Parker added that she had left the university before finishing her course in order to get married.

"Yes," she said. "When you are young, and in love, nothing else seems to matter. I lacked a year's work for my degree, but a degree appeared of little significance then. Now that I am a widow and have two sons to educate, I find a degree would be of great value."

Miss Pfaff is another of the women who returned to complete her education so that she might secure a better position. Miss Pfaff obtained her A. B. from Bryn Mawr some time ago, but she wished to have further training and a degree in art.

Gruber became a citizen of the United States while living near Okolona, this county, in 1887. He forfeited his rights to American citizenship by remaining in Germany from 1907 to 1921, it was claimed.

Spoiling a Good Thing

If you have looked over the recently-published list of wage scales for carpenters in other cities as compared with the wages offered to the striking carpenters in East Liverpool, you must have been considerably surprised at finding how much more East Liverpool is paying her carpenters than other cities, even big cities, are paying.

The carpenters have had a pretty good thing of it here, but they have taken about the best way of spoiling it.

They have refused a $10-a-day scale, which is more than most cities in the United States pay. They have gone on strike. They have refused to lend a hand toward settlement of the strike, and now many of them are going away to work elsewhere, hoping that East Liverpool, which they have tied up with their strike, will stay tied up.

But it won't. For almost two months, the contractors have been letting the striking carpenters have their way, much to the inconvenience of the contractors' customers—the people who want to build. Now it is time to consider the customers' rights.

The contractors have now no choice but to go out and get carpenters who will work.

Salvation Army Urges Assistance in Raising $2,000.

A request from the Salvation Army that the Kiwanis club assist in raising $2,000 to meet its budget for 1925, was referred to a committee for investigation and recommendation at the weekly luncheon in the Larkins annex at noon today.

A committee consisting of W. A. Weaver, R. S. Koehler and John W. Moore was named by President George E. Lewis to confer with the Salvation Army leaders and make a recommendation at next Thursday's meeting as to the part which the local club should play in the proposed campaign. It was suggested that the Salvation Army address an appeal to other service clubs and organizations so as to make the drive general.

The attendance prize, a box of candy furnished by Ross Tisher, was awarded O. O. Allison of Chester. Clarence C. Cline made a report of the ball game at Youngstown last week in which the local nine defeated the Youngstown Kiwanians, 14 to 3.

Harry Keyes suggested that the club should sponsor a uniform flag decoration for East Liverpool. He was advised that the American Legion was already engaged in such a campaign.

Short talks were made by Thompson Andrews, Charles Pilgrim and other members. About 50 attended the meeting. Chorus singing was led by Prof. H. F. Laughlin.

who went over to arouse sympathy for the north in our Civil war.

He was not well received as the bishop of Albany, perhaps because he carried with him a higher opinion of his own country and his own countrymen than the one taken over by the bishop.

In Liverpool, when Beecher spoke they threw eggs and hissed him. A man in the crowd shouted. "We thought you Yankees were such great fighters. How long is this war of yours going to last?"

Beecher replied "I can't answer your question. When we fought you Englishmen in 1776 it didn't last long. That was easy, but then we were only fighting Englishmen.

"But this time we are fighting Americans and there's no telling how long that may last."

The agricultural department shows that in 1924 the farmers averaged a profit of 21 cents a bushel on wheat and 26 cents a bushel on corn. Many lost money on every bushel, others made more than the average.

Farmers that raised potatoes on the average actually lost money, and would have been better off if they hadn't planted a potato.

A good wheat speculator, knowing that the prosperous class wanted La Follette badly beaten, and was sure to put up the price of wheat, could easily buy a million bushels of wheat early in the campaign and sell it at a profit of one million dollars.

It was a lucky farmer that could raise a few thousand bushels of wheat and sell it at a profit of one thousand dollars.

Patriotic citizens of Indiana contribute $12.5000 to preserve James Whitcomb Riley's "Ole Swimmin' Hole." That's worth while; sentiment is beautiful.

The government ought to spend a few thousand times $12,500 to fill up a lot of mosquitoes' old swimming holes, swamps and other breeding places of malaria.

Some of the money that President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon are going to save might well be spent wiping out disease, deserts and swamps on Uncle Sam's great farm.

Revolt Grips Greece

Climax of Political Crisis.

The Greek government has been facing a political crisis for several weeks.

The political situation came to a head June 10 when General Kondylis resigned as minister of the interior. General Kondylis has a strong following in Greece, as had M. Michalakopoulos, who was premier until today. Kondylis, in resigning, pledged the support of his party to the Michalakopoulos regime, but dispatches today would indicate either that he began an offensive against Michalakopoulos or that he was not able to control his followers.

The resignation of Michalakopoulos followed an incipient revolution of Armenian and Greek refugees in Greece June 7. The refugee settlement committee had been building camps at Podarades, Byron and Kokkinca to care for Greeks and Armenians expelled by Turkey. The Near East relief, conducted under American auspices, has been feeding the refugees.

Pangalos New President

PARIS, June 25.—The Michalakopulos government was deposed and General Pangalos, leader of the revolutionists, was proclaimed the new president of the Greek republic, the newsapare L'Independent of Salonika announced today, according to advises to La Liberte.

The army and navy co-operated in overthrowing the government. The dispatch added.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Greek government 7 per cent bonds declined 2 points in the listed bond market today due to the revolution in Greece. They sold around 84.

Lieut. Lily Hughes Named Assistant To Adjutant Dean

Lieutenant Lily Hughes, daughter of Major and Mrs. Hughes, of the Akron Salvation Army staff, has been appointed to assist Adjutant and Mrs. John G. Dean, of the local Salvation Army barracks, it was announced today. She will be welcomed by the local organization on Sunday, July 5.

Mrs. Dean and her daughter, Gladys, have just returned from New York where the latter was commissioned as a lieutenant. More than 200 cadets received their commissions at these exercises which were held in the Carnegie Music hall on Monday evening. Lieutenant Dean has been appointed on the editorial staff of the national headquarters staff in New York and after a brief visit with her parents here will take up her new duties.

Miss Ruth Abrams, daughter of Adjutant and Mrs. J. H. Abrams of Cleveland, formerly of this city, has been commissioned and sent to Baltimore. Captain Percy Holden of this city, who also received a commission, was sent to the Training College staff in New York.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 25.—The best records in the stock market were made by the motor stocks, the Northwestern railroad stocks and a few of the specialties in the early trading today. Chicago and Northwestern, Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred led a spirited rally in the railroad stocks, which was also participated in by Wabash, St. Pauls, New York Central and New Haven. Industrial and specialty stocks continued the forward movement which was in progress at the close of yesterday's session, with tobacco stocks strong and a few of the oils making fractional advances.

The market assumed a confident tone from the start. Maxwell Motors opened a point higher and numerous industrial and specialty stocks advanced a point or more in the first period. Texas Gulf Sulphur reached a new high at 113 and American Can was more than a point higher. The "running in of the shorts" continued in the motor stocks as well as in industrial shares which reached higher levels on the last move.

Pierce Arrow, Hudson and General Motors lead the forward movement in the motor stocks, though Studebaker and Chandler were also in good demand and Willys Overland preferred sold nearly a point higher. An extra cash dividend is talked of for General Motors, the earnings of which are running far beyond present dividend requirements. Hupp and Houdson were bought on rumors of consolidation and purchase by some other powerful motor interests, probably General Motors.

Call money market was practically unchanged. The renewal rate was posted at 4¼ per cent with funds in abundance at that rate. The cotton market was fairly steady, and grain prices fractionally lower.

STORK OUTRUNS GRIM REAPER

Fifty-one Births and 12 Deaths Here in May.

The stork outdistanced the grim reaper by more than four to one in East Liverpool during May, according to the report of Mrs. Alice M. Davidson, deputy registrar of vital statistics, submitted to the board of health at a meeting in the clinic rooms, in the Diamond, last evening.

Births during the month totaled 51, of which 24 were males and 27 females. Deaths numbered 12.

Seven cases of contagious diseases were reported. Of this number four were scarlet fever, two diphtheria and one of measles.

In the clinic, 21 new cases were admitted, while two old cases were returned. Male treatments given during the month numbered 120 and female 40.

A report on research, regarding milk can sterilization, especially during the summer months, was discussed. The following statement, urging the sterilization of milk cans by producers and dealers, was issued by Health Commissioner John A. Fraser today:

"With the advent of hot weather, the sterilization of milk cans is of utmost importance from the bacteriological and economic standpoints. This applies especially to the cans which are returned supposedly in a clean, sanitary condition to be refilled by the producer. Unless sterilized on the farm, cans, which have not been treated in a thorough manner by the dealer, will probably be the cause of his receiving very poor, if not extremely undesirable, milk in the shipment.

"Even if poor cans are washed and rinsed soon after being emptied, but are not sterilized, they will usually contain at least several million bacteria, especially if a number of utensils are washed and rinsed in the same water. In warm weather, these millions will be increased to billions in 24 to 48 hours, for in such cans plenty of moisture and food material for bacterial growth are usually present."

Minority

"Heretofore I favored elimination of all taxes on incomes up to $5,000, but my present purpose is to limit the exemption to incomes up to $3,000 and to impose a very low rate on earnings over that amount and up to $5,000. This would make the moderate wage-earner pay a small tax to his government and give him a direct interest in its management."

King believes that all excise and nuisance taxes should be repealed.

"Most of the excise taxes and the so-called nuisance taxes are purely war taxes," he declares. "As the war has been ended for seven years past it is full time to eliminate these taxes. They are an impediment to business, and I don't believe in taxing either business or business activity. We should encourage business by removing these discriminatory taxes."

Estate Tax Controversy.

Another important question before the coming congress, King believes, will be finding a solution to the estate tax controversy. He originally proposed a convention between the states and the federal government for the purpose of arranging an agreement for the allocation of estate taxes. Recently President Coolidge endorsed the idea.

"There is NO doubt that, with so many of the states levying a tax on estates and the federal government doing likewise, in some instances the aggregate tax is almost confiscatory," says King. "I believe a plan ought to be carried out by which the states and the federal government by appropriate convention shall provide for the levying of but one tax and for its collection by but one agency and then for its proper allocation between the states and the federal government."

King disagrees with but one of the administration's major tax proposals—that is, the plan to repeal income tax publicity. He is in favor of continuing the present publicity provisions, will fight for their retention and may even favor their extension.

American Golfers Triumph in Opening Round at Prestwick

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—Jim Barnes, of New York, went to the from among the early finishes on the first day of the British open golf championship today by turning in a card of 70-77-147 for 36 holes of play. Barnes' 70 in the morning broke course record at Prestwick, and in spite of the fact he cracked slighlty after the sixth hole in the afteroon, his total was sufficient to outdistance the field of early starters.

The final 36 holes will be played tomorrow.

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—American golf came triumphantly through the opening round of the British open championship today.

"Long Jim" Barnes, the lanky professional from Pelham, N. Y., led the field at the end of the morning round with a brilliant 70, which established a new record for the difficult Prestwick course.

"Barnes' feat today is one of the most remarkable in golfing history," said George Duncan, the British pro. "With the greens like lighting, as they are, and in this heat 76 represents perfect golf. Jm played six strokes better than perfect golf."

Kirby Jurors

in the sky with an electric sign on the top with the world, "Cleveland Discount Company," flashing through the night above it, was erected on Superior avenue.

"I went," Kirby was reported to have said, "to have those letters big enough so that they can be read in Cincinnati." Perhaps the sign could not be read in the Ohio river metropolis, but it was big enough to add something to the skyline of Superior avenue in Cleveland.

Name on Every Lip

Kirby's name was on almost every lip. His advice was sought and his views quoted on every side. He took the presidency of the Cleveland Yacht company, "to put it on its feet." The membership grew, and Kirby, out of his great energy, gave much to its upbuilding.

But his constant dream was of the discount company—his child. Mammoth building projects were evolved, a tremendous apartment development being financed in a Cleveland suburb. This when failure came was taken over by others and is now nearing completion.

The case was highly technical and the issues involved bookkeeping formulas and the language of high finance, making it difficult at times for the jury to follow the evidence presented.

Defense Blamed "Big Business."

This indictment grew out of a plan approved by directors of the company to retire the outstanding preferred stock of the company and to substitute for it common stock on the basis of two shares of common stock for each share of preferred turned it. At the time of the adoption of the plan, testimony showed that preferred was quoted at $70.00 per share, while the common stock had a market value of $36.50.

When the financial difficulties of the concern caused Kirby's retirement, the value of the company's securities dwindled. These difficulties, the state alleged, were due to the mismanagement of the concern by Kirby, while the defense contended they were caused by a decree of "big business" men here that "Kirby must get out."

The indictments against Kirby were returned after a special grand jury investigation of discount affairs had been ordered by Gov. A. V. Donahey. The investigation and prosecution were conducted by special prosecutors named by Attorney General C. C. Crabbe.

Kirby's Statement.

"This is the third time my case has been before a jury," Kirby said to press representatives. "Twelve jurors in California and in Cleveland have found me guiltless of any crime or misrepresentation. Counting this jury, 35 out of 36 have been for acquittal. Every effort is being made to see that stockholders get back 100 cents on the dollar. It is assured they will get at least 65. If this persecution will stop a great deal more can be accomplished for the stockholders."

Following the verdict, Kirby shook hands with each one of the 11 jurors. "We were all convinced of your innocence from the beginning," several declared.

Special prosecutors who handled the state's case refused to make any statement or verify a rumor that arose following the verdict that other charges pending in state courts would be nolled.

Shepherd Defense Turns Its Guns on "Indirect Confession"

CHICAGO, June 25.—The defense of William D. Shepherd today trained its guns on the state's theory of "indirect confession."

Abandoning his plea of "liberty or daeth" Attorney William S. Stewart, chief-of-defense counsel, turned to the charge that Shepherd's actions at the time William McClintock was stricken with typhoid fever and during his illness constituted virtual admission of guilt, built up a hypothetical case and then tore it to shreds with a fine fire of ridicule.

SUSPECT HELD IN AUTO THEFT

Roy Coleman Charged With Stealing Homer Eynon's Car.

Charged with the larceny of an automobile belonging to Homer Eynon, Lisbon street, Roy Coleman, residing in the old Grand opera house building, East Sixth street, was held for grand jury action by Mayor Charles Brown, last night.

Coleman was arrested by Patrolman Herman Roth upon an affidavit signed by Eynon, following an investigation by Chief of Police McDermott and Roth. Eynon's car was stolen while it was parked near the D. E. McNicol pottery, Broadway, Tuesday evening.

Police say that Coleman took the automobile and, accompanied by two girls, was enroute to a dance at Mineral Springs park, back of Chester, when one of the tires was punctured. He is alleged to have abandoned the machine near old Laurel Hellow park in Newell, where it was recovered by its owner yesterday. He denied the charge, but, unable to furnish bond, was committed to the Lisbon jail.

Young Coleman was recently arrested, charged with the theft of the Buckeye Lumber company's truck, which was taken in charge by Parkersburg authorities after he is alleged to have attempted to drive across a road building job. He was indicted by the grand jury, but found not guilty when placed on trial.

Chieftain Takes Walk.

At the summer executive offices today the first mail pouch with official mail arrived from Washington and the routine got under full swing.

Everett Saunders, secretary to the president, has made no engagements for the president. One invitation to speak at a banquet was declined.

After breakfast today, President Coolidge, under lowering skies and within sound of a roaring surf kicked up by a strong east wind, took a short walk within the confines of the grounds of White Court.

KENNEBUNK, Me., June 25.—Braving a driving rain and with his famous underslung pipe going at full blast, Vice President Charles G. Dawes took a long walk along the beach here today.

Although he is less than 55 miles from the summer White House at Swampscott, Mass., and although he plans to motor to Boston tomorrow to visit Owen Young, collabrator in the Dawes reparations plans, the vice president does not plan to visit President Coolidge, it was learned.

except to give the representatives of both governments a clear idea of the plans and desires of the other. With the ground work for the negotiations thus established, the debt commissioners can get down to the discussion of terms and the Italian funding proposal can be considered.

In advance of the opening of formal negotiations, Ambassador Martino has declined to make public the terms which he will submit to the American debt commission, but they are understood to insist, above all, that Italy be accorded a moratorium at the beginning on the payment of principal so that the funding agreement will not be into actual operation for ten years or so after it is ratified.

BRUSSELS, June 25—The interalHed debts due the United States must be paid without further delay and the Dawes plan must be carried out. This was the frank notice served on the third congress of the international chamber of commerce today by John W. O'Leary, president of the American chamber of commerce.

O'Leary made it plain that the United States will not for a moment tolerate the open and covert attempts which have been persistent ever since the congress opened, to bring about not only cancellation of the inter-allied debts but repudiation of the Dawes plan as well, as a means to that end.

75 NABBED AS POLICE RAID

Detective and State Constabulary Visit Midland Club.

Approximately 75 men and women were arrested when County Detective Dan Baker of Beaver, assisted by five members of the Pennsylvania state constabulary and Justice Addison Courtney of West Bridgewater, raided the headquarters of the Colored club, Fourth street and Midland avenue, between 11 and 12 o'clock last night.

Most of the suspects, who were charged with loitering in a disorderly house, were released upon $10 bond. Officers of the club, charged with possessing liquor, operating a gambling house and a disorderly house, and others who were unable to give bond were taken to Beaver, where they were to be given hearings before Justice Courtney today. Those taken to Beaver numbered about 18.

The raiders seized a large quantity of moonshine liquor and a number of gambling devices.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 8

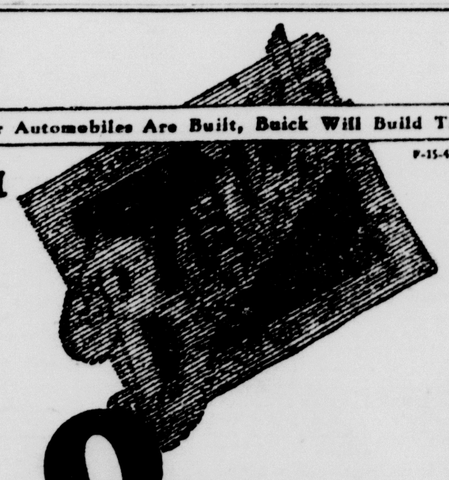

The Consumption of Tea

Tea as a beverage is used in nearly every country in the world. It is estimated over 200 billion cups are consumed annually. Australia leads in tea drinking with an annual per capita consumption of about nine pounds, which means that every Australian consumes from six to eight cups of tea every day. The consumption per capita in England is 8½ lbs., and in Canada nearly 5 lbs. In the United States, it is less than 1 lb., but this is largely because Americans have not been able to get fine teas until comparatively recently. "SALADA" is considered one of the choicest blends on the market, and is the largest selling tea in either United States or Canada.

A committee consisting of W. A. Weaver, R. S. Koehler and John W. Moore was named by President George E. Lewis to confer with the Salvation Army leaders and make a recommendation at next Thursday's meeting as to the part which the local club should play in the proposed campaign. It was suggested that the Salvation Army address an appeal to other service clubs and organizations so as to make the drive general.

The attendance prize, a box of candy furnished by Ross Tisher, was awarded O. O. Allison of Chester. Clarence C. Cline made a report of the ball game at Youngstown last week in which the local nine defeated the Youngstown Kiwanians, 14 to 3.

Harry Keyes suggested that the club should sponsor a uniform flag decoration for East Liverpool. He was advised that the American Legion was already engaged in such a campaign.

Short talks were made by Thompson Andrews, Charles Pilgrim and other members. About 50 attended the meeting. Chorus singing was led by Prof. H. F. Laughlin.

who went over to arouse sympathy for the north in our Civil war.

He was not well received as the bishop of Albany, perhaps because he carried with him a higher opinion of his own country and his own countrymen than the one taken over by the bishop.

In Liverpool, when Beecher spoke they threw eggs and hissed him. A man in the crowd shouted. "We thought you Yankees were such great fighters. How long is this war of yours going to last?"

Beecher replied "I can't answer your question. When we fought you Englishmen in 1776 it didn't last long. That was easy, but then we were only fighting Englishmen.

"But this time we are fighting Americans and there's no telling how long that may last."

The agricultural department shows that in 1924 the farmers averaged a profit of 21 cents a bushel on wheat and 26 cents a bushel on corn. Many lost money on every bushel, others made more than the average.

Farmers that raised potatoes on the average actually lost money, and would have been better off if they hadn't planted a potato.

A good wheat speculator, knowing that the prosperous class wanted La Follette badly beaten, and was sure to put up the price of wheat, could easily buy a million bushels of wheat early in the campaign and sell it at a profit of one million dollars.

It was a lucky farmer that could raise a few thousand bushels of wheat and sell it at a profit of one thousand dollars.

Patriotic citizens of Indiana contribute $12,5000 to preserve James Whitcomb Riley's "Ole Swimmin' Hole." That's worth while; sentiment is beautiful.

The government ought to spend a few thousand times $12,500 to fill up a lot of mosquitoes' old swimming holes, swamps and other breeding places of malaria.

Some of the money that President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon are going to save might well be spent wiping out disease, deserts and swamps on Uncle Sam's great farm.

Revolt Grips Greece

demand that Michalakopoulos must surrender his office.

Climax of Political Crisis.

The Greek government has been facing a political crisis for several weeks.

The political situation came to a head June 10 when General Kondylis resigned as minister of the interior. General Kondylis has a strong following in Greece, as had M. Michalakopoulos, who was premier until today. Kondylis, in resigning, pledged the support of his party to the Michalakopoulos regime, but dispatches today would indicate either that he began an offensive against Michalakopoulos or that he was not able to control his followers.

The resignation of Michalakopoulos followed an incipient revolution of Armenian and Greek refugees in Greece June 7. The refugee settlement committee had been building camps at Podarades, Byron and Kokkinca to care for Greeks and Armenians expelled by Turkey. The Near East relief, conducted under American auspices, has been feeding the refugees.

Pangalos New President

PARIS, June 25.—The Michalakopulos government was deposed and General Pangalos, leader of the revolutionists, was proclaimed the new president of the Greek republic, the newsapare L'Independent of Salonika announced today, according to advises to La Liberte.

The army and navy co-operated in overthrowing the government. The dispatch added.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Greek government 7 per cent bonds declined 2 points in the listed bond market today due to the revolution in Greece. They sold around 84.

Lieut. Lily Hughes Named Assistant To Adjutant Dean

Lieutenant Lily Hughes, daughter of Major and Mrs. Hughes, of the Akron Salvation Army staff, has been appointed to assist Adjutant and Mrs. John G. Dean, of the local Salvation Army barracks, it was announced today. She will be welcomed by the local organization on Sunday, July 5.

Mrs. Dean and her daughter, Gladys, have just returned from New York where the latter was commissioned as a lieutenant. More than 200 cadets received their commissions at these exercises which were held in the Carnegie Music hall on Monday evening. Lieutenant Dean has been appointed on the editorial staff of the national headquarters staff in New York and after a brief visit with her parents here will take up her new duties.

Miss Ruth Abrams, daughter of Adjutant and Mrs. J. H. Abrams of Cleveland, formerly of this city, has been commissioned and sent to Baltimore. Captain Percy Holden of this city, who also received a commission, was sent to the Training College staff in New York.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 25.—The best records in the stock market were made by the motor stocks, the Northwestern railroad stocks and a few of the specialties in the early trading today. Chicago and Northwestern, Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred led a spirited rally in the railroad stocks, which was also participated in by Wabash, St. Pauls, New York Central and New Haven. Industrial and specialty stocks continued the forward movement which was in progress at the close of yesterday's session, with tobacco stocks strong and a few of the oils making fractional advances.

The market assumed a confident tone from the start. Maxwell Motors opened a point higher and numerous industrial and specialty stocks advanced a point or more in the first period. Texas Gulf Sulphur reached a new high at 113 and American Can was more than a point higher. The "running in of the shorts" continued in the motor stocks as well as in industrial shares which reached higher levels on the last move.

Pierce Arrow, Hudson and General Motors lead the forward movement in the motor stocks, though Studebaker and Chandler were also in good demand and Willys Overland preferred sold nearly a point higher. An extra cash dividend is talked of for General Motors, the earnings of which are running far beyond present dividend requirements. Hupp and Houdson were bought on rumors of consolidation and purchase by some other powerful motor interests, probably General Motors.

Call money market was practically unchanged. The renewal rate was posted at 4½ per cent with funds in abundance at that rate. The cotton market was fairly steady, and grain prices fractionally lower.

STORK OUTRUNS GRIM REAPER

Fifty-one Births and 12 Deaths Here in May.

The stork outdistanced the grim reaper by more than four to one in East Liverpool during May, according to the report of Mrs. Alice M. Davidson, deputy registrar of vital statistics, submitted to the board of health at a meeting in the clinic rooms, in the Diamond, last evening.

Births during the month totaled 51, of which 24 were males and 27 females. Deaths numbered 12.

Seven cases of contagious diseases were reported. Of this number four were scarlet fever, two diphtheria and one of measles.

In the clinic, 21 new cases were admitted, while two old cases were returned. Male treatments given during the month numbered 120 and female 40.

A report on research, regarding milk can sterilization, especially during the summer months, was discussed. The following statement, urging the sterilization of milk cans by producers and dealers, was issued by Health Commissioner John A. Fraser today:

"With the advent of hot weather, the sterilization of milk cans is of utmost importance from the bacteriological and economic standpoints. This applies especially to the cans which are returned supposedly in a clean, sanitary condition to be refilled by the producer. Unless sterilized on the farm, cans, which have not been treated in a thorough manner by the dealer, will probably be the cause of his receiving very poor, if not extremely undesirable, milk in the shipment.

"Even if poor cans are washed and rinsed soon after being emptied, but are not sterilized, they will usually contain at least several million bacteria, especially if a number of utensils are washed and rinsed in the same water. In warm weather, these millions will be increased to billions in 24 to 48 hours, for in such cans plenty of moisture and food material for bacterial growth are usually present."

Minority

"Heretofore I favored elimination of all taxes on incomes up to $5,000, but my present purpose is to limit the exemption to incomes up to $3,000 and to impose a very low rate on earnings over that amount and up to $5,000. This would make the moderate wage-earner pay a small tax to his government and give him a direct interest in its management."

King believes that all excise and nuisance taxes should be repealed.

"Most of the excise taxes and the so-called nuisance taxes are purely war taxes," he declares. "As the war has been ended for seven years past it is full time to eliminate these taxes. They are an impediment to business, and I don't believe in taxing either business or business activity. We should encourage business by removing these discriminatory taxes."

Estate Tax Controversy.

Another important question before the coming congress, King believes, will be finding a solution to the estate tax controversy. He originally proposed a convention between the states and the federal government for the purpose of arranging an agreement for the allocation of estate taxes. Recently President Coolidge endorsed the idea.

"There is NO doubt that, with so many of the states levying a tax on estates and the federal government doing likewise, in some instances the aggregate tax is almost confiscatory," says King. "I believe a plan ought to be carried out by which the states and the federal government by appropriate convention shall provide for the levying of but one tax and for its collection by but one agency and then for its proper allocation between the states and the federal government."

King disagrees with but one of the administration's major tax proposals—that is, the plan to repeal income tax publicity. He is in favor of continuing the present publicity provisions, will fight for their retention and may even favor their extension.

American Golfers Triumph in Opening Round at Prestwick

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—Jim Barnes, of New York, went to the from among the early finishes on the first day of the British open golf championship today by turning in a card of 70-77-147 for 36 holes of play. Barnes' 70 in the morning broke course record at Prestwick, and in spite of the fact he cracked slighlty after the sixth hole in the afteroon, his total was sufficient to outdistance the field of early starters.

The final 36 holes will be played tomorrow.

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—American golf came triumphantly through the opening round of the British open championship today.

"Long Jim" Barnes, the lanky professional from Pelham, N. Y., led the field at the end of the morning round with a brilliant 70, which established a new record for the difficult Prestwick course.

"Barnes' feat today is one of the most remarkable in golfing history," said George Duncan, the British pro. "With the greens like lighting, as they are, and in this heat 76 represents perfect golf. Jm played six strokes better than perfect golf."

Kirby Jurors

in the sky with an electric sign on the top with the world, "Cleveland Discount Company," flashing through the night above it, was erected on Superior avenue.

"I want," Kirby was reported to have said, "to have those letters big enough so that they can be read in Cincinnati." Perhaps the sign could not be read in the Ohio river metropolis, but it was big enough to add something to the skyline of Superior avenue in Cleveland.

Name on Every Lip

Kirby's name was on almost every lip. His advice was sought and his views quoted on every side. He took the presidency of the Cleveland Yacht company, "to put it on its feet." The membership grew, and Kirby, out of his great energy, gave much to its upbuilding.

But his constant dream was of the discount company—his child. Mammoth building projects were evolved, a tremendous apartment development being financed in a Cleveland suburb. This when failure came was taken over by others and is now nearing completion.

The case was highly technical and the issues involved bookkeeping formulas and the language of high finance, making it difficult at times for the jury to follow the evidence presented.

Defense Blamed "Big Business."

This indictment grew out of a plan approved by directors of the company to retire the outstanding preferred stock of the company and to substitute for it common stock on the basis of two shares of common stock for each share of preferred turned it. At the time of the adoption of the plan, testimony showed that preferred was quoted at $70.00 per share, while the common stock had a market value of $36.50.

When the financial difficulties of the concern caused Kirby's retirement, the value of the company's securities dwindled. These difficulties, the state alleged, were due to the mismanagement of the concern by Kirby, while the defense contended they were caused by a decree of "big business" men here that "Kirby must get out."

The indictments against Kirby were returned after a special grand jury investigation of discount affairs had been ordered by Gov. A. V. Donahey. The investigation and prosecution were conducted by special prosecutors named by Attorney General C. C. Crabbe.

Kirby's Statement.

"This is the third time my case has been before a jury," Kirby said to press representatives. "Twelve jurors in California and in Cleveland have found me guiltless of any crime or misrepresentation. Counting this jury, 35 out of 36 have been for acquittal. Every effort is being made to see that stockholders get back 100 cents on the dollar. It is assured they will get at least 65. If this persecution will stop a great deal more can be accomplished for the stockholders."

Following the verdict, Kirby shook hands with each one of the 11 jurors. "We were all convinced of your innocence from the beginning," several declared.

Special prosecutors who handled the state's case refused to make any statement or verify a rumor that arose following the verdict that other charges pending in state courts would be nolled.

Shepherd Defense Turns Its Guns on "Indirect Confession"

CHICAGO, June 25.—The defense of William D. Shepherd today trained its guns on the state's theory of "indirect confession."

Abandoning his plea of "liberty or daeth" Attorney William S. Stewart, chief-of-defense counsel, turned to the charge that Shepherd's actions at the time William McClintock was stricken with typhoid fever and during his illness constituted virtual admission of guilt, built up a hypothetical case and then tore it to shreds with a fine fire of ridicule.

SUSPECT HELD IN AUTO THEFT

Roy Coleman Charged With Stealing Homer Eynon's Car.

Charged with the larceny of an automobile belonging to Homer Eynon, Lisbon street, Roy Coleman, residing in the old Grand opera house building, East Sixth street, was held for grand jury action by Mayor Charles Brown, last night.

Coleman was arrested by Patrolman Herman Roth upon an affidavit signed by Eynon, following an investigation by Chief of Police McDermott and Roth. Eynon's car was stolen while it was parked near the D. E. McNicol pottery, Broadway, Tuesday evening.

Police say that Coleman took the automobile and, accompanied by two girls, was enroute to a dance at Mineral Springs park, back of Chester, when one of the tires was punctured. He is alleged to have abandoned the machine near old Laurel Hollow park in Newell, where it was recovered by its owner yesterday. He denied the charge, but, unable to furnish bond, was committed to the Lisbon jail.

Young Coleman was recently arrested, charged with the theft of the Buckeye Lumber company's truck, which was taken in charge by Parkersburg authorities after he is alleged to have attempted to drive across a road building job. He was indicted by the grand jury, but found not guilty when placed on trial.

Chieftain Takes Walk.

At the summer executive offices today the first mail pouch with official mail arrived from Washington and the routine got under full swing.

Everett Saunders, secretary to the president, has made no engagements for the president. One invitation to speak at a banquet was declined.

After breakfast today, President Coolidge, under lowering skies and within sound of a roaring surf kicked up by a strong east wind, took a short walk within the confines of the grounds of White Court.

KENNEBUNK, Me., June 25.—Braving a driving rain and with his famous underslung pipe going at full blast, Vice President Charles G. Dawes took a long walk along the beach here today.

Although he is less than 55 miles from the summer White House at Swampscott, Mass., and although he plans to motor to Boston tomorrow to visit Owen Young, collabrator in the Dawes reparations plans, the vice president does not plan to visit President Coolidge, it was learned.

except to give the representatives of both governments a clear idea of the plans and desires of the other. With the ground work for the negotiations thus established, the debt commissioners can get down to the discussion of terms and the Italian funding proposal can be considered.

In advance of the opening of formal negotiations, Ambassador Martino has declined to make public the terms which he will submit to the American debt commission, but they are understood to insist, above all, that Italy be accorded a moratorium at the beginning on the payment of principal so that the funding agreement will not be into actual operation for ten years or so after it is ratified.

BRUSSELS, June 25—The interallied debts due the United States must be paid without further delay and the Dawes plan must be carried out. This was the frank notice served on the third congress of the international chamber of commerce today by John W. O'Leary, president of the American chamber of commerce.

O'Leary made it plain that the United States will not for a moment tolerate the open and covert attempts which have been persistent ever since the congress opened, to bring about not only cancellation of the inter-allied debts but repudiation of the Dawes plan as well, as a means to that end.

75 NABBED AS POLICE RAID

Detective and State Constabulary Visit Midland Club.

Approximately 75 men and women were arrested when County Detective Dan Baker of Beaver, assisted by five members of the Pennsylvania state constabulary and Justice Addison Courtney of West Bridgewater, raided the headquarters of the Colored club, Fourth street and Midland avenue, between 11 and 12 o'clock last night.

Most of the suspects, who were charged with loitering in a disorderly house, were released upon $10 bond. Officers of the club, charged with possessing liquor, operating a gambling house and a disorderly house, and others who were unable to give bond were taken to Beaver, where they were to be given hearings before Justice Courtney today. Those taken to Beaver numbered about 18.

The raiders seized a large quantity of moonshine liquor and a number of gambling devices.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 8

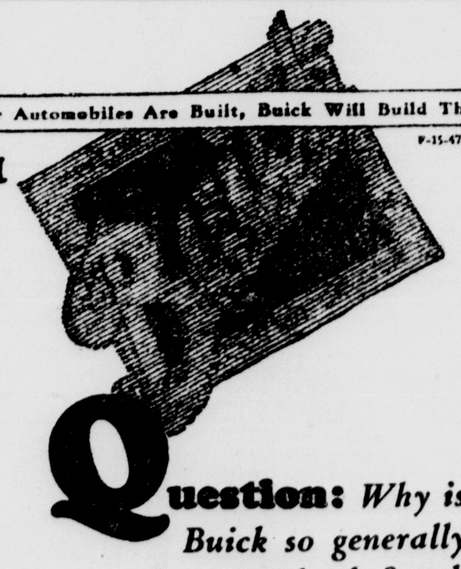

The Consumption of Tea

Tea as a beverage is used in nearly every country in the world. It is estimated over 200 billion cups are consumed annually. Australia leads in tea drinking with an annual per capita consumption of about nine pounds, which means that every Australian consumes from six to eight cups of tea every day. The consumption per capita in England is 8½ lbs., and in Canada nearly 5 lbs. In the United States, it is less than 1 lb., but this is largely because Americans have not been able to get fine teas until comparatively recently. "SALADA" is considered one of the choicest blends on the market, and is the largest selling tea in either United States or Canada.

Here's the Latest--Cod Liver Oil in Tasteless Tablets

Greatest Flesh Builder For Skinny, Weak, Run-Down People--Full of Vitamines

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamine food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of cough syrup.

Thin, run-down, anaemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. Carnahan's and Mathews' Medicine Stor or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only 60 cents for 60 tablets—and don't forget that they are wonder workers for feeble old folks.

Get McCoy's, the original and genuine, nad beware of imitations.

SOUTH HONORS COOLIDGE; COIN IS PRESENTED

Minted Half Dollars Commemorate Valor of Confederates.

INLAID IN GOLD

Letter From Stone Mountain Association President.

ATLANTA, Ga., June. —President Coolidge has been presented with the first coin minted by the United States government in its issue of Confederate half-dollars to commemorate the valor of the soldiers of the South during the Civil war.

Inlaid in a plate of Georgia gold and bearing a suitable inscription, the coin was presented to the President at the White House by Hollins N. Randolph, president of the Stone Mountain Memorial association.

The second, third and fourth coins minted, Mr. Randolph has announced, will be presented, in the order of their issuance, to Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury; Garrard B. Winston, Under-Secretary of State, and Robert J. Grant, Director of the Mint.

The fifth, sixth and seventh and eighth coins issued were presented to the heads of four Confederate organizations at the annual Confederate re-union held at Dallas, Texas, recently.

A letter to the President from Randolph, accompanying the presentation read as follows:

"Dear Mr. President:—

"On behalf and at the direction of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association, I have the honor to present to you the first coin issued from the Mint of the United States under an act of Congress passed by unanimous vote of the House and of the Senate, and approved by yourself on March 17, 1924, authorizing the mintage of five million silver half-dollars as a memorial to the valor of the soldiers of the South.

South Grateful.

"This coin was set apart especially for you, Mr. President, and inlaid in a plate of gold, upon which is engraved a message expressing in some small measure the grateful appreciation of the people of the South.

"We are proud that our fathers who strove for a principle, should now receive at the hands of the nation, by your gracious approval, this beautiful tribute of admiration.

"They accepted defeat without complaint and gave back allegiance to the Union with unreserved devotion. They communicated no bitterness to their children, but taught them respect for their adversaries on the field of battle, and inculcated in them love of country as a fundamental instinct.

Now One Nation.

"In the history of America there is no event more profound in its significance than this splendid enactment which forever binds together all sections of our country in perfect fellowship.

"The bravery and devotion of the men who wore the Blue and of the men who wore the Gray have now, in sixty years, become blended together in a heritage of glory which belongs to all Americans.

"In the metals melted to make this coin is symbolized the indissoluble fusion of a people, which, pray God, shall endure as long as Stone Mountain hands down to coming generations the story of the valor of Americans in arms.

"I bring you, Mr. President, the warmest greetings of the South, whose sons and daughters are well pleased that your name shall be linked inseparably with time's greatest monument."

Was Weak and Miserable. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Auger's Strength

Lowell, Massachusetts. — "I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the little books that you send around and I felt very good after I had taken a couple of bottles of it. I had been in the Hospital and felt pretty well at first but I went down to nothing. I was weak and had to lie in bed almost all day. I had dizzy and faint spells, pains in my back and lower parts and was so nervous I could not bear my children around. I hope the Vegetable Compound helps other women as it did me. I do all my own work now and feel so well. I have told my friends about it and my sister and my aunt."—Mrs. OLIVE AUGER, 19 Howard Street Lowell, Massachusetts.

Over 200,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

98 out of every 100 of the replies say, "Yes" and because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women it should help you.

Buy Your Studebaker—Now!

You may buy a Studebaker today—or on any day of the year—with the confident assurance that no act of ours will stigmatize it as a "last year's model"

STUDEBAKER has discontinued the custom of presenting a new line of automobiles each year. Instead of bringing Studebaker cars dramatically up-to-date once in twelve months, we shall keep them up-to-date all of the time—with every improvement made available by our great engineering and manufacturing resources.

Improvements and refinements, of course, will be made from time to time. New features will be added. As in the past, we shall continue to pioneer all vital betterments. But Studebaker will have no yearly models to make your July car obsolete in August.

A dramatic story

There is a dramatic story behind this new Studebaker policy that vitally concerns everyone who expects to buy an automobile this year.

Amazing records of Studebaker performance and endurance prove beyond question that the present line of Studebaker cars is so soundly engineered and manufactured and so satisfactory in the hands of owners that drastic annual changes are not required.

Authentic reports show that hundreds of Studebaker cars have given from 125,000 to 400,000 miles of sturdy, dependable service. One Studebaker Big Six, used as a mail car, traveled almost 500,000 miles in 5½ years, giving 24-hour round trip service between Bakersfield and Los Angeles, California.

Stupendous mileage! But the same stamina and rugged dependability is built into every Studebaker that leaves the factory.

A Studebaker taxi in Jewett City, Conn., has traveled 31,008 miles without even having the valves ground or the carbon removed.

In Stockton, Calif., a Studebaker Big Six has piled up 138,000 miles over steep mountain grades and rough country roads with negligible upkeep—not a single major part has been purchased or repaired by reason of wear or accident.

It is a significant fact that wherever travel conditions are most severe, Studebaker by far outsells its normal proportion of cars.

Bus Operators, Rent-a-Car Companies, Police and Fire Departments—all turn to Studebaker year after year for their transportation equipment, because they have found that it always yields scores of thousands of miles of reserve transportation, and has low upkeep costs.

At the mileage when other cars are breaking up—Studebaker cars are breaking in. It's the second and third fifteen thousand miles that prove Studebaker superiority. It's this reserve mileage—even though you may never use it—that greatly increases Studebaker resale value.

Stamina is in-built—inherent—a vital and indispensable part of the Studebaker formula for building fine motor cars.

Buy this "One Profit" car now

Remember—under this new Studebaker policy—there is no need to delay the purchase of your new automobile until annual changes have been made. Come in and see these sturdy, dependable, "one-profit" automobiles. Today Studebaker offers greater values than ever before. It is sound judgment to buy now.

Liquid fire to the bedbugs is what P. D. Q. is like, bedbugs stand as good a chance as a snowball in a justly famed heat resort. Patent spout free in every package of P. D. Q., to enable you to kill them and their eggs in the cracks. P. D. Q. can also be purchased in sealed bottles, double strength, liquid form. Sold by Mathews Med. Store, Herche's Drug Co., and John I. Hodson Drug Co.

Good soap helps stop heat rash

The finer the skin the finer the soap should be. Pure, mild soap that makes a rich lather in any water helps to keep the skin in condition because it cleanses quickly, gently and with the least rubbing. Soothes, rinses off readily and leaves the skin cool and comfortable with clear, free-working pores. So try the fine lather that wholesome, pure, creamy white Sweetheart makes. Wells Tackles Big Job In Today's Match With Zanesville Star

Meets J. W. Munro In Third Round Clash; Weber Is Defeated

Toledoan Goes Down Before Champion's Brilliant Playing in Second Round, 6 and 5; Local Golfer Three Under Even Fours for the 13 Holes Played.

AKRON, O., June 25.—The state amateur golf championship was narrowed down to eight players as the third round of match play started at Portage Country club today.

Among those who still have a chance at the title is Kenneth W. Wolcott, of Fairlawn club, Akron. Playing brilliantly, Wolcott yesterday took the measure of two opponents. He first beat Phil Ogden of Cleveland, and then Young Alfred Sargent of Columbus, the tournament medalist, by the score of 3 and 2.

As the result, the local golfer was paired in the third round this morning against H. Densmore Shute of Cleveland, in a match which will place one or the other in the semi-finals.

The feature match of the third round brought together Joe Wells of East Liverpool, present champion, and J. W. Munro, of Zanesville, two times wearer of the crown. They left the first tee shortly after 9 o'clock. After slipping badly in the qualification round, Wells pulled himself together yesterday and played like a real champion. In beating Harold Weber of Toledo, 6 and 5, in the second round he was three under even fours for the 13 holes played and displayed what appeared to observers to be the best form of any of those remaining in the championship hunt.

The two "seniors" of the championship flight were still in the race when play started today. Raleigh W. Lee of Cleveland, who denies he's over 50, but who owns up to 49 years, was paired against the youthful Eddie Hasmann, Cleveland ace. Chrysty Diebel of Youngstown, who is a year or two younger than Lee, was matched with Parker Campbell, another youngster from Toledo.

JOE KIRKWOOD HAS BAD ROUND

Hits 83 in Opening Match of British Open.

PRESTWICH, Scotland, June 25.—American hopes in the British open golf championship, which centre in MacDonald Smith, Joe Kirkwood, and Jim Barnes, received a slight setback early in the tournament today when Kirkwood, first of the invaders to start, turned in a woefully bad card of 83 for the first eighteen holes.

Kirkwood, the trick shot artist, was in continual trouble over the heavily-trapped Prestwick course. He was out in 42 and in 41, against a par of 72.

The weather was favorable, and a large gallery was gathered around the starting tee when the tournament began.
were active in the throng. The professional layers have made Mac Smith the favorite, quoting odds on his chances of 5 to 1. Next to Smith, the betting agents like the chances of Jim Barnes and Abe Mitchell. The odds on this pair were 10 to 1.

J. I. Cruickshanks, of Buenos Aires, was the first of the field og 83 golfers to start. He teed off at eight o'clock, and turned in a medicore card of 42-38-80.

Prestwick, Scotlands): . . ?"h———

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—Jim Barnes, one of America's chief hopes in the British open golf championship, sprang into the lead of the field today with a brilliant 70 for the difficult, heavily-trapped Prestwick course.

Playing with Sandy Herd, the veteran British pro, Barnes was out in a spectacular 34, one under par, and came home in 36, one under par. His 70 not only led the field among the morning starters, but set a new course record for Prestwick in championship play.

Barnes record-breaking card was:
Out ..... 435 433 543—34
In ..... 535 534 353—36—70

"Long Jim" played the first five holes in par figures, and then secured a birdie three on the sixth hole, 357 yards. He was one over par on the seventh, but secured another birdie three on the 435 yard ninth. He played the first three holes of the incoming nine in par figures, went one over par on the thirteenth, and then secured birdies threes on the 357-yard fourteenth and the 379-yard eighteenth.

Arthur Havers, who once beat out Walter Hagen by a single stroke for the title, had a round of 77.

Ted Ray also had 77, as did Abe Mitchell. George Duncan was two strokes worse at 79.

Near Semi-finals.

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 25.—While only double matches will be played at the Merion cricket club here today—the fourth day of the annual intercollegiate tennis meet, representatives from California, Texas and Pennsylvania universities who remained in the singles, by winning the fifth round yesterday, will rest until tomorrow afternon when the semi-final singles will be played.

Ty Cobb Is One of Highest Paid Players In Baseball

Reputed Salary of $60,000 Exceeds Even That of Babe Ruth.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Although the matter has been kept a profound secret for reasons not altogether clear, it developed today that Ty Cobb is either the highest paid man in all baseball or runs the individual in question a very neighborly second. Cobb, it seems, has a higher salary than George H. Ruth, Rogers Hornsby and Judge Landis, among others. On the very best of authority, Cobb is said to be paid $60,000 a season for managing and playing centerfield for the Detroit ball club.

Just why they saw fit to whisper about the thing these several years is not for the writer's inadequate comprehension. The Yankees megaphoned Ruth's contract as the largest in baseball and caught the vagrant eye thereby. Of course, they didn't want the publicity. It merely was forced upon them.

It had another affect, however, according to the writer's informant, it got Cobb his present salary.

"This fellow Ruth gets $52,000," Cobb is said to have told Frank H. Navin before he took over the Tigers. "Now you consider me the better ball player? You do? All right, then pay the better player for playing ball and managing the club at the same time."

Mr. Navin did.

Cobb's salary is only exceeded, on paper at least, by John McGraw's. John also owes his financial rating to the Ruth ballyhoo. At that time, the Giants and Yankees were engaged in a local war for patronage and publicity was as necessary as their coffee.

Deciding to go the Yanks one better, the Giants voted McGraw a yearly salary of $75,000.

VANDALIA RACE WON BY J. WOODS

Carrying the colors of the East Liverpool Homing club and racing against the pick of the Ohio Valley Combine of Pigeon Racers, two birds owned by John Woods, of East End, a member of the local club, finished first and second in the combine's 500 mile race from Vandalia, Ill.

Eight lofts including entries from Rochester, Pa., Follansbee, W. Va., and Steubenville and East Liverpool, failed to report.

This race, to the local pigeon fancier, is the derby of the flying world and the supreme test of his ability both as a breeder and trainer. Preparing birds for this race requires many months of careful training and patient observation on the part of the fancier.

Tagging The Bases

Some one has been feeding Brother Hornsby raw meat again. He socked Pirate pitchers for three homers during a double header, which saw the Card's batter Sheehan in the first and win, 11 to 3, while the Pirates won the second, 7 to 6, Adams outlasting Sherdell. Hornsby's home run total now reads 21.

The worm turns if you step on his elbow and yesterday the Yanks turned on the Senators. They battered Ogden for five runs in the seventh and won, 5 to 3, behind the natty pitching of Jones.

Betts confined the Braves to five hits and the Phillies strongarmed their way to their third straight decision, 10 to 1.

Greenfield stopped the Dodgers in the first game, 8 to 3. Osborne stopped the Giants in the Second, 9 to 1.

Another ninth inning rally gave the Athletics a victory over the Red Sox, 5 to 4, Gray winning his ninth straight without a defeat.

GUN CLUB SHOOT HERE SATURDAY

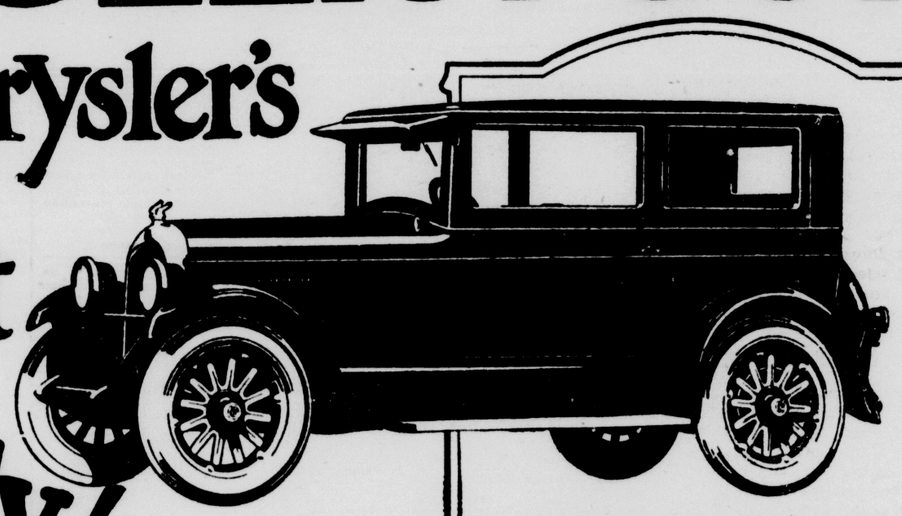

Secretary Miller, of the Columbiana County Fish and Game association, today announced that everything is set for the East Liverpool Gun club's practice shoot on Saturday afternoon.

Traps and other accessories have been lined up for the event which will be held at the club's grounds near the Country club.

The shoot is open for any one interested, Mr. Miller announced.

The New
CHRYSLER FOUR
Walter P. Chrysler's Latest Achievement
Now Ready!

Walter P. Chrysler's full conception of what a four-cylinder car should be has now become a reality.

Mr. Chrysler announces the new Chrysler Four, companion car to the Chrysler Six. It is here, ready for your inspection.

Whether you are a car owner or not, by all means see this new Chrysler creation. Ride in it. Get to know the latest Chrysler achievement which the master car builder identifies with his own name.

It will amaze you, for it is our firm conviction that the new Chrysler Four represents a better and finer combination of power, speed, fuel mileage and charm of appearance than any other four in the world today.

For four years Chrysler-created products have steadily advanced to the very fore-front of the four and six-cylinder fields.

Chrysler engineering, Chrysler manufacturing quality and Chrysler value eclipsed all previous production records for cars that might be considered comparable.

Every step of that irresistible advance was part of the process in preparation for the production of the new Chrysler Four answering the insistent public demand for another Chrysler.

The basis for the beauty of the new Chrysler Four is the dynamic symmetry which Chrysler engineers were first to translate into beautiful motor car design in the Chrysler Six.

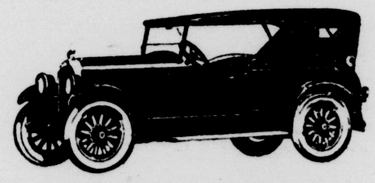

The wonderful riding qualities of the new Chrysler Four cannot be described. You must experience them to know what an advance has been made in the four-cylinder field. It is enough to say that a ride will amaze and delight you.

And when you ride you'll notice the absolute quietness of the four-cylinder engine, you'll find no rumble or tremors in the body of the car.

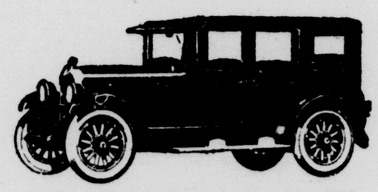

Here is a car you can truly drive all day without fatigue. It is hardly ever necessary to shift gears, except for starting from a dead stop. When shifting is necessary it is made clean and noiselessly by the matched transmission gears and easy clutch action.

There has never been the like of the new Chrysler Four at anywhere near its price. Be prepared for a great revelation.

Wells Tackles Big Job In Today's Match With Zanesville Star

Meets J. W. Munro In Third Round Clash; Weber Is Defeated

Toledoan Goes Down Before Champion's Brilliant Playing in Second Round, 6 and 5; Local Golfer Three Under Even Fours for the 13 Holes Played.

AKRON, O., June 25—The state amateur golf championship was narrowed down to eight players as the third round of match play started at Portage Country club today.

Among those who still have a chance at the title is Kenneth W. Wolcott, of Fairlawn club, Akron. Playing brilliantly, Wolcott yesterday took the measure of two opponents. He first beat Phil Ogden of Cleveland, and then Young Alfred Sargent of Columbus, the tournament medalist, by the score of 3 and 2.

As the result, the local golfer was paired in the third round this morning against H. Densmore Shute of Cleveland, in a match which will place one or the other in the semi-finals.

The feature match of the third round brought together Joe Wells of East Liverpool, present champion, and J. W. Munro, of Zanesville, two times wearer of the crown. They left the first tee shortly after 9 o'clock. After slipping badly in the qualification round, Wells pulled himself together yesterday and played like a real champion. In beating Harold Weber of Toledo, 6 and 5, in the second round he was three under even fours for the 13 holes played and displayed what appeared to observers to be the best form of any of those remaining in the championship hunt.

The two "seniors" of the championship flight were still in the race when play started today. Raleigh W. Lee of Cleveland, who denies he's over 50, but who owns up to 49 years, was paired against the youthful Eddie Hasmann, Cleveland ace. Chrysty Diebel of Youngstown, who is a year or two younger than Lee, was matched with Parker Campbell, another youngster from Toledo.

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—Jim Barnes, one of America's chief hopes in the British open golf championship, sprang into the lead of the field today with a brilliant 70 for the difficult, heavily-trapped Prestwick course.

Playing with Sandy Herd, the veteran British pro, Barnes was out in a spectacular 34, one under par, and came home in 36, one under par. His 70 not only led the field among the morning starters, but set a new course record for Prestwick in championship play.

Barnes record-breaking card was:

"Long Jim" played the first five holes in par figures, and then secured a birdie three on the sixth hole, 357 yards. He was one over par on the seventh, but secured another birdie three on the 435 yard ninth. He played the first three holes of the incoming nine in par figures, went one over par on the thirteenth, and then secured birdies threes on the 357-yard fourteenth and the 379-yard eighteenth.

Arthur Havers, who once beat out Walter Hagen by a single stroke for the title, had a round of 77.

Ted Ray also had 77, as did Abe Mitchell. George Duncan was two strokes worse at 79.

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 25.—While only double matches will be played at the Merion cricket club here today—the fourth day of the annual intercollegiate tennis meet, representatives from California, Texas and Pennsylvania universities who remained in the singles, by winning the fifth round yesterday, will rest until tomorrow afternon when the semi-final singles will be played.

Carrying the colors of the East Liverpool Homing club and racing against the pick of the Ohio Valley Combine of Pigeon Racers, two birds owned by John Woods, of East End, a member of the local club, finished first and second in the combine's 500 mile race from Vandalia, Ill.

Eight lofts including entries from Rochester, Pa., Follansbee, W. Va., and Steubenville and East Liverpool, failed to report.

This race, to the local pigeon fancier, is the derby of the flying world and the supreme test of his ability both as a breeder and trainer. Preparing birds for this race requires many months of careful training and patient observation on the part of the fancier.

Tagging The Bases

Some one has been feeding Brother Hornsby raw meat again. He socked Pirate pitchers for three homers during a double header, which saw the Card's batter Sheehan in the first and win, 11 to 3, while the Pirates won the second, 7 to 6, Adams outlasting Sherdell. Hornsby's home run total now reads 21.

The worm turns if you step on his elbow and yesterday the Yanks turned on the Senators. They battered Ogden for five runs in the seventh and won, 5 to 3, behind the natty pitching of Jones.

Betts confined the Braves to five hits and the Phillies strongarmed their way to their third straight decision, 10 to 1.

Greenfield stopped the Dodgers in the first game, 8 to 3. Osborne stopped the Giants in the Second, 9 to 1.

Another ninth inning rally gave the Athletics a victory over the Red Sox, 5 to 4, Gray winning his ninth straight without a defeat.

GUN CLUB SHOOT HERE SATURDAY

Secretary Miller, of the Columbiana County Fish and Game association, today announced that everything is set for the East Liverpool Gun club's practice shoot on Saturday afternoon.

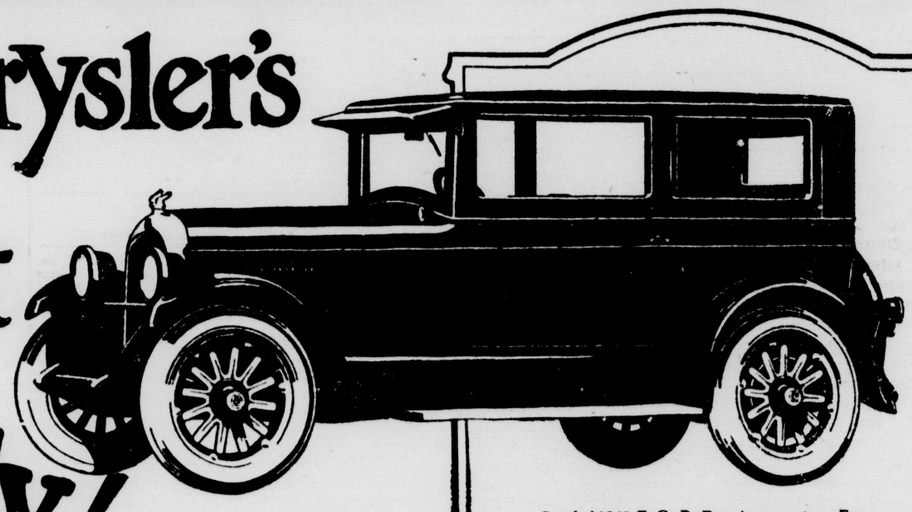

Traps and other accessories have been lined up for the event which will be held at the club's grounds near the Country club.

The shoot is open for any one interested, Mr. Miller announced.

The New
CHRYSLER FOUR

Walter P. Chrysler's Latest Achievement Now Ready!

Walter P. Chrysler's full conception of what a four-cylinder car should be has now become a reality.

Mr. Chrysler announces the new Chrysler Four, companion car to the Chrysler Six. It is here, ready for your inspection.

Whether you are a car owner or not, by all means see this new Chrysler creation. Ride in it. Get to know the latest Chrysler achievement which the master car builder identifies with his own name.

It will amaze you, for it is our firm conviction that the new Chrysler Four represents a better and finer combination of power, speed, fuel mileage and charm of appearance than any other four in the world today.

For four years Chrysler-created products have steadily advanced to the very fore-front of the four and six-cylinder fields.

Chrysler engineering, Chrysler manufacturing quality and Chrysler value eclipsed all previous production records for cars that might be considered comparable.

Every step of that irresistible advance was part of the process in preparation for the production of the new Chrysler Four answering the insistent public demand for another Chrysler.

$895 Touring Car F.O.B. Detroit, Tax Extra

The basis for the beauty of the new Chrysler Four is the dynamic symmetry which Chrysler engineers were first to translate into beautiful motor car design in the Chrysler Six.

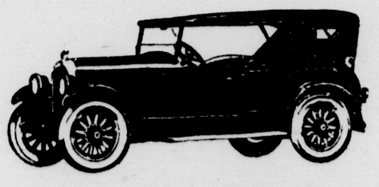

The wonderful riding qualities of the new Chrysler Four cannot be described. You must experience them to know what an advance has been made in the four-cylinder field. It is enough to say that a ride will amaze and delight you.

And when you ride you'll notice the absolute quietness of the four-cylinder engine, you'll find no rumble or tremors in the body of the car.

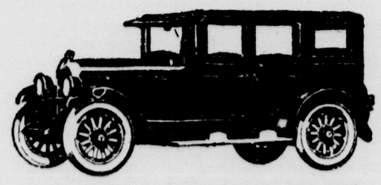

Here is a car you can truly drive all day without fatigue. It is hardly ever necessary to shift gears, except for starting from a dead stop. When shifting is necessary it is made clean and noiselessly by the matched transmission gears and easy clutch action.

There has never been the like of the new Chrysler Four at anywhere near its price. Be prepared for a great revelation.

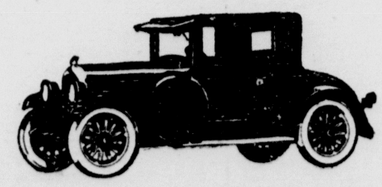

Coach $1045 F. O. B. Detroit, tax extra. Four-wheel hydraulic brakes optional. Body by Fisher.

Touring Car $895 F.O.B. Detroit, tax extra. Four-wheel hydraulic brakes optional.

Sedan $1095 F. O. B. Detroit, tax extra. Four-wheel hydraulic brakes optional. Body by Fisher.

Club Coupe $995 F. O. B. Detroit, tax extra. Four-wheel hydraulic brakes optional. Body by Fisher.

CHRYSLER FOUR

Far ahead in power, speed, fuel mileage, beauty; in safety, ease and complete and perfect roadability.

First car of its price with the option of hydraulic four-wheel brakes at slight extra cost.

Delivers 38.5 horse-power—83 per cent more power certainty and performance than its official rating.

Positive full force-feed lubrication, giving far more efficient lubrication with no increase in oil consumption.

Unusually sturdy, rugged frame.

Engine completely isolated from chassis with floating platform spring in front. Rubber bushings and pads in rear—no metal to metal contact.

Steering mechanism designed especially for balloon tires.

SUN SPOTS GIVE LINE ON WEATHER

Predictions Can Be Made Days Ahead, Says Savant.

Washington.—A new wonder of weather forecast which carries modern science, in a measure, back to the methods of the astrologists of old, was explained to the National Academy of Science by Dr. C. G. Abbot, head of the Astro-Physical observatory of the Smithsonian institution, and H. H. Clayton of Canton, Mass.

This latest of science makes it possible, it is claimed, for men accurately to foretell weather conditions from three to twenty-five days in advance by studying the sun. Experiments carried on for more than a year under the direction of the Smithsonian institution have enabled scientists to make accurate weather forecasts for New York city three days in advance and to predict temperatures with approximate exactness for periods of from 15 to 25 days ahead.

Outstrip Langley's Dreams.

These achievements far outstrip the dreams of the late Prof. Samuel P. Langley, one of the fathers of the flying machine, who, during his connection with the Smithsonian institution, urged the study of solar radiation as it "might lead to the possibility of the prediction of the good seasons and the bad." For years scientists have been studying sun spots which, it has been found, appear in great numbers in cycles of 11 years. These spots break the surface of the sun and a great deal more heat comes out—something like stirring up the coals in a furnace fire. When the spots are toward the earth, we receive the maximum heat.

The principal part of the Smithsonian achievement consisted of the invention of instruments for taking accurate measurements of solar radiation.

Two sun observatories were established, largely through the personal gift of John A. Roebling of New Jersey, at Montezuma, near Calama, Chile, and on Mount Harqua Hale, Ariz. At both places daily observations are made of sun spots and measurements taken of solar radiation. These are telegraphed daily to the Smithsonian institution.

Study Radiation Curves.

By studying the curves of the solar radiation, it has been found that they approximate with startling nearness the curves of temperature and barometric pressure over certain areas. In other instances, it has been found, the temperature and pressure curves travel inversely to the curves of solar radiation. It has been possible to divide the earth's surface into distinct zones in which these two opposing phenomena occur. Thus, when the heat from the sun increases the meteorologists know that certain sections of the globe will experience warmer weather while others will be visited by drops in temperature. Doctor Abbot expressed the belief that within the next few years all weather conditions will be forecast with accuracy up to 15 days ahead.

Dr. C. F. Marvin, chief of the weather bureau, announced that while the study of solar radiation is a valuable contribution to science, the weather service has not yet accepted the Smithsonian experiments as conclusive, and doubts whether they can be put to practical use in forecasting weather from day to day.

Facing Water Shortage.

CHILLICOTHE, June.—This city faces a serious water shortage. The supply in the reservoir is low and the health department announced it was polluted with typhoid. All water for domestic use is being boiled. Meanwhile, the water company is sinking another well in the hope that a reserve of several millions of gallons will be available soon as is the case under normal conditions. The drouth is blamed for the low stage of water.

British War Heroes' Graves Circle World

London.—A chain of monuments to the sacrifices made by British troops during the World war encircle the globe. The report of the imperial war graves commission says the beginning of the chain is in the graveyards on the channel shores of France and Belgium, extends in an almost unbroken line to the Vosges, continues in Switzerland and on through Italy to Macedonia, the Balkans, Gallipoli and Smyrna to Syria and Palestine to cross the Mount of Olives.

The chain breaks there into two sections, one passing through Egypt to East Africa and the other going eastward to Mesopotamia, India and China before crossing Australia and New Zealand on the way to Canada and Great Britain and Ireland.

India, Indo China and Siam are the principal rice exporting countries.

A bride was Cupid's graduation gift to Ensign John Murphy Scott, of this year's Annapolis class. She is Miss Ione Mooney, one of the national capital's most beautiful girls.

SUN SPOTS GIVE LINE ON WEATHER

Predictions Can Be Made Days Ahead, Says Savant.

Washington.—A new wonder of weather forecast which carries modern science, in a measure, back to the methods of the astrologists of old, was explained to the National Academy of Science by Dr. C. G. Abbot, head of the Astro-Physical observatory of the Smithsonian institution, and H. H. Clayton of Canton, Mass.

This latest of science makes it possible, it is claimed, for men accurately to foretell weather conditions from three to twenty-five days in advance by studying the sun. Experiments carried on for more than a year under the direction of the Smithsonian institution have enabled scientists to make accurate weather forecasts for New York city three days in advance and to predict temperatures with approximate exactness for periods of from 15 to 25 days ahead.

Outstrip Langley's Dreams.

These achievements far outstrip the dreams of the late Prof. Samuel P. Langley, one of the fathers of the flying machine, who, during his connection with the Smithsonian institution, urged the study of solar radiation as it "might lead to the possibility of the prediction of the good seasons and the bad." For years scientists have been studying sun spots which, it has been found, appear in great numbers in cycles of 11 years. These spots break the surface of the sun and a great deal more heat comes out—something like stirring up the coals in a furnace fire. When the spots are toward the earth, we receive the maximum heat.

The principal part of the Smithsonian achievement consisted of the invention of instruments for taking accurate measurements of solar radiation.

Two sun observatories were established, largely through the personal gift of John A. Roebling of New Jersey, at Montezuma, near Calama, Chile, and on Mount Harqua Hale, Ariz. At both places daily observations are made of sun spots and measurements taken of solar radiation. These are telegraphed daily to the Smithsonian institution.

Study Radiation Curves.

By studying the curves of the solar radiation, it has been found that they approximate with startling nearness the curves of temperature and barometric pressure over certain areas. In other instances, it has been found, the temperature and pressure curves travel inversely to the curves of solar radiation. It has been possible to divide the earth's surface into distinct zones in which these two opposing phenomena occur. Thus, when the heat from the sun increases the meteorologists know that certain sections of the globe will experience warmer weather while others will be visited by drops in temperature. Doctor Abbot expressed the belief that within the next few years all weather conditions will be forecast with accuracy up to 15 days ahead.

Dr. C. F. Marvin, chief of the weather bureau, announced that while the study of solar radiation is a valuable contribution to science, the weather service has not yet accepted the Smithsonian experiments as conclusive, and doubts whether they can be put to practical use in forecasting weather from day to day.

Facing Water Shortage.

CHILLICOTHE, June.—This city faces a serious water shortage. The supply in the reservoir is low and the health department announced it was polluted with typhoid. All water for domestic use is being boiled. Meanwhile, the water company is sinking another well in the hope that a reserve of several millions of gallons will be available soon as is the case under normal conditions. The drouth is blamed for the low stage of water.

British War Heroes' Graves Circle World

London.—A chain of monuments to the sacrifices made by British troops during the World war encircle the globe. The report of the imperial war graves commission says the beginning of the chain is in the graveyards on the channel shores of France and Belgium, extends in an almost unbroken line to the Vosges, continues in Switzerland and on through Italy to Macedonia, the Balkans, Gallipoli and Smyrna to Syria and Palestine to cross the Mount of Olives.

The chain breaks there into two sections, one passing through Egypt to East Africa and the other going eastward to Mesopotamia, India and China before crossing Australia and New Zealand on the way to Canada and Great Britain and Ireland.

India, Indo China and Siam are the principal rice exporting countries.

Betty Bronson Gets Feature Role in Ceramic Photoplay

She's a sage little girl, is blue-eyed, brown-haired Betty Bronson, with more wisdom in her thoughts than one usually finds in a seventeen-year-old girl.

Malcolm St. Clair, director, and Florence Vidor and Adolphe Menjou, co-featured with the heroine of "Peter Pan" in "Are Parents People?" were discussing incompatibility as it applies to married life. There was a reason, for in this Paramount picture they are married, and they are decidedly incompatible. Betty, who was sitting nearby on the set, overheard the conversation.

Without in the least intruding she gave her opinion.

"I believe that half of the responsibility in keeping a home happy depends upon the children," she said. "If a child is not quarrelsome, but maintains a serene, pleasant disposition when things go wrong, it is enough to make the parents ashamed of themselves when they nag each other."

"Out of the mouths of babes cometh wisdom," commented Menjou, and the discussion broke up.

"Are Parents People," the attraction at the Ceramic theatre tonight, was adapted for the screen by Frances Agnew from the Saturday Evening Post serial by Alice Duer Miller, author of "Manslaughter." The picture is a true-to-life domestic comedy. Others in the cast are Lawrence Gray, new Paramount "find;" Emily Fitzroy, Andre de Beranger, Mary Beth Milford and William Courtright.

TAKE any fruit you like—take the ripest, richest-flavored. Add Certo to the juice and your jams and jellies will always set. Certo supplies the natural element many of these fruits lack—the substance fruit must have to make it jell.

And you only need to boil your fruits one minute. Certo's short boil gives you lovelier, more delicious jams and jellies than ever—and one-half again as many glasses. Order Certo today; your grocer has it. Douglas-Pectin Corp., Granite Bldg., Rochester, N.Y.

Studio Lighting May Revolutionize Motion Picture Realm

Will modern studio lighting make Nita Naldis of elderly scrub women and Lillian Gishes of ten-ton girls? Harry Perry, the cameraman who photographed Tom Forman's production of "The Girl Who Came Back," showing at the Ceramic theater Friday and Saturday, is convinced some of his unusual methods in that it will.

Mr. Perry, who has revealed some of his unusual methods in the making of this picture, declares that the advancement in pictures during the coming year, may be expected through the newer methods of using powerful lights.

"The plain, flat lighting of other days, already has given way to an effort to model a figure, causing it to stand out from its background, and seem to give depth to the picture.

"In experimenting with such three-dimension photography, I was frequently annoyed by shadows and highlights throwing certain features of a player into relief, creating the illusion of distortion.

"Then it occurred to me to use the mistakes I had made. I tried, by arranging the lights on my characters, purposely to accentuate certain features of my players. One subject was a "heavy." By shading his eyes, I increased the scowl on his face, and he became more convincing in his part.

"Some day, perhaps, our players will arrive at the studios with storage batteries instead of make-up kits, and tungsten lamps instead of rice powder!"

"I believe that half of the responsibility in keeping a home happy depends upon the children," she said. "If a child is not quarrelsome, but maintains a serene, pleasant disposition when things go wrong, it is enough to make the parents ashamed of themselves when they nag each other."

"Out of the mouths of babes cometh wisdom," commented Menjou, and the discussion broke up.

Studio Lighting May Revolutionize Motion Picture Realm

Will modern studio lighting make Nita Naldis of elderly scrub women and Lillian Gishes of ten-ton girls? Harry Perry, the cameraman who photographed Tom Forman's production of "The Girl Who Came Back," showing at the Ceramic theater Friday and Saturday, is convinced some of his unusual methods in that it will.

Mr. Perry, who has revealed some of his unusual methods in the making of this picture, declares that the advancement in pictures during the coming year, may be expected through the newer methods of using powerful lights.

"The plain, flat lighting of other days, already has given way to an effort to model a figure, causing it to stand out from its background, and seem to give depth to the picture.

"In experimenting with such three-dimension photography, I was frequently annoyed by shadows and highlights throwing certain features of a player into relief, creating the illusion of distortion.

"Then it occurred to me to use the mistakes I had made. I tried, by arranging the lights on my characters, purposely to accentuate certain features of my players. One subject was a "heavy." By shading his eyes, I increased the scowl on his face, and he became more convincing in his part.

"Some day, perhaps, our players will arrive at the studios with storage batteries instead of make-up kits, and tungsten lamps instead of rice powder!"

MAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN RIVER

TODAY

Coolidge on the Radio.
Two Kinds of Preachers.
The Farmer's Share.
Old Swimming Holes.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune).

No man can guess what power to speak well over the radio may mean in years to come.

Last Monday night bridge parties laid down their cards, women on farms stopped the late cleaning up of dishes, their husbands came in from evening chores, tens of millions listened to the President's clear, incisive matter of fact voice, discussing in plain fashion the importance of national economics and laying down, to the satisfaction of every bearer, the simple truth that the people's money belongs to the people, that they ought to be allowed to spend as much of their own money as possible, and have as little as possible taken away from them by the government.

Thus President Coolidge now talks direct to the people of the United States. It was an innovation when Woodrow Wilson, so perfectly dressed, drove to the capital and talked direct to senators, representatives, the supreme court and others.

"Wonderful audience,' the world said.

But, it was no audience at all compared to the vast multitude that heard President Coolidge talk direct to the people of the United States.

For the first time in the history of this country it is possible to say of a President that all the people have heard his voice and know him.

Seven words in the thirty-seventh verse of the twelfth chapter of St. Mark stand out in the minds of millions:

"And the common people heard him gladly."

Great and ever growing is the power of those to whose voices the people listen gladly, as to one whom they know.

A man in public office, with something to say and with "the air" the opportunity to be heard by all at his command, can build for himself a place in the people's confidence and affection that cannot be taken away from him. His words go to the people, no intermediary.

President Coolidge, as millions can testify, speaks with no effort, keeping his gigantic audience from their bridge whist, or their chores, as few minutes as possible.

Bishop Oldham of Albany, invited to speak at Westminster abbey and perhaps a little flustrated by the honor, and various things that he will think over when he gets back. He apologized for the United States. He regretted that this country had not done its duty by Europe, flattered the British unctuously, and said "multitudes of people in America were terribly disappointed—to put it midly—at the inactivity of the American government.'

That's one kind of an American clergyman talking to the English. Another kind was Henry Ward Beecher,

KIRBY JURORS DISCHARGED AS WOMAN BLOCKS HIS ACQUITTAL

Disagreement Reported in Cleveland Discount Case.

However, Accused Must Face Trial at Delaware.

CLEVELAND, June 25.—Unable to reach an agreement after two days spent in the discussion and weighing of the evidence, the jury of six men and six women, determining the fate of Josiah Kirby, former president of the Cleveland Discount company, charged with larceny of 42 shares of preferred stock of the company from George L. Fix, of Cleveland, reported their disagreement to Judge Fred H. Wolf, of Wauseon, at 12:00 o'clock today and were discharged.

One juror, a woman, held out for conviction, according to Foreman Edmund Diehl. "It was a case of plain bullheadedness," Foreman Diehl declared to newspapermen and Kirby. We all thought the facts were plain from the start but Miss Holcamp, the dissenting juror, held out from the start,' Diehl said.

Next Trial on July 13.

The verdict returned probably writes "finis' upon the efforts of the state to hold Kirby responsible for the troubles of the $30,000,000 concern which he organized in 1918, saw grow until it was second in assets among companies of its kind in the United States, and then watched its assets dwindle before the state courts stepped in in 1923 and appointed receivers for it.

However, it does not mark the end of Kirby's court troubles. He is scheduled to go on trial at Delaware, July 13, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses, the state probe having extended there following his acquittal last April in court here. An indictment charging the use of the mails to defraud was returned by a federal grand jury, but the trial date has not yet been set. Kirby previously had been acquitted in the courts of California on a charge of violating the "blue sky" laws of that commonwealth, in connection with the sale of stock of the company.

Kirby's Rise and Fall.

The story of Kirby's rise and fall reads as though it might have been taken direct from the Arabian Nights. Arriving in Cleveland from Cincinnati, where he had failed in business in 1914, Kirby with $3.75 as his sole capital started in business. Several times creditors sold out his office furniture to satisfy claims from that failure, but Kirby persisted, and in 1918 had accumulated sufficient capital and interested other men in the organization of the discount company.

The company grew rapidly. A mammoth office building, towering high

The discovry was made by Ernest Stitt, RussellWright and Charles Snyder, member of a camping party on Babb's Islandas they were crossing the river in askiff. The body was floating in the water, face upwards, about 20 feet fim the Ohio shore line.

Although polic advanced the theory of suicide, Corder J. M. Van Fossan, of East Palestie, returned an "accidental death by drowning" verdict at 10.30 o'clock this morning.

According o members of his family, Tice had been despondent over some unknown cause days prior to his disappearance. He had not worked since last Friday.

Donning his hat and coat, at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, Tice kissed his mother, Mrs. Sara Leighhue, 86, with whom he lived, and left the house, remarking that "you will never see me alive again," according to a statement made by a nember of the family. She gave no attention to the threat until he faibd to return. Friends and relatives searched for him on Tuesday and ate Wednesday. When no trace of hin was found, the police were asked b assist in the search.

Victim's Face Bruised.

The three campers who found the body, called the fire department. Fire Chief Bryan responded, and with a hook and rope pulled the body to shore. Tice's face was badly bruised, the result, it is believed, of rolling along the river bottom or possibly being struck by a passing river steamer.

The body was removed to the Sturgis funeral home in West Fifth street.

Tice was unmarried. In addition to his mother, he is survived by two brothers, Andrew, of Irondale, and Anazira, of New Cumberland, W. Va., and one sister, Mrs. Mary Skinner, New Matamoras.

SHANGHAI, China, June 25.— The American government was called upon by Americans in China today to take an active hand in suppressing disorder growing out of the general strike of Chinese against foreigners.

At the same time, the Chinese government stationed troops at the meeting place where Chinese were to stage a monster anti foreign demonstration this afternoon, and announced its determination to halt the demonstration.

Further walkouts at Hongkong have paralyzed shipping there.

American interference in China was urged in a cablegram transmitted today to the United States department of the American Association of China.

"The United States should energetically cooperate with other powers and adopt the strongest attitude in order to suppress the present state of lawlessness directed against foreigners," the cablegram recited.

"The situation is, in our opinion, due primarily to long existing political conditions and aggravated by Soviet propaganda."

Shanghai is Guarded.

The association urged that China be held "strictly responsible for all losses of life, property and business. The absolute observance of existing treaties is essential until modified through strictly orderly processes provided by the Washington conference."

The Chinese government was reported to have forbidden a repetition of attacks on Shameen, the foreign settlement at Canton.

COOLIDGE MAY SPEND SUMMER REST IN WORK

President at Loss What to do With Spare Time.

VACATION BEGINS

Golf, Tennis, Swimming, etc., do Not Appeal to Him.

SWAMPSCOTT, Mass., June 25.—President Coolidge, somewhat lacking in true vacation complex, was casting about today for some means of diversion to fill the hours that in Washington have been spent at work.

Comfortably settled in his elaborate summer White House here, and duly thankful for the prevailing cool weather, the president frankly is at a loss as to exactly how he will amuse himself over a two months' period.

Golf, tennis, swimming, boating and all other usual forms of receration do not especially appeal to Mr. Coolidge and he is asking his friends just what he will do with his newly found spare time.

For the present, of course, he plans to relax and enjoy a complete rest. But he anticipates a continued rest may pall as the summer progresses.

Mayflower Is Available.

The Mayflower is anchored off Marblehead for such cruises as he desires to take and the White House limousines are in the White Court garage should he prefer a motor trip. But cruising and motor riding also will pall if taken in overdoses.

Those attached to the presidential entourgae are predicting he will find the solution to his problem in work.

Attaches are speculating as to just how long it will be before President Coolidge decides to spend two hours daily at the temporary executive offices at Lynn, where he can work amid the usual bustle of clerks and

Mrs. Wheeler died a few hours later.

The grand jury will meet again next month at which time Prosecutor Hart expects to submit evidence on which he will seek a murder indictment against Durin.

WELLS WINNER IN PLAY OFF

Golf Champ Defeats Jack Munro at 20th Hole.

AKRON, June 25.—J. M. Wells, state amateur golf champion, defeated Jack Munro, Zanesville, on the twentieth hole of their match at the Portage Country club this afternoon after a thrilling battle that was a toss-up from start to finish.

As a result of his victory Wells will play Christy Deibel, of Youngstown, in the semi-final match of the lower bracket this afternoon.

AKRON, June 25.—All even at the end of their 18-hole journey around the Portage Country club course, J. M. Wells, of East Liverpool, defending his state amateur golf title, and Jack Munro, of Zanesville, twice king of the Buckeye state amateurs, were battling it out on the play-off this afternoon for the right to enter the semi-finals of the Ohio tournament.

Wells went out in 37 and back in the same number of strokes. Munro covered the same distance in 36 out and 38 in.

The pair immediately started a play-off, and proceeded to halve the nineteenth hole. The match was to continue until either Wells or Munro emerged victor.

Christy Deibel, of Youngstown, went into the semi-finals by defeating Porter Campbell, of Toledo, 2 and 1.

In the play-off, after an 18-hole tie, Eddie Hasmann, the Cleveland boy star, beat the veteran Raleigh Lee, of Columbus, one up, on the twentieth hole with an eagle three.

In the upper bracket, Kenneth Wolcott, of Akron, defeated Densmore Shute, the crack Cleveland golfer, 3 and 2, and will also enter the semi-finals, to be played this afternoon.

Wolcott went around in par. He covered the first nine holes in 36, one above par, but lowered his total score by shooting under par for seven of the last nine holes.

The semi-finalists in the upper bracket will be Eddie Hasmann and Kenneth Wolcott.

In the lower half, Christy Dieble will clash with the winner of the Wells-Munro match.

MINORITY LIBERALS WILL SEEK DOUBLE TAX CUT ASKED BY ADMINISTRATION, SAYS UTAH DEMOCRAT

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Congress stands almost unanimous in its announced intent to enact the principal features of the old Mellon plan—the reduction of surtaxes. The Progressives, the Republican regulars, the conservative Democrats and now even the Democratic liberals have endorsed this proposal. The minority liberals, however, would go further and their viewpoint is revealed by Senator King (D., of Utah,) in the following article.)

BY WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—"A lean treasury means real economy in the government."

With this slogan Senator William H. King, (D. of Utah), leader of liberal Democrats, will propose a minority tax bill in the coming congress slashing $700,000,000 from the annual tax burden of the American people.

Known as one of the "watchdogs of the treasury,' King will offer his plan as a substitute for the $300,000,000 tentative tax cut proposed by the Administration. His action will be prompted by the alarming fact that the American people now are paying a total of $10,000,000,000 (billions) a year in the form of taxes, or an amount equal to 17 per cent of the total gross earnings of every man, woman and child in America.

"I will offer a bill doubling the proposed reductions recommended by the Administration,' says King. "I believe that if you reduce taxes you not only give the people immediate relief but you prevent the government engaging in spendthrift spending. A lean treasury means real economy in the government, while a full treasury is an open invitation to treasury raiders."

Would Slash Surtax.

The outstanding features of King's bill will be provisions to reduce the maximum surtax rate to 20 per cent —less than that proposed in the Mellon plan—to increase exemptions to $3,000, lower the rates on small incomes, and wipe out all excise and nuisance taxes.

"I believe congress should do everything in its power to help relieve the American people from their enormous burden of taxation," says King. "I personally want to see all unnecessary taxes wiped out entirely and all others reduced to the absolute minimum. In fact I shou'd rather see an empty treasury or even a deficit in the government funds than another surplus.

"History teaches us that the full treasury invites raids from the wolves who live upon the public purse. When the treasury is bare the government will practice real economy."

King would start his tax-cutting ball rolling from the top of the tax schedules to the bottom. In the field of surtaxes, affecting the rich, he would propose a slash to 20 per cent or even less. This is "out-Melloning Mellon."

"I believe 20 per cent, or even lower, is the proper maximum rate for surtaxes," he says. "I am willing to give business a chance to demonstrate the theory that lower taxes means more revenue to the government and that lower surtaxes means prompt development and expansion of American industry. I don't care how great a reducton is made in surtaxes so long as the rich are made to pay their fair share of the tax burden."

Favors $3,000 Exemption.

For the moderate wage-earner King will offer a flat exemption of $3,000. He opposes the plan to enact a $5,000 exemption on the ground that the poor people want to pay some federal tax.

"I don't believe in the total exemption of poor people," says King. "I believe they ought to pay a little direct tax to the government to increase their interest in public affairs. I have received hundreds of letters from people with limited means, saying they desired to pay a small tax to show their interest in the government.

MAN TOO EFFEMINATE, HIS PLACE AT HOME, SAYS NOTED NOVELIST

LONDON, June.—The home is man's place, not woman's, for man is becoming more and more effeminite every day.

Thus spake Rebecca West, novelist and future writer.

Miss West engaged in a debate with Alfred Duff-Cooper, M. P., husband of Lady Duff-Cooper and sometimes irreverently referred to as "Mr. Lady Diana Manners." The subject of the debate was, "Is Woman's Place in the Home?" with Mr. Duff-Cooper taking the affirmative in his best and most serious House of Commons manner and Miss West taking the negative in a most light-hearted manner.

"Look at the baggy trousers men are wearing," declaimed Miss West. 'I know it is feminine to wear a skirt, but I never came across a woman so effeminate as to want to wear two skirts, which is what the new trousers are. . . .

"Man wants to go back to the home, and we should not oppose him. The ideal person to take on the job of looking after the world is the woman who has brought up her family. . . .

"Woman's job is looking after men and children. . . .

"Prohibition in America was entirely the work of men. The industrialists do not want their workmen to drink liquor. It was entirely a parental gesture . . .

"Men mostly admire Napoleon . . . the world's most colossal failure. . ."

Mr. Duff-Cooper responded to these shafts as follows:

"The uses of women are—

"To look after the nursery.

"To look after the kitchen—the human race would not continue unless it were fed two or three times a day.

"To look after the drawing-room—the tired toiler requires the quiet pleasures of the home, otherwise he would be driven to the night club, where it is impossible to dance because of the crowd, impossible to eat because of the food and impossible to talk because of the noise."

No decision was given on this verbal battle, but the popular newspaper decision went to Miss West—a knockout by words, the audience said.

KRUPPS NOW MAKING ARTIFICIAL TEETH

Scientific Instruments Have Replaced Gun Products.

Essen, Germany.—Quantity production three years ago of battleship turrets and rapid-fire guns was a feature of the work here of the firm of Friedrich Krupp, once the symbol throughout the world of armament manufacture; today this organization is making artificial teeth and surgical instruments.

Swords, or their more hideous modern successors, the "Big Bertha" cannon, have literally been beaten into plowshares. The Krupps now turn out agricultural machinery, railway engines, automobile trucks, merchant ships, steel bridges, and a thousand and one smaller things.

Artificial teeth and surgical instruments are but two of the many minor articles manufactured in what was once the most formidable armament plant in the world.

Use Same Staff.

A striking feature of the transformation is the fact that the change has come about without change of technical engineers or skilled workers.

In fact, one reason for turning into such activities as watch and clock making, moving picture manufacturing, and the construction of delicate mechanisms for optical and microscopical instruments, was the consideration that a large staff of skilled workers and engineers used to be engaged in perfecting the delicate mechanisms of rapid-firing guns and the like.

These men, after the war, were compelled to turn from inventing and constructing engines of death to devising machinery for the advancement of civilization. Thus new types of turbine engines are being evolved, Diesel motors are being improved upon, better processes of making steel are being experimented with.

A word as to the magnitude of the Krupp plant at Essen: The area covered by the various buildings is almost 300 acres. The private railway which connects the various sections with each other travels nearly five miles from one end of the plant to the other.

The largest of the buildings, that devoted to locomotive construction, covers an area of 800,000 square feet and has a frontage of 1,640 feet. The The four hydraulic presses for compressing blocks of steel exert a pressure of 4,000 tons each. Some of the smelters employed for bringing high-grade steel to the melting point, have a capacity up to 90 tons each.

The plant is equipped to employ 115,000 men. That was the figure reached during the peak of war-time production, and applies to Essen alone. If one adds other plants, at Kiel and the Ruhr valley, the Krupps can furnish employment to 180,000 men.

Only 28,000 Now Working.

As a matter of fact, however, only 28,000 workers are now on the pay roll. The Krupps are going through the same readjustments which great numbers of American firms had to face when the war was over. Before the war they were doing a thriving business with 36,000 men employed. If they can get back to the pre-war footing, they will probably consider themselves lucky.

The impression made by the Krupp works today is a rather desolate one. Only in the department devoted to the construction of agricultural machinery does the place seem really busy. The railway locomotive construction department, for instance, is equipped to turn out one locomotive each working day, or about 300 a year.

At present it has orders for only 20 German locomotives, and a small number of wood-burning engines, intended for Brazil. Ship construction is at a low ebb, as the world generally is overstocked with ships.

England's Giant Steel Airship to Carry 100

London.—England's giant airship, the R-101, which is to ply between this country and India, is to be constructed of stainless steel, and is to have two separate decks and accommodations for 100 passengers.

Passengers and crew on the R-101 may smoke pipes, cigars or cigarettes during voyages, as the engines will not use gasoline as fuel, but a heavy gas oil instead, and by this system virtually all danger of fire while in the air will be eliminated. The sleeping quarters will consist of two-bed cabins, similar to steamship berths.

According to the present plans of the builders, who are working in conjunction with the air ministry, the keel of the ship will be laid down in July. The R-101 is to be 720 feet in length and 140 feet in diameter, and is expected to begin flights in 1926.

Woman Butcher

Berlin.—The first woman in Berlin to pass the examination required for journeymen butchers secured a grade of "excellent" from the Master Butchers' association. She is Margareta Cohn, daughter of a local meat market owner. The examination consisted of skinning, carving and quartering a heifer.

Jazz Wall Paper Passe

London.—All the jazz arrangements in wall paper are rapidly being shuffled into discard, declared Prof. Henry G. Dowling, speaking recently before the Royal Society of Arts on the history of wall paper as a decoration of the home.

Conscience Stricken

Clarksburg, W. Va.—City Manager A. G. Otis has received a two-dollar bill and a letter from E. L. Oliver at Kenmore, Ohio. The letter states that several years ago the writer was the cause of breaking of street lamps here and has recently been conscience stricken.

British Cross-Word Now Task for Savants

Oxford, England.—The cross-word puzzle craze reached its zenith last month and is now on the wane, according to Oxford librarians. In Oxford, as elsewhere, it more than doubled the sales of dictionaries, and the demands made upon reference libraries were so great that one librarian threatened to shut up shop altogether.

The explanation given for the failure of popular interest is that the later puzzles have become so difficult, through the increased experience of their creators, that no ordinary mortal can conveniently solve them.

Men who during the war had little difficulty in deciphering the secret and confidential codes of both the enemy and the allies have organized "pools of intellect" and settled down seriously to the solution of all possible cross-words.

American Apples Make Hit With Europeans

Berlin.—American apples are given first choice by the retail consumers of Europe, according to the Berlin bureau of the United States Department of Commerce, which has investigated the subject.

Fruit dealers declare that American apples taste better, have more character and can be kept longer than any other kind on the market.

Sugar beets planted in Scotland have given satisfactory results, and it is likely, in view of the subsidy granted by the government, that a factory will be built.

The mayor of Torquay, England, has decorated a fox-terrier who tore burning cotton wool from the bandaged leg of his injured master, saving his life.

MAY INCREASE SAFETY FUNDS

"Fifty-fifty" Split Suggested in Order to Meet Payroll.

A "fifty-fifty" split between the safety and general funds, instead of the arrangement in existence now, may be considered by city council within the near future as a means of increasing the funds from which safety department employes receive their salaries.

Under present methods, the safety department retains one-third of the fines collected, and two-thirds go to the general fund to assist in meeting other municipal obligations.

Up until several months ago, the safety department kept all revenue derived from fines and various other collections, such as licenses. Treasuries of other departments, however, were so depleted that it was considered necessary to transfer part of the safety funds to the depleted departments.

Since that time, City Auditor Fred Eckfeld has been kept busy devising ways and means of paying police and firemen. Enough was raked up to meet the payroll on June 15, and an advance from the August tax settlement will probably be obtained to issue pay checks for the last half of the month.

In order to give the safety department a better chance to meet its bills, new legislation doing away with the one-third safety fund and two-thirds general fund arrangement is being considered by city officials, it is said, and may be acted on in the near future.

Visitor, Maddened by Gaze, Wrecks Art Work

Geneva.—Driven mad by the mesmerizing gaze of "Mme. Eynard-Lullin," an Eighteenth century painting by the artist Horace Vernet of the French school, that hangs in the Musee at Geneva, an unknown man has caused irreparable damage to the canvas by piercing the eyes with some sharp instrument in an attempt to disfigure it.

The picture, before the attack, had attracted the comment of thousands who yearly visited the gallery—one of the most celebrated in Europe, outside of Paris and London. It was a striking piece of work in black and white contrasts. In catching the expression, the artist glimpsed behind his subject, bringing out what was in the mind, through the medium of the eyes.

While the authorities of the Musee have made no charges, they are practically sure of the identity of the person who disfigured the picture. He is a person of high social standing, and has returned to the chamber where the canvas is hung on various occasions—drawn by an irresistible lure. Except when under the spell of "Mme. Eynard-Lullin's" eyes, he is said to be a perfectly normal person.

The first Diesel motored, electrically driven sidewheel ferryboat in America will ply the Ohio river between Jeffersonville, Ind., and Louisville, Ky.

EAST LIVERPOOL — AMERICA'S POTTERY CENTER

THURSDAY, JUNE 25, 1925.

Chinese Nationality

The Chinese situation seems to be assuming the form of a labor boycott. This is the most notable thing about it.

Cases of violence and outrage are sporadic, and perhaps exceptional when the extent and populousness of the country are considered. Foreigners are frightened, which is natural, and foreign women and children are leaving the country. Perhaps that is wise. Yet the opposition now shown to foreigners does not suggest the famous Boxer revolt. This is mainly a movement of passive resistance to alien domination.

It is primarily economic. It is also political. And trying to look at the situation dispassionately, an American will probably conclude that it is patriotic.

The remarkable feature of this uprising is that it seems to show the Chinese at last in the process of developing a national spirit. That is something they have not had for thousands of years.

A fiery nationalism in that vast, teeming country might be disastrous for the world. A sturdy, self-respecting spirit of nationality, showing itself in unity and co-operation for the preservation of Chinese liberties and hostile only to foreign aggression, would be something that honest white nations should neither fear nor oppose.

American Life As It Is

A distinguished British lord warns the English-speaking union not to form its judgment of the United States from American movie films. The reason is obvious. And the warning applies everywhere.

"What does the Finnish peasant, the Algerian water-carrier, the Singapore coolie think of America?" asks the New York World. "To him it is the land of gorgeous mansions, butlers, expensively jeweled women and champagne parties, desperadoes blazing away over faro tables, human flies climbing skyscrapers, automobiles jumping over walls, vampires, posses disappearing in dust, detectives and pie-fights."

Nations are usually misunderstood by other nations, it is admitted, but never has there been such a mighty power of misrepresentation as exists in the American film. It goes everywhere, and perhaps a billion foreigners take it as a fairly accurate representation of American life. Yet every sane American knows how false it is.

It would be immensely better for this country, and better for the rest of the world, too, if exported films gave a less weird picture of our land and people. But what is to be done about it? The films are made primarily for home use, and the sort of stuff produced is what the home market seems to want. There cannot very well be separate plays produced for the home market and foreign market.

Apparently the only remedy is the development of American taste for dramatic sanity and reality rather than the unusual and grotesque. And the creation of good taste in artistic matters among the masses who support filmdom is slow work. Yet it can be done. The newspapers prosper by presenting life as it is.

Polar Transportation

Amundsen didn't reach the North Pole. Technically, therefore, his flight was a failure. But he is not heartbroken because he had to turn back when only 160 miles from his goal. And he should not be. For essentially Amundsen triumphed.

He did the big thing—proved that it is quite feasible to fly to the pole in an airplane. But for the head winds, that used up more of his gasoline than he had expected, he would have arrived there. It was only a question of a few more gallons of "gas." He could have covered those additional miles by the simple process of letting his engine continue to run instead of shutting it off. Then, arrived at the top of the world, if no safe alighting place showed he could have circled around and flown back to his starting point.

The calculations were sound, all except the amount of fuel needed. The motor worked perfectly. The plane proved its dependability.

What has been done once can be done again, perhaps more easily. The criticism made so often in the last decade, that Arctic explorers should use airplanes instead of ships and sledges, is no longer needed. Soon flying to the pole, whether for scientific observation or for sport, will be a common performance.

Traveling Light

Unless a stern director limits beforehand just what is permitted as luggage, the average person on his first camping trip usually overloads. He carries more clothes and accessories than he needs or uses. The experienced camper travels light, but has all the essentials.

The person who must stick to his job through the favorite vacation months often overloads himself with food and clothing and activities far beyond summer essentials. Simplification and elimination should be his watchwords quite as much as they are of camper and traveler.

Very important in the enjoyment of summer is the sloughing off of fussiness and worries and the adoption of an attitude of whole-hearted co-operation with the weather. If it is fine, appreciate it, get out into it, enjoy it. Traveling light requires planning and forethought, but it pays well in comfort and enjoyment.

It's worth while to go away just to discover that you're well off at home.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 25.—There is a certain high chaired shoe shine parlor near Longacre square that is a clearing house for frothy gossip of Broadway. Reporters often drop in there on trail of the latest bit of scandal.

Its history goes back to the days when Abe Hummel was what the Tenderloin knows as "a swell mouthpiece." The brilliant little lawyer was a daily patron. Wilson Mizner, George Bronson Howard and Wally McCutcheon exchanged repartee around the late afternoon breakfast hour.

The place today fairly crackles with the savor of the Broadway trinity—dice, gin and pleasure. It has seen Life pass by in the gilt coach and the Potterfield wagon. Actors pipe their glories to the tune of the polishing rag. Tin horn sports air their daily conquests and chorus girls fire their barrage of wise cracks.

You hear sly insinuations, half in jest, about this one and that. A great producer has fallen for a little pony with a baby lisp. A famous playwright vanishes in Chinatown and comes back shaking with a dry tongue and mighty thirst. The "black smoke."

A star fumbled her lines. The answer? Her address is now a jag cure. A leading man got his black eye in a cafe. The other woman saw him. This is the reputation killing gossip that swings lightly from chair to chair. So Queen Medea slew her children to slow music.

Broadway always gives a hoot with the huzzah for its great. It is the street where nothing lasts—its cafes as well as its reputations. Yet nowhere is a greater kindness shown the fallen. In all its history there is no record of starvation.

On every block are men and women who are able to live pleasantly on Broadway's bounty, although they have not worked for years. They dress well, eat the best and have spending money.

There is the story they relate of "Diamond Jim" Brady, who drank deep of Broadway's pleasures. He was standing in front of a hotel canopy one evening waiting for a cab. A lady tossed him an engaging smile. He called her to him and inquired why one so young and good looking should barter her soul. She intimated lightly that ladies must live. He gave her $25 and exacted a promise that she would meet him every week at the same hour and place where he was standing and he would give her the same amount until she found work. She came for nine weeks. No questions were asked and then she vanished. Five years later he heard from her. She owned a prosperous millinery business in the middle west.

George M. Cohan—although he modestly denies it—has a list of people who through no fault of their own have gone down in life's battle. Each one receives a check weekly.

In the Orchard street pushcart market babble is a man who educated two sons—one for dentistry and the other for surgery. He is proud of their success, but is so afraid of hurting their business that he does not go near their offices. He telephones them often for the sheer joy of hearing their voices. The sons are a decent sort and have often tried to get their father to give up his vocation. He refuses but now and then he has them meet at one of their homes and "bootlegs" a visit.

The son of well to do parents is making more than $50 a week in an unusual way. He failed to get a job after graduation. So he has a list of typewriter owners upon whom he calls every two weeks to examine their machines and put them in repair if necessary. He charges a fixed amount for each customer.

PLAN "COTTAGE" WOMAN PRISON

New Federal Penitentiary Provides for 500 Convicts.

Washington.—A departure in federal government methods in handling prisoners will take place with the completion of the federal industrial institution for women at Aldersan, W. Va.

Congress has appropriated $909,100 for the prison, and government architects are now preparing preliminary plans for a cottage system, under which prisoners will live in communities.

A farm of 200 acres already has been obtained, and negotiations are under way for an additional 300 acres.

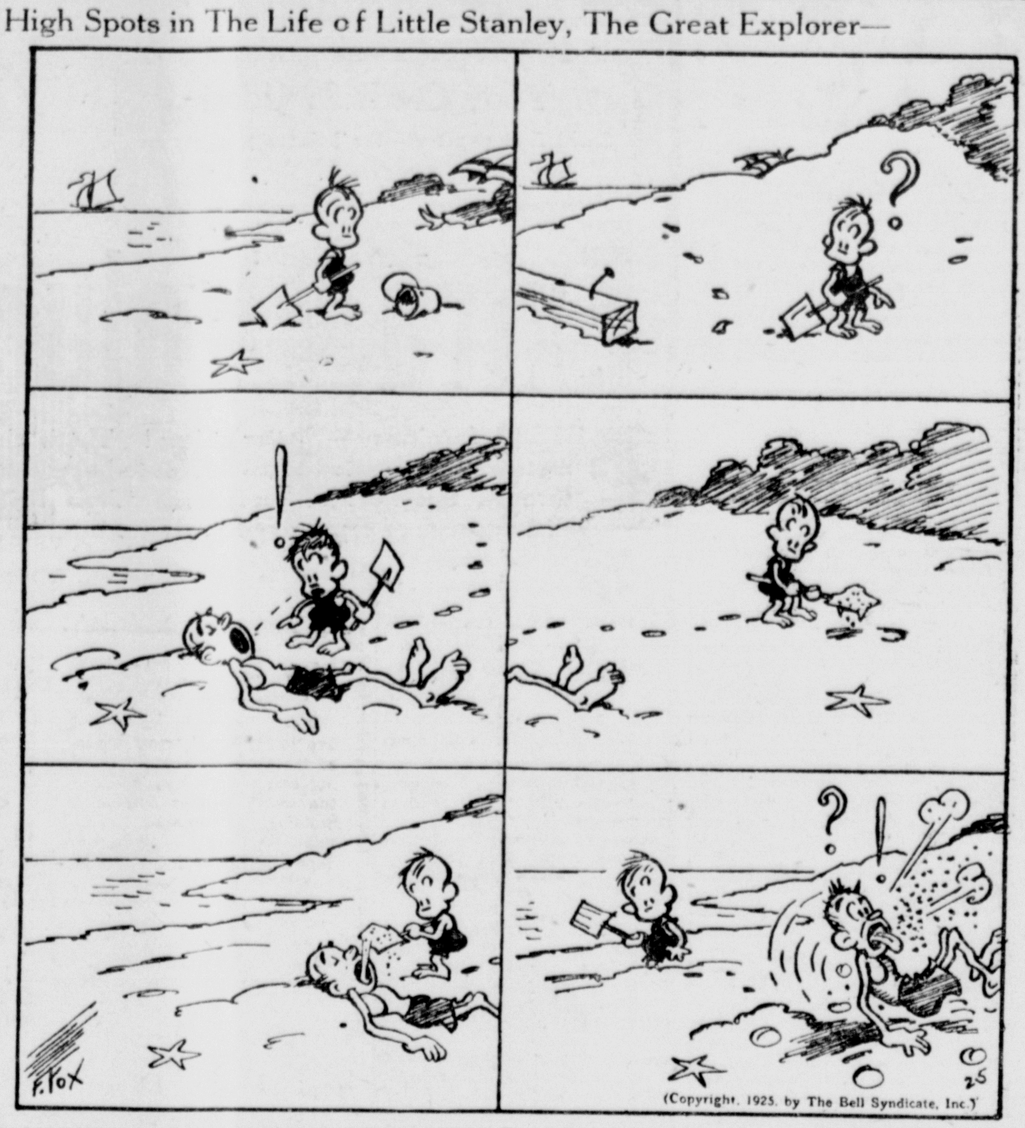

The capacity of the women's federal penitentiary, the first of its kind in the country, will be 500.

Federal women prisoners are now being sent to state jails, and department of justice officials say the government is finding it increasingly difficult to get the states to take prisoners.

Dr. Mary B. Harris, who will head the new institution, is the daughter of Dr. John Howard Harris, president emeritus of Bucknell university. She is a graduate of the University of Chicago. After several years spent in teaching and foreign travel, she became superintendent of women at the workhouse on Blackwell's Island, N. Y. Later, she was made superintendent of the New Jersey state reformatory for women in February, 1918.

During the war, Dr. Harris served as assistant director in the section of reformatories and detention houses in the law enforcement division of the camp activities, continuing in this capacity until April, 1919. She then assumed the superintendency of the state home for girls of New Jersey, which she held until January, 1925, when she became field executive secretary of the International Association of Policewomen.

High Spots in The Life of Little Stanley, The Great Explorer—

HASKIN'S LETTER

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Uncle Sam, the Printer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25.—To say that the government printing office is the largest printing plant in the world is not nearly so convincing as to state that if all the postal cards printed here in a year could be stacked the pile would be 200 miles high. If placed end to end they would extend around the world nearly five times. This great plant represents an expenditure of more than $10,000,000 for construction and equipment, and its annual output, based on actual cost of production, amounts to about $11,00,000.

The size of such an establishment can be suggested only by reeling off amazing figures. Try to imagine what it means for a print shop to turn out 92,000,000 income-tax forms in 30 days. This $350,000 job required 1,172,159 pounds of paper cut into 8,775,692 sheets.

All of the government departments are steady customers of the government printing office. The Post Office department's yearly printing bill includes about 200,00,000 money-order applications, 60,000,000 special delivery slips, 10,000,000 change of address cards and other items in proportion. The number of money orders required by the way, is considered one of the surest barometers of trade conditions. When the demand for money-order blanks rises, it shows that business is prospering.

The War department called on the Public Printer to deliver 10,000,000 copies of reports and documents for the Army in one year. The department of Agriculture had more than 32,000,000 publications printed, so that the results of its research on such subjects as cows, babies, alfalfa, jelly making, model kitchens, and fox-fur farming might be communicated to the far corners of the United States. The inventive genius of the country keeps the Printing Office busy turning out specifications. Patents, trade-marks, and designs are granted by the Patent Office at the rate of at least 1,000 a week. Providing copies of these to be sold by the Patent Office keeps 50 linotype machines running eight hours a day throughout the year.

Congress makes heavier demands upon the Government Printing Office than does any other branch of the government. Its annual printing bill amounts to about $2,000,000. The Congressional Record and the printing of hearings, committee reports, and bills cover the major portion of this amount. During a single year the government supplied congress with more than a million copies of octavo publications, about 500 copies each of more than 12,000 bills and resolutions and numerous other pieces of printing in proportion.

Sam's Daily Paper.

The big congressional job is the Congressional Record, so familiar to the American public. The Record in its present form goes back to March 5, 1873. Prior to that, the congressional debates were printed under the title of the Congressional Globe, beginning in 1937.

In 1873 the Record had 300 subscribers. Now 83,000 copies are printed each day while congress is in session. This government daily may appear as an eight-page publication one day and have 200 pages the next, all depending upon the copiousness of congressional oratory the day before. Copy for the Record begins to reach the government printers at about 7 o'clock in the evening, and the first edition is delivered at the homes of Representatives and Senators in Washington at 5 o'clock the next morning. When a half holiday makes real speed desirable, the Printing can set a 64-page edition of the Record and have it stereotyped, printed, wrapped for out of town mailing, and delivered to the post office in four hours.

The most remarkable story of rapid work performed in the Government Printing Office is in connection with the Conference on Limitation of Armament held in Washington in the winter of 1921-22. To print the deliberations of this conference, 910 pages were set in 20 hours, which meant a page of type every minute and a quarter. Within 40 hours of the receipts of the manuscript, bound copies of this great volume were in the hands of the president of congress. Twenty-three automatic presses were used. The feat elicited general praise and it was said at the time that no other printing plant could have duplicated the performance.

No job is too exacting or too formidable for the Government Printing Office. The War of Rebellion Records, published in 128 volumes, and requiring a 1200-page index, will perhaps remain for generations the worlds greatest undertaking in the printing line. These records contain more than a hundred thousand pages of printed matter and the whole edition comprises about a million and a half volumes.

The national printing plant has to meet the needs of the executive departments for any quantity of printed matter whether a simple announcement printed on a single small sheet or a highly scientific work in any number of volumes. All languages and dialects may be represented. The Department of Labor may have an immigration notice printed in seven languages, and the requirements of the Library of Congress have to be met by printing in about 56 languages and dialects.

To handle the varied and exacting orders of the government, elaborate equipment is necessary. Everywhere in the big, eight-story plant are wonderful devices and machines that seem to act with almost human intelligence. The largest battery of type-setting machines to be found in any printing office is here. There are 99 linotype machines, 100 monotype keyboards, and 126 monotype casting machines. The pressrooms, in which vast editions are produced, are equipped with large, rotary web presses, feeding from a roll of paper, printing both sides at once, and folding the sheets in book size, ready for binding. There are ingenious automatic presses which print in two colors, perforate, and number the printed sheets, all in one operation.

Sam Can Print Anything.

The fully furnished job room, one of the largest in the country, is capable of printing anything from the smallest card to the largest poster. The bindery too is large and important, with an equipment of the best machinery known to the art. An interesting section of the bindery is devoted to cloth-bound books, and has stamping presses which stamp the covers in gold, ink, or gilt. Case-making machines glue the cloth, attach the binders' boards, put on the back lining, and deliver the completed covers at the rate of about 1,200,000 a year. A beautiful process in book-making is the marbeling of book edges done in a variety of attractive combinations by "combing" or mixing of colors. Then there is gold-leaf work, in which pure 22-carat gold is applied by hand.

There is one publication which is intimately related to the Government Printing Office and peculiarly its own. This is the well-known Style Manual, without which the work of typesetting, proof reading, and revising would be difficult, expensive, and confusing. The Style Manual is the chart by which the office steers. With thousands of manuscripts of all kinds coming into the office, hundreds of men putting them into type, other hundreds reading and revising the proofs, it is evident that some guide in the matter of "style"—that is, capitalization, punctuation, spelling, and kindred matters—is very necessary.

Until recently, the Government Printing Office style book was not universally accepted by government officials as final authority. There were any number of officials and congressmen, each of whom regarded his copy as exceptional and wanted it printed according to his taste. Requests of this sort led to expense and trouble. Take the example of one Representative who had been a schoolmaster. When his speeches were set up to be printed, and the proofs were returned to him for correction, he would go through the pages inserting numerous punctuation marks totally unnecessary to clearness. A comma indicated a slight rhetorical pause. A semicolon showed that here the speaker paused longer for rhetorical effect. A period or dash indicated breathless suspense. This rhetorical punctuation was once widely used in printing speeches. It is now a defunct practice, and not one person in a thousand would understand the reason for so many commas and dashes. The government printers, nevertheless, had to reset nearly half of this man's speeches because of the extra punctuation.

YOUR HEALTH

Let Digestion Rest If Brain Has a Big Job on Tap

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A FAMOUS trial lawyer addressed the students of a great law school. He gave them a lot of sound advice about the art of winning court cases. It struck me as wise counsel.

DR COPELAND

I was impressed with what the lawyer said of the effect of a trial upon his own health, stating that the conduct of a trial was to him like a medicine. He found that when he was really ill, "a difficult case made a new man" of him and he was able to dismiss his physician.

I don't doubt this in the least. In my own life I have gone through a strenuous season, working day and night, and have actually gained weight. Some persons appear to thrive on hard work. Why? Because the excitement of a great content stimulates the heart and clears the brain. It gives the same effect as a horseback ride or a voluntary walk in the face of a gale.

Why do you exercise? To make the heart and lungs and skin work harder and, in consequence, purify the system.

Mental agility will accomplish the same things. The heart goes at great speed, the breathing is deep and hurried, the skin is active. From mental exercise you get many of the same effects which physical exercise gives.

But it is not because of these things I am telling you about this advice. I wanted to hear what the great lawyer said about the midday meal. Here it is:

"Try to go along without much eating during the recess of a trial. You will be in better shape if you don't handicap yourself by a hearty meal. You owe your client your best working mind."

That is splendid advice. It is good advice for everybody. It matters not what your business or calling.

If you are a teacher, a barber, a manicurist, a clerk, a bookkeeper, a stenographer, a farmer, a milliner, a linotype operator, a printer, a painter, a banker—it makes no difference what you are, you cannot do your best during the afternoon if you overfill your stomach with food at midday.

To have the brain do its best work and to have the muscles do their best, the blood must be distributed fairly uniformly throughout the body. This cannot be the case if the stomach is loaded and a quantity of blood is sent to the abdomen to perform the necessary work of digestion.

The popular idea is that we will get faint and weak without food. This is founded on the notion that the body gets the immediate effects of the food eaten. This is not the case. It takes hours, three or four hours, to complete digestion. The food you take at mid-day begins its nourishing effects about the time you sit down to your night meal.

It is good advice the lawyer gave. But let it not be confined to lawyers and law students. It is advice which every one of us will do well to follow.

Answers to Health Questions

D. B. Q.—What causes canker sores in the mouth?

A.—This may be due to an acid condition of the stomach. For full particulars send stamped, self-addressed envelope and repeat your question.

G. B. Q.—How can I determine whether I have a broken rib?

A.—I suggest that you have an X-ray taken. This will show up any trouble.

A READER. Q.—What can I do to get rid of blackheads and pimples?

A.—Correct your diet and overcome any tendency to constipation. For full particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

M. W. A. G. Q.—My husband's tongue has been badly coated for about eight months. Will you kindly explain the reason?

A.—This condition may be due to improper diet and faulty intestinal elimination. This should be corrected. For further particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and restate your question.

H. H. K. Q.—Does one ever fully recover from a nervous breakdown?

A.—Yes. With proper care, such as building up your general system with a good, nourishing diet, including milk, cream, fresh eggs, plenty of green vegetables, etc. Plenty of water to drink between meals. Exercise freely in the fresh air. Sleep as many hours a possible in a well-ventilated room. A change of scenery or environment often proves helpful.

• • •

W. W. Q.—What is the cause of cold sweats at night while sleeping?

2.—How old must a child be before the adenoids and tonsils can be removed?

A.—This may be due to too heavy bed clothing, lowered resistance, or to some intestinal disturbance. Try to improve your general health and see whether you do not notice benefit.

2.—This would depend to a great extent upon the existing conditions. It is better to wait until about the third or fourth year if possible, but if necessary it may be done at a much earlier age. The physician should be the judge of the proper time.

Frog Almost Prevents Publication of Paper

West Chester, Pa.—A frog only five inches long almost prevented the publication of a daily paper here when it wandered into the water main supplying the building and impeded the flow, finally cutting it off entirely, depriving the entire building of water for several hours.

Finally the meter was removed and the frog was found wedged in so tightly that not a drop of water came through. When it was removed the flow started as usual.

Steps Taken to Effect Better School Lighting

New York.—The National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, seeking the protection of school children from eye-strain, is undertaking to acquaint every schoolteacher in the United States with the principles of correct lighting. To this end it will send to the superintendent of schools in every state, county and city having a school population of 25,000 or more a communication based on the code of lighting school buildings prepared by experts, and approved as the American standard.

The committee says its studies indicate that 12 per cent of American school children have defective vision.

facts about

Child-birth

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering, pain and dread experienced during expectancy, as well as at child-birth is entirely unnecessary.

An eminent physician, Dr. J. H. Holmes, expert in this science, first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend," which aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, during the constant readjustment, month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth.

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally. Three generations of expectant mothers have used it. "Pains disappeared in two days after using 'Mother's Friend,'" writes a user. "I owe my life to 'Mother's Friend,'" declared another. Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did, start today and experience the wonderful comfort it will give you.

"I AM A MASSEUSE, AND HAVE used Dr. Folts' Soap for several fat people with very good results."—Mrs. Turvill, Chicago.

Reduce your ankles and legs with DR FOLTS soap

.....Dr. Folts soap is the up-to-date way to reduce arms, legs, hips, double chin.

Why should you turn to diets, exercise or drugs—now that a positive and ABSOLUTELY HARMLESS EXTERNAL way to melt excess fat from any part of the body without affecting other parts, is offered to you? To quickly get ideal slender lines all you need to do is to wash every night from five to ten minutes the parts you wish to reduce, with a good lather of DR. FOLTS' SOAP (but be sure to get the original reducing soap—DR. FOLTS'. Avoid imitations, "so-called just as good"). Dr. Folts' Soap, the original reducing soap, has for the last two years proven that it could really reduce fat people.

This soap, as soon as applied, is absorbed by the tissues, and suppresses excessive fat without any possible chance of harming the most delicate skin. It has been found ideal to get rid of double chins, because the skin is not left flabby or wrinkled after the reducing. Fat men and women are now using this wonderful soap with amazing results. Reductions of several inches in hips and bust are of common occurrence every day. Try it yourself. Go to any good drug or department store, get DR. FOLTS' SOAP (beware of imitations). If your druggist is out of it, he can get it for you from his wholesaler, or you can send a check or money order direct to the Scientific Research Laboratories, 350 W. 31st St., N. Y. C. DR. FOLTS' SOAP sells for 50 c. a cake, three for $1.20.

GIRL RELATES CRUELTY STORY

Moundsville Man Accused of Brutality by Stepdaughter.

CLEVELAND, June 25.—Driven from her home by the cruelty of her stepfather, and his insistence that she wed a man many years her senior, according to the story she told later at central police station, Dorothy Ryman, 18, of Moundsville, W. Va., was found wandering on the streets of Cleveland yesterday. She spent the night in the matron's quarters.

Dorothy told the matron she left Moundsville for Cleveland where she has an aunt living, when her stepfather's cruelty became unendurable. However, she lost her aunt's address. Police today were seeking the woman and if they find her will turn Dorothy over to her care.

"My father died eight years ago," Dorothy said. "My mother married again the next year. My stepfather, John Mesavage, was cruel to me. He didn't beat me, but he made me work like two men every day. I even had to plow the fields without shoes.

"Only once a month would he permit me to don my shoes and go to church. But it wasn't only the work. He tried to make me marry a man of 45, and I didn't like him. Mother gave me a little money and so I came to Cleveland.

"The police have been so nice to me," she explained. "And I'll never, never go back home as long as my stepfather's there."

DELINQUENT LIST LAW IS CHANGED

Sheriff J. Alfred Tope has received a letter form State Auditor John C. Bond calling his attention ot a new law relating to the delinquent list. His letter reads as follows:

"Under the provisions of Section 21, Chapter 20 of the code, you are required to make up certain delinquent tax lists while Section 23 of said chapter provides that such lists be posted at the front door of the court house at least two weeks before the session of the county court at which they are presented for examination, and that the personal property delinquent lists shall be published in two newspapers of opposite politics.

"The legislature of 1925 amended Section 23 so as to provide that both the delinquent personal property list and the delinquent land list shall be so published. This new law will become effective July 24. Usually these delinquent lists are presented to the county court at the levy term of said court on the fourth Tuesday in August. It would, therefore, appear that under the new law if you have not presented your list to the county court by July 24 you should have published both the delinquent personal property and the delinquent land lists.

"Some sheriffs have taken the view that they cannot accept taxes after they have made up the delinquent lists provided by Section 21. This is in error as the attorney general has ruled that sheriffs must continue to accept taxes until the delinquent lists are approved by the county court as provided by Section 24. After such lists are approved by the county court it is unlawful for the sheriff to accept further taxes and the same can only be paid at this office."

MOTHER ENTERS COLLEGE TO PAY FOR EDUCATION FOR TWO SONS

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — Six women, past the two-score-year mark, are enrolled, full-fledged undergraduates at Syracuse University.

They are Mrs. Grace S. Parker, Miss E. C. Pfaff, Miss Mary R. Coffin, Miss Sophie Hatton, Miss A. V. Taylor and Miss Maude Toby.

"I came to college so I could send my sons of college," Mrs. Parker exclaimed today. "That may sound rather funny, but, you see, with just another year of preparation I could get a much better position teaching than with the education I had."

Mrs. Parker added that she had left the university before finishing her course in order to get married.

"Yes," she said. "When you are young, and in love, nothing else seems to matter. I lacked a year's work for my degree, but a degree appeared of little significance then. Now that I am a widow and have two sons to educate, I find a degree would be of great value."

Miss Pfaff is another of the women who returned to complete her education so that she might secure a better position. Miss Pfaff obtained her A. B. from Bryn Mawr some time ago, but she wished to have further training and a degree in art.

He forfeited his rights to American citizenship by remaining in Germany from 1907 to 1921, it was claimed.

Spoiling a Good Thing

If you have looked over the recently-published list of wage scales for carpenters in other cities as compared with the wages offered to the striking carpenters in East Liverpool, you must have been considerably surprised at finding how much more East Liverpool is paying her carpenters than other cities, even big cities, are paying.

The carpenters have had a pretty good thing of it here, but they have taken about the best way of spoiling it.

They have refused a $10-a-day scale, which is more than most cities in the United States pay. They have gone on strike. They have refused to lend a hand toward settlement of the strike, and now many of them are going away to work elsewhere, hoping that East Liverpool, which they have tied up with their strike, will stay tied up.

But it won't. For almost two months, the contractors have been letting the striking carpenters have their way, much to the inconvenience of the contractors' customers—the people who want to build. Now it is time to consider the customers' rights.

The contractors have now no choice but to go out and get carpenters who will work.

ASK KIWANIS AID IN DRIVE

Salvation Army Urges Assistance in Raising $2,000.

A request from the Salvation Army that the Kiwanis club assist in raising $2,000 to meet its budget for 1925, was referred to a committee for investigation and recommendation at the weekly luncheon in the Larkins annex at noon today.

A committee consisting of W. A. Weaver, R. S. Koehler and John W. Moore was named by President George E. Lewis to confer with the Salvation Army leaders and make a recommendation at next Thursday's meeting as to the part which the local club should play in the proposed campaign. It was suggested that the Salvation Army address an appeal to other service clubs and organizations so as to make the drive general.

The attendance prize, a box of candy furnished by Ross Tisher, was awarded O. O. Allison of Chester. Clarence C. Cline made a report of the ball game at Youngstown last week in which the local nine defeated the Youngstown Kiwanians, 14 to 3.

Harry Keyes suggested that the club should sponsor a uniform flag decoration for East Liverpool. He was advised that the American Legion was already engaged in such a campaign.

Short talks were made by Thompson Andrews, Charles Pilgrim and other members. About 50 attended the meeting. Chorus singing was led by Prof. H. F. Laughlin.

who went over to arouse sympathy for the north in our Civil war.

He was not well received as the bishop of Albany, perhaps because he carried with him a higher opinion of his own country and his own countrymen than the one taken over by the bishop.

In Liverpool, when Beecher spoke they threw eggs and hissed him. A man in the crowd shouted. "We thought you Yankees were such great fighters. How long is this war of yours going to last?"

Beecher replied "I can't answer your question. When we fought you Englishmen in 1776 it didn't last long. That was easy, but then we were only fighting Englishmen.

"But this time we are fighting Americans and there's no telling how long that may last."

The agricultural department shows that in 1924 the farmers averaged a profit of 21 cents a bushel on wheat and 26 cents a bushel on corn. Many lost money on every bushel, others made more than the average.

Farmers that raised potatoes on the average actually lost money, and would have been better off if they hadn't planted a potato.

A good wheat speculator, knowing that the prosperous class wanted La Follette badly beaten, and was sure to put up the price of wheat, could easily buy a million bushels of wheat early in the campaign and sell it at a profit of one million dollars.

It was a lucky farmer that could raise a few thousand bushels of wheat and sell it at a profit of one thousand dollars.

Patriotic citizens of Indiana contribute $12.5000 to preserve James Whitcomb Riley's "Ole Swimmin' Hole." That's worth while; sentiment is beautiful.

The government ought to spend a few thousand times $12,500 to fill up a lot of mosquitoes' old swimming holes, swamps and other breeding places of malaria.

Some of the money that President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon are going to save might well be spent wiping out disease, deserts and swamps on Uncle Sam's great farm.

Revolt Grips Greece

demand that Michalakopoulos must surrender his office.

Climax of Political Crisis.

The Greek government has been facing a political crisis for several weeks.

The political situation came to a head June 10 when General Kondylis resigned as minister of the interior. General Kondylis has a strong following in Greece, as had M. Michalakopoulos, who was premier until today. Kondylis, in resigning, pledged the support of his party to the Michalakopoulos regime, but dispatches today would indicate either that he began an offensive against Michalakopoulos or that he was not able to control his followers.

The resignation of Michalakopoulos followed an incipient revolution of Armenian and Greek refugees in Greece June 7. The refugee settlement committee had been building camps at Podarades, Byron and Kokkinca to care for Greeks and Armenians expelled by Turkey. The Near East relief, conducted under American auspices, has been feeding the refugees.

Pangalos New President

PARIS, June 25.—The Michalakopulos government was deposed and General Pangalos, leader of the revolutionists, was proclaimed the new president of the Greek republic, the newsapare L'Independent of Salonika announced today, according to advises to La Liberte.

The army and navy co-operated in overthrowing the government. The dispatch added.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Greek government 7 per cent bonds declined 2 points in the listed bond market today due to the revolution in Greece. They sold around 84.

Lieut. Lily Hughes Named Assistant To Adjutant Dean

Lieutenant Lily Hughes, daughter of Major and Mrs. Hughes, of the Akron Salvation Army staff, has been appointed to assist Adjutant and Mrs. John G. Dean, of the local Salvation Army barracks, it was announced today. She will be welcomed by the local organization on Sunday, July 5.

Mrs. Dean and her daughter, Gladys, have just returned from New York where the latter was commissioned as a lieutenant. More than 200 cadets received their commissions at these exercises which were held in the Carnegie Music hall on Monday evening. Lieutenant Dean has been appointed on the editorial staff of the national headquarters staff in New York and after a brief visit with her parents here will take up her new duties.

Miss Ruth Abrams, daughter of Adjutant and Mrs. J. H. Abrams of Cleveland, formerly of this city, has been commissioned and sent to Baltimore. Captain Percy Holden of this city, who also received a commission, was sent to the Training College staff in New York.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 25.—The best records in the stock market were made by the motor stocks, the Northwestern railroad stocks and a few of the specialties in the early trading today. Chicago and Northwestern, Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred led a spirited rally in the railroad stocks, which was also participated in by Wabash, St. Pauls, New York Central and New Haven. Industrial and specialty stocks continued the forward movement which was in progress at the close of yesterday's session, with tobacco stocks strong and a few of the oils making fractional advances.

The market assumed a confident tone from the start. Maxwell Motors opened a point higher and numerous industrial and specialty stocks advanced a point or more in the first period. Texas Gulf Sulphur reached a new high at 113 and American Can was more than a point higher. The "running in of the shorts" continued in the motor stocks as well as in industrial shares which reached higher levels on the last move.

Pierce Arrow, Hudson and General Motors lead the forward movement in the motor stocks, though Studebaker and Chandler were also in good demand and Willys Overland preferred sold nearly a point higher. An extra cash dividend is talked of for General Motors, the earnings of which are running far beyond present dividend requirements. Hupp and Houdson were bought on rumors of consolidation and purchase by some other powerful motor interests, probably General Motors.

Call money market was practically unchanged. The renewal rate was posted at 4¼ per cent with funds in abundance at that rate. The cotton market was fairly steady, and grain prices fractionally lower.

STORK OUTRUNS GRIM REAPER

Fifty-one Births and 12 Deaths Here in May.

The stork outdistanced the grim reaper by more than four to one in East Liverpool during May, according to the report of Mrs. Alice M. Davidson, deputy registrar of vital statistics, submitted to the board of health at a meeting in the clinic rooms, in the Diamond, last evening.

Births during the month totaled 51, of which 24 were males and 27 females. Deaths numbered 12.

Seven cases of contagious diseases were reported. Of this number four were scarlet fever, two diphtheria and one of measles.

In the clinic, 21 new cases were admitted, while two old cases were returned. Male treatments given during the month numbered 120 and female 40.

A report on research, regarding milk can sterilization, especially during the summer months, was discussed. The following statement, urging the sterilization of milk cans by producers and dealers, was issued by Health Commissioner John A. Fraser today:

"With the advent of hot weather, the sterilization of milk cans is of utmost importance from the bacteriological and economic standpoints. This applies especially to the cans which are returned supposedly in a clean, sanitary condition to be refilled by the producer. Unless sterilized on the farm, cans, which have not been treated in a thorough manner by the dealer, will probably be the cause of his receiving very poor, if not extremely undesirable, milk in the shipment.

"Even if poor cans are washed and rinsed soon after being emptied, but are not sterilized, they will usually contain at least several million bacteria, especially if a number of utensils are washed and rinsed in the same water. In warm weather, these millions will be increased to billions in 24 to 48 hours, for in such cans plenty of moisture and food material for bacterial growth are usually present."

Minority

"Heretofore I favored elimination of all taxes on incomes up to $5,000, but my present purpose is to limit the exemption to incomes up to $3,000 and to impose a very low rate on earnings over that amount and up to $5,000. This would make the moderate wage-earner pay a small tax to his government and give him a direct interest in its management."

King believes that all excise and nuisance taxes should be repealed.

"Most of the excise taxes and the so-called nuisance taxes are purely war taxes," he declares. "As the war has been ended for seven years past it is full time to eliminate these taxes. They are an impediment to business, and I don't believe in taxing either business or business activity. We should encourage business by removing these discriminatory taxes."

Estate Tax Controversy.

Another important question before the coming congress, King believes, will be finding a solution to the estate tax controversy. He originally proposed a convention between the states and the federal government for the purpose of arranging an agreement for the allocation of estate taxes. Recently President Coolidge endorsed the idea.

"There is NO doubt that, with so many of the states levying a tax on estates and the federal government doing likewise, in some instances the aggregate tax is almost confiscatory," says King. "I believe a plan ought to be carried out by which the states and the federal government by appropriate convention shall provide for the levying of but one tax and for its collection by but one agency and then for its proper allocation between the states and the federal government."

King disagrees with but one of the administration's major tax proposals—that is, the plan to repeal income tax publicity. He is in favor of continuing the present publicity provisions, will fight for their retention and may even favor their extension.

American Golfers Triumph in Opening Round at Prestwick

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—Jim Barnes, of New York, went to the from among the early finishes on the first day of the British open golf championship today by turning in a card of 70-77-147 for 36 holes of play. Barnes' 70 in the morning broke course record at Prestwick, and in spite of the fact he cracked slighlty after the sixth hole in the afteroon, his total was sufficient to outdistance the field of early starters.

The final 36 holes will be played tomorrow.

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—American golf came triumphantly through the opening round of the British open championship today.

"Long Jim" Barnes, the lanky professional from Pelham, N. Y., led the field at the end of the morning round with a brilliant 70, which established a new record for the difficult Prestwick course.

"Barnes' feat today is one of the most remarkable in golfing history," said George Duncan, the British pro. "With the greens like lighting, as they are, and in this heat 76 represents perfect golf. Jm played six strokes better than perfect golf."

Kirby Jurors

in the sky with an electric sign on the top with the world, "Cleveland Discount Company," flashing through the night above it, was erected on Superior avenue.

"I want," Kirby was reported to have said, "to have those letters big enough so that they can be read in Cincinnati." Perhaps the sign could not be read in the Ohio river metropolis, but it was big enough to add something to the skyline of Superior avenue in Cleveland.

Name on Every Lip

Kirby's name was on almost every lip. His advice was sought and his views quoted on every side. He took the presidency of the Cleveland Yacht company, "to put it on its feet." The membership grew, and Kirby, out of his great energy, gave much to its upbuilding.

But his constant dream was of the discount company—his child. Mammoth building projects were evolved, a tremendous apartment development being financed in a Cleveland suburb. This when failure came was taken over by others and is now nearing completion.

The case was highly technical and the issues involved bookkeeping formulas and the language of high finance, making it difficult at times for the jury to follow the evidence presented.

Defense Blamed "Big Business."

This indictment grew out of a plan approved by directors of the company to retire the outstanding preferred stock of the company and to substitute for it common stock on the basis of two shares of common stock for each share of preferred turned it. At the time of the adoption of the plan, testimony showed that preferred was quoted at $70.00 per share, while the common stock had a market value of $36.50.

When the financial difficulties of the concern caused Kirby's retirement, the value of the company's securities dwindled. These difficulties, the state alleged, were due to the mismanagement of the concern by Kirby, while the defense contended they were caused by a decree of "big business" men here that "Kirby must get out."

The indictments against Kirby were returned after a special grand jury investigation of discount affairs had been ordered by Gov. A. V. Donahey. The investigation and prosecution were conducted by special prosecutors, named by Attorney General C. C. Crabbe.

Kirby's Statement.

"This is the third time my case has been before a jury," Kirby said to press representatives. "Twelve jurors in California and in Cleveland have found me guiltless of any crime or misrepresentation. Counting this jury, 35 out of 36 have been for acquittal. Every effort is being made to see that stockholders get back 100 cents on the dollar. It is assured they will get at least 65. If this persecution will stop a great deal more can be accomplished for the stockholders."

Following the verdict, Kirby shook hands with each one of the 11 jurors. "We were all convinced of your innocence from the beginning," several declared.

Special prosecutors who handled the state's case refused to make any statement or verify a rumor that arose following the verdict that other charges pending in state courts would be nolled.

Shepherd Defense Turns Its Guns on "Indirect Confession"

CHICAGO, June 25.—The defense of William D. Shepherd today trained its guns on the state's theory of "indirect confession."

Abandoning his plea of "liberty or daeth" Attorney William S. Stewart, chief-of-defense counsel, turned to the charge that Shepherd's actions at the time William McClintock was stricken with typhoid fever and during his illness constituted virtual admission of guilt. built up a hypothetical case and then tore it to shreds with a fine fire of ridicule.

SUSPECT HELD IN AUTO THEFT

Roy Coleman Charged With Stealing Homer Eynon's Car.

Charged with the larceny of an automobile belonging to Homer Eynon, Lisbon street, Roy Coleman, residing in the old Grand opera house building, East Sixth street, was held for grand jury action by Mayor Charles Brown, last night.

Coleman was arrested by Patrolman Herman Roth upon an affidavit signed by Eynon, following an investigation by Chief of Police McDermott and Roth. Eynon's car was stolen while it was parked near the D. E. McNicol pottery, Broadway, Tuesday evening.

Police say that Coleman took the automobile and, accompanied by two girls, was enroute to a dance at Mineral Springs park, back of Chester, when one of the tires was punctured. He is alleged to have abandoned the machine near old Laurel Hollow park in Newell, where it was recovered by its owner yesterday. He denied the charge, but, unable to furnish bond, was committed to the Lisbon jail.

Young Coleman was recently arrested, charged with the theft of the Buckeye Lumber company's truck, which was taken in charge by Parkersburg authorities after he is alleged to have attempted to drive across a road building job. He was indicted by the grand jury, but found not guilty when placed on trial.

Chieftain Takes Walk.

At the summer executive offices today the first mail pouch with official mail arrived from Washington and the routine got under full swing.

Everett Saunders, secretary to the president, has made no engagements for the president. One invitation to speak at a banquet was declined.

After breakfast today, President Coolidge, under lowering skies and within sound of a roaring surf kicked up by a strong east wind, took a short walk within the confines of the grounds of White Court.

KENNEBUNK, Me., June 25.—Braving a driving rain and with his famous underslung pipe going at full blast, Vice President Charles G. Dawes took a long walk along the beach here today.

Although he is less than 55 miles from the summer White House at Swampscott, Mass., and although he plans to motor to Boston tomorrow to visit Owen Young, collabrator in the Dawes reparations plans, the vice president does not plan to visit President Coolidge, it was learned.

except to give the representatives of both governments a clear idea of the plans and desires of the other. With the ground work for the negotiations thus established, the debt commissioners can get down to the discussion of terms and the Italian funding proposal can be considered.

In advance of the opening of formal negotiations, Ambassador Martino has declined to make public the terms which he will submit to the American debt commission, but they are understood to insist, above all, that Italy be accorded a moratorium at the beginning on the payment of principal so that the funding agreement will not be into actual operation for ten years or so after it is ratified.

BRUSSELS, June 25—The interallied debts due the United States must be paid without further delay and the Dawes plan must be carried out. This was the frank notice served on the third congress of the international chamber of commerce today by John W. O'Leary, president of the American chamber of commerce.

O'Leary made it plain that the United States will not for a moment tolerate the open and covert attempts which have been persistent ever since the congress opened, to bring about not only cancellation of the inter-allied debts but repudiation of the Dawes plan as well, as a means to that end.

75 NABBED AS POLICE RAID

Detective and State Constabulary Visit Midland Club.

Approximately 75 men and women were arrested when County Detective Dan Baker of Beaver, assisted by five members of the Pennsylvania state constabulary and Justice Addison Courtney of West Bridgewater, raided the headquarters of the Colored club, Fourth street and Midland avenue, between 11 and 12 o'clock last night.

Most of the suspects, who were charged with loitering in a disorderly house, were released upon $10 bond. Officers of the club, charged with possessing liquor, operating a gambling house and a disorderly house, and others who were unable to give bond were taken to Beaver, where they were to be given hearings before Justice Courtney today. Those taken to Beaver numbered about 18.

The raiders seized a large quantity of moonshine liquor and a number of gambling devices.

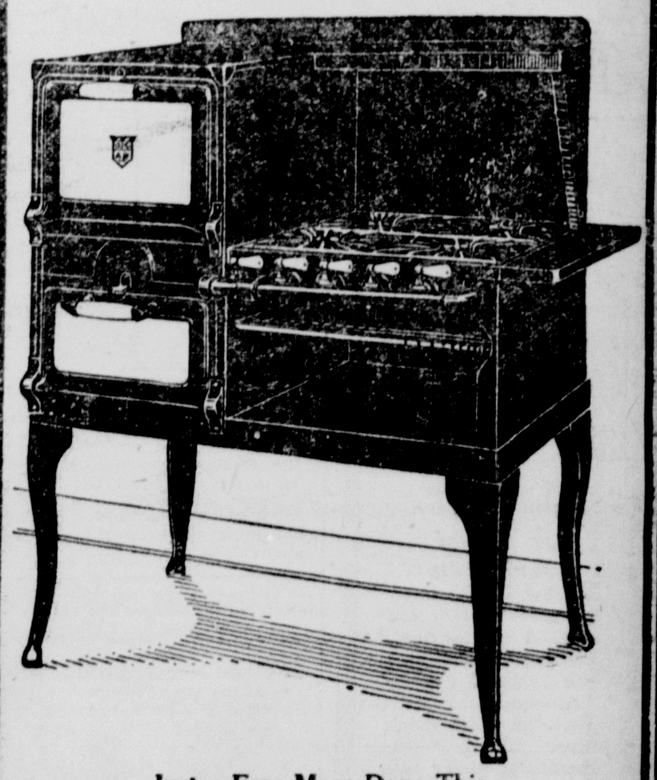

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 8

The Consumption of Tea

Tea as a beverage is used in nearly every country in the world. It is estimated over 200 billion cups are consumed annually. Australia leads in tea drinking with an annual per capita consumption of about nine pounds, which means that every Australian consumes from six to eight cups of tea every day. The consumption per capita in England is 8½ lbs., and in Canada nearly 5 lbs. In the United States, it is less than 1 lb., but this is largely because Americans have not been able to get fine teas until comparatively recently. "SALADA" is considered one of the choicest blends on the market, and is the largest selling tea in either United States or Canada.

Here's the Latest--Cod Liver Oil in Tasteless Tablets

Greatest Flesh Builder For Skinny, Weak, Run-Down People--Full of Vitamines

No more will weak, thin, unfortunate children cry in protest when the nasty, fishy-tasting, horrible-smelling cod liver oil is brought out.

Medical science progresses rapidly, and now you can get at your druggist's real, genuine cod liver oil in sugar-coated tablets that young and old can take with ease and pleasure.

Even the run-down and skinny grown-ups, who ought to take cod liver oil, because it really is the greatest vitamine food and builder of healthy flesh in the world, will feel extremely joyful when they read this welcome news.

Of course, doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil in tablets under another name for several years, but it is only of late that one can walk into a drug store and get a box of these flesh-producing tablets just as easy as a bottle of cough syrup.

Thin, run-down, anaemic men, women and children who need to grow strong and take on flesh are advised to get a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, and if you don't gain 5 pounds in 30 days just get your money back.

One woman gained fifteen pounds in five weeks, according to her own doctor—another ten pounds in three weeks. A very sickly child, aged nine, twelve pounds in seven months, and now plays with other children and has a good appetite.

Just ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. Carnahan's and Mathews' Medicine Stor or any good druggist will tell you that they are wonderful flesh and health builders. Only 60 cents for 60 tablets—and don't forget that they are wonder workers for feeble old folks.

Get McCoy's, the original and genuine, nad beware of imitations.

SOUTH HONORS COOLIDGE; COIN IS PRESENTED

Minted Half Dollars Commemorate Valor of Confederates.

INLAID IN GOLD

Letter From Stone Mountain Association President.

ATLANTA, Ga., June. —President Coolidge has been presented with the first coin minted by the United States government in its issue of Confederate half-dollars to commemorate the valor of the soldiers of the South during the Civil war.

Inlaid in a plate of Georgia gold and bearing a suitable inscription, the coin was presented to the President at the White House by Hollins N. Randolph, president of the Stone Mountain Memorial association.

The second, third and fourth coins minted, Mr. Randolph has announced, will be presented, in the order of their issuance, to Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury; Garrard B. Winston, Under-Secretary of State, and Robert J. Grant, Director of the Mint.

The fifth, sixth and seventh and eighth coins issued were presented to the heads of four Confellerate organizations at the annual Confederate re-union held at Dallas, Texas, recently.

A letter to the President from Randolph, accompanying the presentation read as follows:

"Dear Mr. President:—

"On behalf and at the direction of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental association, I have the honor to present to you the first coin issued from the Mint of the United States under an act of Congress passed by unanimous vote of the House and of the Senate, and approved by yourself on March 17, 1924, authorizing the mintage of five million silver half-dollars as a memorial to the valor of the soldiers of the South.

South Grateful.

"This coin was set apart especially for you, Mr. President, and inlaid in a plate of gold, upon which is engraved a message expressing in some small measure the grateful appreciation of the people of the South.

"We are proud that our fathers who strove for a principle, should now receive at the hands of the nation, by your gracious approval, this beautiful tribute of admiration.

"They accepted defeat without complaint and gave back allegiance to the Union with unreserved devotion. They communicated no bitterness to their children, but taught them respect for their adversaries on the field of battle, and inculcated in them love of country as a fundamental instinct.

Now One Nation.

"In the history of America there is no event more profound in its significance than this splendid enactment which forever binds together all sections of our country in perfect fellowship.

"The bravery and devotion of the men who wore the Blue and of the men who wore the Gray have now, in sixty years, become blended together in a heritage of glory which belongs to all Americans.

"In the metals melted to make this coin is symbolized the indissoluble fusion of a people, which, pray God, shall endure as long as Stone Mountain hands down to coming generations the story of the valor of Americans in arms.

"I bring you, Mr. President, the warmest greetings of the South, whose sons and daughters are well pleased that your name shall be linked inseparably with time's greatest monument."

Was Weak and Miserable. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Mrs. Auger's Strength

Lowell, Massachusetts. — "I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the little books that you send around and I felt very good after I had taken a couple of bottles of it. I had been in the Hospital and felt pretty well at first but I went down to nothing. I was weak and had to lie in bed almost all day. I had dizzy and faint spells, pains in my back and lower parts and was so nervous I could not bear my children around. I hope the Vegetable Compound helps other women as it did me. I do all my own work now and feel so well. I have told my friends about it and my sister and my aunt."—Mrs. OLIVE AUGER, 19 Howard Street Lowell, Massachusetts.

Over 200,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

98 out of every 100 of the replies say, "Yes" and because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women it should help you.

Buy Your Studebaker—Now!

You may buy a Studebaker today—or on any day of the year—with the confident assurance that no act of ours will stigmatize it as a "last year's model"

STUDEBAKER has discontinued the custom of presenting a new line of automobiles each year. Instead of bringing Studebaker cars dramatically up-to-date once in twelve months, we shall keep them up-to-date all of the time—with every improvement made available by our great engineering and manufacturing resources.

Improvements and refinements, of course, will be made from time to time. New features will be added. As in the past, we shall continue to pioneer all vital betterments. But Studebaker will have no yearly models to make your July car obsolete in August.

A dramatic story

There is a dramatic story behind this new Studebaker policy that vitally concerns everyone who expects to buy an automobile this year.

Amazing records of Studebaker performance and endurance prove beyond question that the present line of Studebaker cars is so soundly engineered and manufactured and so satisfactory in the hands of owners that drastic annual changes are not required.

Authentic reports show that hundreds of Studebaker cars have given from 125,000 to 400,000 miles of sturdy, dependable service. One Studebaker Big Six, used as a mail car, traveled almost 500,000 miles in 5½ years, giving 24-hour round trip service between Bakersfield and Los Angeles, California.

Stupendous mileage! But the same stamina and rugged dependability is built into every Studebaker that leaves the factory.

A Studebaker taxi in Jewett City, Conn., has traveled 31,008 miles without even having the valves ground or the carbon removed.

In Stockton, Calif., a Studebaker Big Six has piled up 138,000 miles over steep mountain grades and rough country roads with negligible upkeep—not a single major part has been purchased or repaired by reason of wear or accident.

It is a significant fact that wherever travel conditions are most severe, Studebaker by far outsells its normal proportion of cars.

Bus Operators, Rent-a-Car Companies, Police and Fire Departments—all turn to Studebaker year after year for their transportation equipment, because they have found that it always yields scores of thousands of miles of reserve transportation, and has low upkeep costs.

At the mileage when other cars are breaking up—Studebaker cars are breaking in. It's the second and third fifteen thousand miles that prove Studebaker superiority. It's this reserve mileage—even though you may never use it—that greatly increases Studebaker resale value.

Stamina is in-built—inherent—a vital and indispensable part of the Studebaker formula for building fine motor cars.

Buy this "One Profit" car now

Remember—under this new Studebaker policy—there is no need to delay the purchase of your new automobile until annual changes have been made. Come in and see these sturdy, dependable, "one-profit" automobiles. Today Studebaker offers greater values than ever before. It is sound judgment to buy now.

World's Greatest Buy

Hudson's leadership is the result of ten years' engineering concentration in refining a great car around the famous Super-Six principle. Its patented, exclusive principle added 80% to efficiency, yielding 76 horsepower without added size, weight or cost. Its simplicity has always meant a lower selling price than is permitted in complicated types. No design, however costly, has been found to excel Super-Six smoothness, reliability and performance. Hudson quality has constantly been improved. Easier steering, greater roadability, more comfort, better materials, finer workmanship, handsomer appearance and more lasting finish.

Wells Tackles Big Job In Today's Match With Zanesville Star

Meets J. W. Munro In Third Round Clash; Weber Is Defeated

Toledoan Goes Down Before Champion's Brilliant Playing in Second Round, 6 and 5; Local Golfer Three Under Even Fours for the 13 Holes Played.

AKRON, O., June 25.—The state amateur golf championship was narrowed down to eight players as the third round of match play started at Portage Country club today.

Among those who still have a chance at the title is Kenneth W. Wolcott, of Fairlawn club, Akron. Playing brilliantly, Wolcott yesterday took the measure of two opponents. He first beat Phil Ogden of Cleveland, and then Young Alfred Sargent of Columbus, the tournament medalist, by the score of 3 and 2.

As the result, the local golfer was paired in the third round this morning against H. Densmore Shute of Cleveland, in a match which will place one or the other in the semi-finals.

The feature match of the third round brought together Joe Wells of East Liverpool, present champion, and J. W. Munro, of Zanesville, two times wearer of the crown. They left the first tee shortly after 9 o'clock. After slipping badly in the qualification round, Wells pulled himself together yesterday and played like a real champion. In beating Harold Weber of Toledo, 6 and 5, in the second round he was three under even fours for the 13 holes played and displayed what appeared to observers to be the best form of any of those remaining in the championship hunt.

The two "seniors" of the championship flight were still in the race when play started today. Raleigh W. Lee of Cleveland, who denies he's over 50, but who owns up to 49 years, was paired against the youthful Eddie Hasmann, Cleveland ace. Chrysty Diebel of Youngstown, who is a year or two younger than Lee, was matched with Parker Campbell, another youngster from Toledo.

JOE KIRKWOOD HAS BAD ROUND

Hits 83 in Opening Match of British Open.

PRESTWICH, Scotland, June 25.—American hopes in the British open golf championship, which centre in MacDonald Smith, Joe Kirkwood, and Jim Barnes, received a slight setback early in the tournament today when Kirkwood, first of the invaders to start, turned in a woefully bad card of 83 for the first eighteen holes.

Kirkwood, the trick shot artist, was in continual trouble over the heavily-trapped Prestwick course. He was out in 42 and in 41, against a par of 72.

The weather was favorable, and a large gallery was gathered around the starting tee when the tournament began.
were active in the throng. The professional layers have made Mac Smith the favorite, quoting odds on his chances of 5 to 1. Next to Smith, the betting agents like the chances of Jim Barnes and Abe Mitchell. The odds on this pair were 10 to 1.

J. I. Cruickshanks, of Buenos Aires, was the first of the field og 83 golfers to start. He teed off at eight o'clock, and turned in a medicore card of 42-38-80.

Prestwick, Scotlands): . . ?"h———

PRESTWICK, Scotland, June 25.—Jim Barnes, one of America's chief hopes in the British open golf championship, sprang into the lead of the field today with a brilliant 70 for the difficult, heavily-trapped Prestwick course.

Playing with Sandy Herd, the veteran British pro, Barnes was out in a spectacular 34, one under par, and came home in 36, one under par. His 70 not only led the field among the morning starters, but set a new course record for Prestwick in championship play.

Barnes record-breaking card was:
Out ..... 435 433 543—34
In ..... 535 534 353—36—70

"Long Jim" played the first five holes in par figures, and then secured a birdie three on the sixth hole, 357 yards. He was one over par on the seventh, but secured another birdie three on the 435 yard ninth. He played the first three holes of the incoming nine in par figures, went one over par on the thirteenth, and then secured birdies threes on the 357-yard fourteenth and the 379-yard eighteenth.

Arthur Havers, who once beat out Walter Hagen by a single stroke for the title, had a round of 77.

Ted Ray also had 77, as did Abe Mitchell. George Duncan was two strokes worse at 79.

Near Semi-finals.

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 25.—While only double matches will be played at the Merion cricket club here today—the fourth day of the annual intercollegiate tennis meet, representatives from California, Texas and Pennsylvania universities who remained in the singles, by winning the fifth round yesterday, will rest until tomorrow afternon when the semi-final singles will be played.

Ty Cobb Is One of Highest Paid Players In Baseball

Reputed Salary of $60,000 Exceeds Even That of Babe Ruth.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Although the matter has been kept a profound secret for reasons not altogether clear, it developed today that Ty Cobb is either the highest paid man in all baseball or runs the individual in question a very neighborly second. Cobb, it seems, has a higher salary than George H. Ruth, Rogers Hornsby and Judge Landis, among others. On the very best of authority, Cobb is said to be paid $60,000 a season for managing and playing centerfield for the Detroit ball club.

Just why they saw fit to whisper about the thing these several years is not for the writer's inadequate comprehension. The Yankees megaphoned Ruth's contract as the largest in baseball and caught the vagrant eye thereby. Of course, they didn't want the publicity. It merely was forced upon them.

It had another affect, however, according to the writer's informant, it got Cobb his present salary.

"This fellow Ruth gets $52,000," Cobb is said to have told Frank H. Navin before he took over the Tigers. "Now you consider me the better ball player? You do? All right, then pay the better player for playing ball and managing the club at the same time."

Mr. Navin did.

Cobb's salary is only exceeded, on paper at least, by John McGraw's. John also owes his financial rating to the Ruth ballyhoo. At that time, the Giants and Yankees were engaged in a local war for patronage and publicity was as necessary as their coffee.

Deciding to go the Yanks one better, the Giants voted McGraw a yearly salary of $75,000.

VANDALIA RACE WON BY J. WOODS

Carrying the colors of the East Liverpool Homing club and racing against the pick of the Ohio Valley Combine of Pigeon Racers, two birds owned by John Woods, of East End, a member of the local club, finished first and second in the combine's 500 mile race from Vandalia, Ill.

Eight lofts including entries from Rochester, Pa., Follansbee, W. Va., and Steubenville and East Liverpool, failed to report.

This race, to the local pigeon fancier, is the derby of the flying world and the supreme test of his ability both as a breeder and trainer. Preparing birds for this race requires many months of careful training and patient observation on the part of the fancier.

Tagging The Bases

Some one has been feeding Brother Hornsby raw meat again. He socked Pirate pitchers for three homers during a double header, which saw the Card's batter Sheehan in the first and win, 11 to 3, while the Pirates won the second, 7 to 6, Adams outlasting Sherdell. Hornsby's home run total now reads 21.

The worm turns if you step on his elbow and yesterday the Yanks turned on the Senators. They battered Ogden for five runs in the seventh and won, 5 to 3, behind the natty pitching of Jones.

Betts confined the Braves to five hits and the Phillies strongarmed their way to their third straight decision, 10 to 1.

Greenfield stopped the Dodgers in the first game, 8 to 3. Osborne stopped the Giants in the Second, 9 to 1.

Another ninth inning rally gave the Athletics a victory over the Red Sox, 5 to 4, Gray winning his ninth straight without a defeat.

GUN CLUB SHOOT HERE SATURDAY

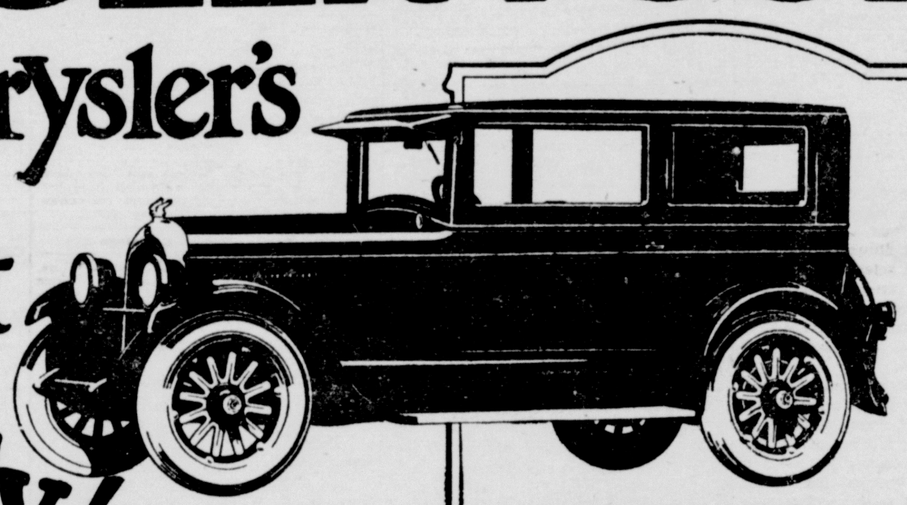

Secretary Miller, of the Columbiana County Fish and Game association, today announced that everything is set for the East Liverpool Gun club's practice shoot on Saturday afternoon.

Traps and other accessories have been lined up for the event which will be held at the club's grounds near the Country club.

The shoot is open for any one interested, Mr. Miller announced.

The New
CHRYSLER FOUR
Walter P. Chrysler's Latest Achievement
Now Ready!

Walter P. Chrysler's full conception of what a four-cylinder car should be has now become a reality.

Mr. Chrysler announces the new Chrysler Four, companion car to the Chrysler Six. It is here, ready for your inspection.

Whether you are a car owner or not, by all means see this new Chrysler creation. Ride in it. Get to know the latest Chrysler achievement which the master car builder identifies with his own name.

It will amaze you, for it is our firm conviction that the new Chrysler Four represents a better and finer combination of power, speed, fuel mileage and charm of appearance than any other four in the world today.

For four years Chrysler-created products have steadily advanced to the very fore-front of the four and six-cylinder fields.

Chrysler engineering, Chrysler manufacturing quality and Chrysler value eclipsed all previous production records for cars that might be considered comparable.

Every step of that irresistible advance was part of the process in preparation for the production of the new Chrysler Four answering the insistent public demand for another Chrysler.

$895 Touring Car F.O.B. Detroit, Tax Extra

The basis for the beauty of the new Chrysler Four is the dynamic symmetry which Chrysler engineers were first to translate into beautiful motor car design in the Chrysler Six.

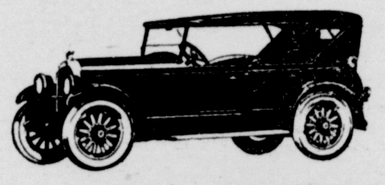

The wonderful riding qualities of the new Chrysler Four cannot be described. You must experience them to know what an advance has been made in the four-cylinder field. It is enough to say that a ride will amaze and delight you.

And when you ride you'll notice the absolute quietness of the four-cylinder engine, you'll find no rumble or tremors in the body of the car.

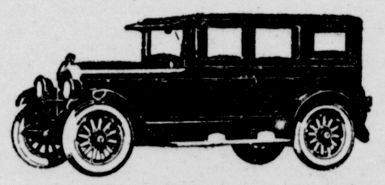

Here is a car you can truly drive all day without fatigue. It is hardly ever necessary to shift gears, except for starting from a dead stop. When shifting is necessary it is made clean and noiselessly by the matched transmission gears and easy clutch action.

There has never been the like of the new Chrysler Four at anywhere near its price. Be prepared for a great revelation.

Coach $1045 F. O. B. Detroit, tax extra. Four-wheel hydraulic brakes optional. Body by Fisher.

Touring Car $895 F. O. B. Detroit, tax extra. Four-wheel hydraulic brakes optional.

SUN SPOTS GIVE LINE ON WEATHER

Predictions Can Be Made Days Ahead, Says Savant.

Washington.—A new wonder of weather forecast which carries modern science, in a measure, back to the methods of the astrologists of old, was explained to the National Academy of Science by Dr. C. G. Abbot, head of the Astro-Physical observatory of the Smithsonian institution, and H. H. Clayton of Canton, Mass.

This latest of science makes it possible, it is claimed, for men accurately to foretell weather conditions from three to twenty-five days in advance by studying the sun. Experiments carried on for more than a year under the direction of the Smithsonian institution have enabled scientists to make accurate weather forecasts for New York city three days in advance and to predict temperatures with approximate exactness for periods of from 15 to 25 days ahead.

Outstrip Langley's Dreams.

These achievements far outstrip the dreams of the late Prof. Samuel P. Langley, one of the fathers of the flying machine, who, during his connection with the Smithsonian institution, urged the study of solar radiation as it "might lead to the possibility of the prediction of the good seasons and the bad." For years scientists have been studying sun spots which, it has been found, appear in great numbers in cycles of 11 years. These spots break the surface of the sun and a great deal more heat comes out—something like stirring up the coals in a furnace fire. When the spots are toward the earth, we receive the maximum heat.

The principal part of the Smithsonian achievement consisted of the invention of instruments for taking accurate measurements of solar radiation.

Two sun observatories were established, largely through the personal gift of John A. Roebling of New Jersey, at Montezuma, near Calama, Chile, and on Mount Harqua Hale, Ariz. At both places daily observations are made of sun spots and measurements taken of solar radiation. These are telegraphed daily to the Smithsonian institution.

Study Radiation Curves.

By studying the curves of the solar radiation, it has been found that they approximate with startling nearness the curves of temperature and barometric pressure over certain areas. In other instances, it has been found, the temperature and pressure curves travel inversely to the curves of solar radiation. It has been possible to divide the earth's surface into distinct zones in which these two opposing phenomena occur. Thus, when the heat from the sun increases the meteorologists know that certain sections of the globe will experience warmer weather while others will be visited by drops in temperature. Doctor Abbot expressed the belief that within the next few years all weather conditions will be forecast with accuracy up to 15 days ahead.

Dr. C. F. Marvin, chief of the weather bureau, announced that while the study of solar radiation is a valuable contribution to science, the weather service has not yet accepted the Smithsonian experiments as conclusive, and doubts whether they can be put to practical use in forecasting weather from day to day.

Facing Water Shortage.

CHILLICOTHE, June.—This city faces a serious water shortage. The supply in the reservoir is low and the health department announced it was polluted with typhoid. All water for domestic use is being boiled. Meanwhile, the water company is sinking another well in the hope that a reserve of several millions of gallons will be available soon as is the case under normal conditions. The drouth is blamed for the low stage of water.

British War Heroes' Graves Circle World

London.—A chain of monuments to the sacrifices made by British troops during the World war encircle the globe. The report of the imperial war graves commission says the beginning of the chain is in the graveyards on the channel shores of France and Belgium, extends in an almost unbroken line to the Vosges, continues in Switzerland and on through Italy to Macedonia, the Balkans, Gallipoli and Smyrna to Syria and Palestine to cross the Mount of Olives.

The chain breaks there into two sections, one passing through Egypt to East Africa and the other going eastward to Mesopotamia, India and China before crossing Australia and New Zealand on the way to Canada and Great Britain and Ireland.

India, Indo China and Siam are the principal rice exporting countries.

Betty Bronson Gets Feature Role in Ceramic Photoplay

She's a sage little girl, is blue-eyed, brown-haired Betty Bronson, with more wisdom in her thoughts than one usually finds in a seventeen-year-old girl.

Malcolm St. Clair, director, and Florence Vidor and Adolphe Menjou, co-featured with the heroine of "Peter Pan" in "Are Parents People?" were discussing incompatibility as it applies to married life. There was a reason, for in this Paramount picture they are married, and they are decidedly incompatible. Betty, who was sitting nearby on the set, overheard the conversation.

Without in the least intruding she gave her opinion.

"I believe that half of the responsibility in keeping a home happy depends upon the children," she said. "If a child is not quarrelsome, but maintains a serene, pleasant disposition when things go wrong, it is enough to make the parents ashamed of themselves when they nag each other."

"Out of the mouths of babes cometh wisdom," commented Menjou, and the discussion broke up.

Studio Lighting May Revolutionize Motion Picture Realm

Will modern studio lighting make Nita Naldis of elderly scrub women and Lillian Gishes of ten-ton girls? Harry Perry, the cameraman who photographed Tom Forman's production of "The Girl Who Came Back," showing at the Ceramic theater Friday and Saturday, is convinced some of his unusual methods in that it will.

Mr. Perry, who has revealed some of his unusual methods in the making of this picture, declares that the advancement in pictures during the coming year, may be expected through the newer methods of using powerful lights.

"The plain, flat lighting of other days, already has given way to an effort to model a figure, causing it to stand out from its background, and seem to give depth to the picture.

"In experimenting with such three-dimension photography, I was frequently annoyed by shadows and highlights throwing certain features of a player into relief, creating the illusion of distortion.

"Then it occurred to me to use the mistakes I had made. I tried, by arranging the lights on my characters, purposely to accentuate certain features of my players. One subject was a "heavy." By shading his eyes, I increased the scowl on his face, and he became more convincing in his part.

"Some day, perhaps, our players will arrive at the studios with storage batteries instead of make-up kits, and tungsten lamps instead of rice powder!"
